

LOCALS

Clayton Kirk, ex-student, is here from Klamath Agency visiting friends.

Mr Sanders and a force of boys are giving the gymnasium floor a fresh coat of oil.

Pablo Castillo left for Portland on Wednesday to enlist in the navy. We are all sorry to have Pablo leave us. He enlisted as a fireman of the second class, for which he will receive $33 per month with board, quarters, clothing and medical attention. He enlisted for three years.

General R. H. Pratt and daughter, Mrs Guy Stevick of Palo Alto, California, paid Chemawa a visit during the week. General Pratt was to address the members of some Portland organization and his daughter accompanied him for the purpose of visiting with some friends that she had in Oregon's metropolis. We were pleased to have them visit the school.

On Tuesday evening Eugene Williams, of the class of 1909, who chanced to be here on a visit, made quite a little talk to the students assembled in chapel. He spoke of the general improvement in the school since he was here, of the many new pupils, and of conditions on the outside which the students must face after leaving school. All in all, Eugene gave a good talk. Mr. Clardy, who had charge of the meeting, made some very appropriate remarks during the evening.

Mrs. Lucinda Henericks Moore, after having been in Portland on business for a few days, stopped over at Chemawa for a visit while en route back to her home at Klamath Agency. She arrived at Chemawa on Monday evening and left on Tuesday. Mrs. Moore entered the school in the '80s when it was located at Forest Grove as a training school and was one of the pupils who came to Chemawa when the school was transferred. She remained at Chemawa until 1894 and this was her first visit back to the school since that time—a period of 22 years.

ANNUAL VALENTINE BANQUET.

The banquet was held on Wednesday evening in the small girls' home, the entire crowd numbering about sixty. The guests arrived shortly after seven and from then until eleven there was something doing. Shortly after the guests arrived a program which was very interesting took place.

After the program games of all kinds were played. Thirty small valentines were hidden in different places and the seniors and juniors and others were on opposite sides, and the one that found the most won the colors of the the losing side. The seniors came out victorious in the hunt.

The winking game proved to be interesting and a large number participated. After playing these games refreshments were served, which consisted of sandwiches, salad, pickles, olives, ice cream, cake, fruit and coffee. After the repast toasts were given by Mr. Chalcraft, Mr. Clardy, Mr. Bartram, Mr. Cooper, Miss Royer. Henry Olsen spoke for the class of 1912 and Maude Lowry for the class of 1913. After the toasts were given all departed for their different quarters.

This banquet was one of the best ever held here so far as arrangement, conduct and merriment were concerned.
