

ARTICLE II.

Section 1. The executive power shall be vested in a President of the Republic, to be elected by a majority of the whole body of citizens. He shall hold office during a term of ten weeks or until his successor is elected and shall not serve more than two terms in succession.

Sec. 2. The President shall appoint a Secretary of State whose appointment shall be subject to confirmation by a majority of the Congress, whose duty will be to preserve the records of the Republic, and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the Congress.

ARTICLE III.

Section 1. The Judicial power of the Republic shall be vested in a Supreme Court, the judges of which shall be appointed by the president of the Republic and confirmed by a majority of the Congress.

Sec. 2. The court shall have two branches, one for the boys and one for the girls.

Sec. 3. The judges of the Court may appoint such clerks and other officers as may be desirable for the transaction of its business.

Sec. 4. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this Consitution and the laws of the Republic, and cases arising between states, and between citizens of different states, or in which a state and citizens of another state become a party, and to all cases not provided for in the state and municipal courts.

Sec. 5. Decisions of the Supreme Court shall not become effective till signed by the Superintendent of the School.

ARTICLE IV.

Section 1. Where in this Constitution it is provided that a choice may be made between two or more methods, this choice shall be made by the Superintendent of the school.

Sec. 2. Amendments to this Constitution may be made whenever two-thirds of the citizens of all the states or two-thirds of the states comprising the Republic deem it necessary, providing such amendment is approved by the Superintendent of the School and the Supervisor of Civic Training.

Sec. 3. This Constitution shall take effect immediately.

Date.....

..... President

..... Superintendent

..... Supervisor of Civic Training