Miss Hail observed Memorial Day at her home in Newberg.

Miss Skipton went to Corvallis to observe Memorial day. She arrived home today.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith entertained a number of friends at their apartments on Tuesday evening.

Competitive drill of commencement time is not far distant and in recognition of this fact the various companies of Chemawa battalion are drilling overtime.

Quite a number of pupils are going to Salem this afternoon to take in the Sells-Floto circus. Peanuts and pink lemonade will sell today.

Mr. and Mrs. Hincks and children, who have passed some weeks at the school, took their departure this morning. Mr. Hincks is employed in the irrigation department of the Indian Service. They are pleasant people and made many friends while at Chemawa.

Today having been designated by Commissioner Valentine as "Temperance Day" throughout the service, all assembled in chapel, where appropriate exercises were held. Rev. Mr. Goudge, who was a visitor at the school, was thoroughly in harmony with the movement and made the principal address of the day on introduction of Supt. Chalcraft, who was in charge. In many ways it was a memorable occasion.

Memorial Day was fittingly observed with exercises in chapel. Dr. McGaw was up from Portland and made a very appropriate address. After chapel service all repaired to the cemetery in procession, headed by the band which played a funeral march. At the cemetery appropriate music was rendered and the usual customs of the occasion carried out. Over the graves of the departed floral tributes of loving memory were placed and then all retired to quarters, the better for the day and the deeds thereof.

HIGH CLASS.

Lack of space prevents us from going into details regarding the entertainment given in chapel last evening by girls of the Winona Literary Society, of which Miss Royer is critic. We consider it a step in the right direction, for it was evident that it was an effort to raise the standard of the local entertainments. It was most creditable for both critic and members. Following is the program:

Song—Summer	-	-	Society
Opening Address	-	-	Ethel Roberts
Piano Solo—Second Mazurka,			Emma Shepard
