

HOPEWELL, 12—CHEMAWA, 1.

On last Saturday our baseball team journeyed to Springvalley to enjoy the day at a picnic and at the same time play the Hopewell Maroons. On arriving there we heard a few speeches made by Gov. West and members of that school district. At 12:00 o'clock we were invited to dinner by some of the families at the picnic, each family taking from one to three boys. About 2:30 o'clock we proceeded to the county road where races of every description were held, in which a few of our boys carried off prizes. Powers, in the 100-yd. dash, won a beautiful gold medal; while Dunbar won a hat which he received at G. W. Johnson's place in Salem; Wilcox, in the high jump, took first place and received a fine horsewhip.

Next we were taken in an auto to a piece of land freshly plowed and clod-mashed. At 4:30 o'clock the game was called. Our boys, unable to play in oat fields like some of the people in that part of the country, made many errors and many times had to stop and dig out the ball while the Maroons were running bases. All the same we had a good time from start to finish. The game ended with the score standing as mentioned above.

On Monday evening a field meet was held between the smaller boys of Brewer Hall and the boys of Miss Wolfe's building. All events were taken up from the mile in the distant runs to the shot put in weights. It was very interesting from start to finish for the onlookers. The meet ended with the score standing 53 to 41 in favor of the Brewer Hall boys.

WINONAS' PARTY.

Of the many well ordered and properly arranged parties of the season the one given by the Winona Society last Friday evening stands without equal. The rooms of the domestic science department were tastefully decorated with pennants and with the colors of the society, pink and white. Beautiful flowers greeted one from all directions and the little cozy corners reminded one of dreamland. The innovation of providing lemonade for the bashful swains by the young ladies made a hit and most of them took the hint and never allowed their throats to become parched because of talking. The evening was spent in playing flinch, checkers, authors, pit, and listening to the strains of sweet music.

At an early hour the guests were called to the dining hall and amid streamers of pink and white, and bright electric lights, were treated to another sight that made all feel perfectly at home. The pictures of the wall suggested all the good things to eat which we found placed before us in an abundance, the handiwork of the young ladies, members of the society. The pictures of beautiful women were there, but none compared with the pictures of loveliness that surrounded the tables that night with looks of contentment, mirthful laughter and joy supreme the girls of Winona were all of these. At each plate were little cards bearing a message originally designed by the president of the society, Miss Lowry.

Miss Royer, critic, is to be congratulated upon the showing made by the Winonas. This is their first year and they have in this short time set the pace for others to follow.

After having passed one of the most enjoyable evenings of the season all departed for their quarters.
