

TRIP TO SALEM.

A group of people composing the graduating class of 1912 were extended an invitation to spend an afternoon in Salem by Mr. and Mrs. Bartram. Miss Augusta Chamberlain was invited to be one of the party. We arrived at the beautiful capital city at 1:15 p. m. and all agreed to meet at the Grand Opera House at 2:30. The time until then was spent in sight-seeing.

The erection of a fine building for depot purposes by the Oregon Electric people is a fact worthy of mention. Many other fine buildings are in course of erection at the Willamette Valley metropolis. These new structures are all up-to-date in every way and will add greatly to the appearance of the city. Evidences of progress and prosperity were found on every hand.

We found the State National Bank installing a large manganese steel safe, about 14 feet high and of proportionate width, weighing about 55 tons. It is burglar proof and is opened automatically.

At the appointed hour we met at the opera house where we remained until 4 o'clock. Later we met at the Royale Cafeteria where we dined sumptuously. At the conclusion of our refreshments it was time for us to take the car for Chemawa. We all join in a vote of thanks for those who afforded us so pleasant a trip.—H. O.

The farmers for the past few days have been busy mowing the tall grass about the buildings on the west side of the grounds. They are now busy putting it up in shocks

Y. W. C. A. ENTERTAINMENT.

The entertainment given in chapel on Tuesday evening by Chemawa's Y. W. C. A. organizations was certainly high-class. All of the numbers were well received and reflected credit upon every member participating. Mrs. Brace, Mrs. Chalcraft, Miss Skipton and others who have taken an active interest in this work are entitled to unstinted praise. Following is the excellent program rendered:

Mr. Larsen has had his band boys in rehearsal twice a day during the past week—noon and night—getting ready for commencement. This was a good idea.

We, the members of the Winona Society, extend our thanks to Miss Gertrude Brewer for her kindness in assisting us with the musical part of our program.
