

LOCALS

Rain on Tuesday.

More strawberries! The gardeners picked again on Tuesday.

On Tuesday the farmers cultivated and clod-mashed the cow corn east of the hospital.

For the past few days the gardeners have been piling and burning bones at the hog pen.

On Monday all of the seats were taken out of the school chapel and taken to the gymnasium.

The academic building was given a general clean-up last week by boys whom Mr. Bartram had working for him.

Elmer Desautil is now the bear trainer. While he keeps the pit nice and clean, he also keeps the bears well fed.

Four double gates have just been made at the carpenter shop, which are to be put up at the lake just east of the school.

Our commencement exercises will start on Sunday with the baccalaureate sermon, delivered by Dr McGaw of Portland.

Miss Royer is busy setting the stage with scenery and the curtains in order to have every thing in readiness for commencement.

Robert Service being so handy with a rake was put in charge of a crew of boys to rake up the cut grass about the school building last Tuesday.

The carpenters have been busy for the past few days putting on an extension to the platform in the gym; also placing and fastening the benches.

On last Monday Mr. Smith cut many of the lower limbs off the maple trees on the north side of Brewer Hall, which improved their looks very much.

In the final examinations of the seventh grade Ella McCully came first; Rachel McCoy, second; and while Howell Breeden came third, he had a high average.

Have you noticed the industrial boys? They have been very busy for the past few days mowing the lawn and cleaning up about the flower beds getting things in shape for commencement.

Lenora Rainville and Tillie Reinkon are so industrious these days that they have taken a sewing machine to the academic building to continue their work. Miss Hall is in charge of them.

During the first of the week the school purchased a team of horses for the use of the gardeners in their work. The horses are of just the right size and action for this class class of work and Mr. Westley is well pleased with them.

"The Bridge of the Gods," a play founded on the famous Indian legend relating to the Cascades of the Columbia river, has been produced in Portland during the week and many thousands of people were enthusiastic spectators. So great was the attraction that attendance was denied thousands of people. This is really a wonderful production.

Mr. H. E. Wadsworth and son, Helmer, arrived at the school on Tuesday. Mr. Wadsworth is to succeed Mr. Chalcraft as superintendent at Chemawa when the latter goes to Oklahoma to assume charge of a school down there. Mr. Wadsworth was for many years in charge of the Shoshone Agency in Wyoming. We all extend a hearty welcome to Mr. Wadsworth.
