

LOCALS

David Nathan and Amanda Duncan left for their different homes in Alaska on Sunday evening.

"Gee! I like strawberries." This is a statement made by John Crane, one of Mr. Westley's right-hand boys.

Agnes Shepard left for her home in Cordova, Alaska, on Sunday evening. She is missed very much by her friends and employes.

Adjutant Ray White has relieved Mr. Westley of his charge of the berry picking very much during his spare time. Keep it up Ray.

Nick Hatch, who was recently working in Salem at his trade, did some classy painting while in charge of Mr. Sanders on Monday.

WANTED—A man who can keep the girls from getting away with the strawberries from the gardeners in front of the small girls' home.

James Evans paid the school a visit on Saturday and Sunday. "Jimmy" is still sticking to the trade which he learned while here—printing.

Hay harvesting began the first of the week. The farmers are cutting the vetch east of the school building. They are in charge of Mr. Pugh while Mr. Gillett is away on business.

During hay harvesting the farm boys will eat on the beefstake table. It is very easy to get a boy to work on the farm now since the farm boys get beefstake at their table.

Great interest is being taken by the young ladies of the faculty, as well as the young men, in tennis playing on the "court" west of "The Cottage." It also has a great interest for the onlookers.

Last Saturday morning Reggie and "Bobbie" Downie, both members of our printing force, left for their home in Tacoma, Wash., where they will spend their vacation. It is needless to say that we shall miss them in many ways.

For the last few days Irving Shepard, the "devil" of the office, has been suffering from an injured foot. This is a great loss to us, as he was a very industrious boy. He is getting well of his injury and will soon follow his course again.

Clint Imus was colonel at Washington State College, Pullman, Wash., and C. L. Imus was Lt. colonel at the same institution, in the students' battalion. These gentlemen, together with Mr. Frank Pendergrass, acted as judges of our competitive drill during commencement.

Mr. Enright has tendered his resignation as tailor at Chemawa. He has been indentified with this school since November of 1905, having come here at that time as a temporary employe. In March, 1907, he became a permanent employe. As a tailor he has had wide experience in every branch of the business and few men are better qualified than he. He will be greatly missed at Chemawa. In giving a reason for his resignation Mr. Enright says: "My personal interests demand my personal attention to such an extent that I can no longer conscientiously divide my time and do my full duty to a work at Chemawa that has always been a source of pleasureable duty to me."
