

LOCALS

Quite a number of boys are being hired out as farm hands.

Gideon Hanbury is the latest addition to the painting force.

The painters finished painting the laundry on the 25th of last month.

Elmer Desautel now has charge of the bears, feeding and keeping them clean.

Dan Johnson, who has charge of the garbage wagon, keeps the pigs pretty fat.

Mrs. Brewer spent a part of her vacation as the guest of friends in McMinnville.

Louise Dione returned to the school from her home in Alaska, where she had spent her vacation.

John Service, Howell Breedan and Henry Fleming repaired the large mower on the 24th of last month.

Miss Brown is back from her vacation, which was spent in special work at the Oregon Agricultural College.

A niece of Dr. Fulkerson visited with the doctor and Mrs. Fulkerson recently. The niece was from Indiana.

The boys have started to play basketball already. From the looks of things we will have a good team this year.

John C Adams and Clyde Eagle were busy recently repairing a wagon-tongue which was broken during a runaway.

The outlook of the fruit crop this year seems to be the best for several years, although Jack Frost got away with some of it.

R. G. Henderson, our merchant, is now notary public for Chemawa. Mr. Henderson is in every way fully qualified for this work.

Mrs. C. W. Pugh arrived home last Saturday from a trip to Los Angeles, California. She had a successful and pleasant trip.

Peter LaRose and John Snyder have recently joined some of the laborers on the S. P. R. R. track, and are doing fine in their position.

Petroleum Barrett received a letter recently stating that Patsy, formerly a member of our staff, would be down here on a visit before long.

Quite a number of runaways of horses occurred during the month's end near the school and luck seems to favor the teamsters, as nobody was hurt in any of the accidents.

During the past few days surveyors have been busy running lines about Chemawa for the location of a new electric line which is to parallel the Southern Pacific from Eugene to Portland.

Miss Carolina Royer, of Arkansas City, Kansas, arrived on Monday for a visit with with her mother and sister here at Chemawa. Within a few days all three of the ladies will go to Newport for an outing.

Tom Powers, Levi Sortor and Albert Griffin, who have been working on a threshing machine near Gervais lately, returned to the school on Wednesday on account of it being too wet to work. They returned to work on Thursday morning.

Alex LaSarte and Henry Fleming narrowly escaped injury on Wednesday, July 24, on a runaway wagon. Alex did some acrobatic stunts by jumping off the wagon and turning half a dozen summersaults, and Henry did the clown stunt by falling off the side of the wagon. No one was hurt, luckily.