

Elevator Crushes Youth Against Tots

Six Playmates, Rescued by Youth, Abandon Him Crushed Against Wall.

New York.—In an effort to save a dozen children playing about a freight elevator at 81 West street, Brooklyn, William Street, Brooklyn, jumped upon them and rescued them. This happened on the night of the 15th. The children ran away as he was nearly an hour before Miller was released and taken to the Greenpoint hospital suffering from a fractured knee and deep lacerations about the legs.

The children forced the large door of the elevator and started to play about the new door. Jumping on and off. As Miller passed, he saw six girls and boys standing on the platform.

His Legs Were Caught

While one of the larger boys made a pit at the starting chain. Realizing that they were in danger, he sprang through the door and on the platform of the car, slipping in the snow and falling as the car started upward. The door dropped about ten feet from the floor.

Four persons saw the building on Sunday. Miller finally became part of the rescue party. He was rescued by 341 West street heard moans and noticed the open door. Unable to describe Miller, he called Postman Boyle of the Star Street station. By working the elevator slowly, Boyle managed to release Miller, who faintly said he was in trouble.

Stevens Point, Wis.—John Saker of the town of Saker attended the funeral of a sister here this week, and he found the coffin in the vault. He had constructed the coffin 20 years ago but he thought he was about to die. He has the coffin yet, though he says he recently had to repair it because of damage done by worms, rats and mice. It is thirty-eight years old, and he does not know where to use the coffin until he has passed the century mark.

High School Commencement

The annual commencement exercises of the Turner school were given at the Methodist church Thursday evening, June 1st at 8 o'clock. Two classes were graduated at this time, four students from the High school and five from the eighth grade. Those from the High school class were: Avin Bond, Hazel Peetz, John Chavez and Alva Morris.

The members of the Eight grade class were: Phoebe Kiew, Leta Will and Thos. Webb. Seated on the platform with the graduates were country superintendent Pulkrison, Prof. Coleman who had arranged the program was given exclusively by the members of the two classes with the exception of the address of the evening. Mrs. Pulkrison complimented the taxpayers and patrons of the district for the new school building which is soon to be erected in Turner. Her address was well received by the many people who had filled the church to the capacity.

The program as given by the graduates is as follows: Salutatory (8th grade)—Hollis Bones, Alva Solo, (8th grade)—Phoebe Kiew, John Prophecy, (High school)—John C. Asa Will, (High school)—Hazel Peetz. The New Democracy—Alva Morris.

The members of the eighth grade class, as also Hazel Peetz and Alva Morris of the High school, rendered their parts very commendably and deserve the approval and praise of an interested and well wishing public.

It is to be deeply regretted that amid the beautiful floral decorations and the appropriate and pleasing exercises of the occasion, the sitting of historic and noble monuments was so plainly manifest as was brought out by those who had prepared the Class Prophecy and Class Will of the High school.

These numbers were intended to be clever but we cannot appreciate a job that carries with it a tinge of personal animosity. Let us hope that our organs from any student preparing a diploma from our public schools, will be expressed such sentiments as was given to the public by these two students. Such expressions are surely not worthy of a place on an educational program, much less to be cherished forth from the platform which has been dedicated to the preaching of the gospel of the Prince of Peace.

This should be a long remembered object lesson to the members of the school board whose duty it is to place at the head of our schools only those whose influence will uplift and inspire. Our young people do not need training for revenge and petty strife.

Let us hope that there may be one at the head of our schools who will stand rather than lower, the high standard which has ever been upheld in our educational institutions. One of our most respected citizens was heard to say at the commencement: "I shall never attend another occasion of this kind." We say, "Amen!" for those who make such a decision necessary.

May all good citizens with one voice condemn any spirit that seeks to lower the moral tone of our schools. It rests with the schools of Turner to erase the blot that has been placed upon its record.
