

Liner Chased By Waterspout

Passengers on the Carmania
See Thrilling Struggle Between Sky and Ocean,

IS SAVED BY SPEED

Passenger at First Merely Interested in Phenomenon, but When Chase
Began They Huddled Awe-
Stricken Along Decks.

New York.—The story of a gigantic waterspout which chased the Cunard liner Carmania half an hour and then suddenly subsided when it was almost upon the hard-driven ship was told by officers and passengers when she arrived here after a round trip to the Near East.

The liner was about 800 miles out of New York when the spout was sighted. At first, passengers said, it appeared as a slight disturbance of water about eighteen miles away. Then the waves were twisted and furrowed and hurled skyward with such force in an ever-increasing volume, while myriad colors played through the mists. The column of water was 1,200 feet high and 150 feet wide at its base.

Capt. G. W. Melson ordered the liner went ahead at full speed.

At almost the same moment the spout seemed to take wings and rush after the big ship.

Wager on Speed.

Passengers crowded aft. Smoke belched from the ship's funnels while the Carmania strained every atom of her strength to escape. As the spout traveled it grew larger.

It widened rapidly and towered high in the air, throwing off tons of spray.

At first passengers thought it just a wonderful phenomenon. They began to bet on its speed or whether it would catch the boat or pass it.

Then, as it towered in the Carmania's wake, gaining rapidly, it occurred to the passengers that it carried certain death and that the race was one for life.

The spout continued to gain until it was almost on the ship.

The passengers huddled, awe-stricken, along the decks watching the oncoming mass of water.

Suddenly Subsides.

It had only to reach out for the ship—and it subsided as suddenly as it had risen. Five minutes later there was nothing to show there had been any disturbance.

Frederick Pratt, Standard Oil company official, said it was the most terrific but at the same time the most wonderful sight he ever had seen. Captain Melson smiled when he was asked about it.

"I never tell what would have happened if it had caught us," he said. "In fact, I never could have told. We would have been listed as missing."

JUDGE ORDERS MAN THRASHED

New York Recorder Tells Husband to Give Wife's Annoyer "Good Licking."

Atlantic City, N. J.—Webster Risley was instructed to "beat up" Thomas Curtis by Recorder Clarence Goldenberg. This decision followed the testimony of Mrs. Risley, who said that Curtis was accosting her on the street, writing unfounded accusations in letters to her husband and making scenes when they went in public places.

The husband is tall and muscular, while the defendant is small in stature, slenderly built and wiry in movement.

"It looks to me as if you were big enough to settle the controversy by beating him up, and while you are at it I would suggest that you give him a good licking," said the recorder.

Burglars Maintained Office.

New York.—Asserting that they conducted operations from an office rented in a downtown building, police arrested two members of a "firm of burglars" nipping in the bud their plans for the "spring trade."

Meet In Prison After 14 Years

Brothers, Long Separated, Land in Detroit Jail, Both Held on Criminal Charges.

Detroit.—Raymond Nolan, alias Walters, twenty, held in the county jail as an automobile thief, heard a deputy call upstairs for a prisoner to come down to talk with his lawyer. "Fred Nolan?" the lawyer called. "Fred Nolan, come on down." Fred Nolan is held awaiting sentence for forgery.

Raymond Nolan later spoke to a deputy. "Who's that? If that's my brother Fred?" he asked. "I have not seen him in more than ten years."

Turnkey Brooks sent for Fred. "How long since you have seen your brother Raymond?" he asked.

"Raymond? Why, he's all of fourteen years. He was just a little kid in short pants when I left home," said Fred, who is now twenty-six. Brooks sent for Raymond and the two brothers met in the "visitors' cage" in the jail office.

The deputies declared that Raymond cried, but Fred, who adopts a "hard-boiled attitude," said: "Ah, nothing to talk about. I hadn't seen him in fourteen years, that's all, and we met here."

TELLS HOW IT FEELS TO DIE

Man Turns on Gas and Writes of His Sensations Till He Is Overcome.

New York, N. Y.—Notes written in diary by a hand turning cold in death was the legacy left Mrs. Eugene K. Martin, whose husband was found dead in his apartment, a suicide by gas.

Written in a clear, firm hand, was the first entry:

"I am tired, so tired. I have given life a fair trial, but failed to find interest therein."

Equally firm was the entry:

"Listening to wireless while undergoing this process of destruction."

"Then, a little less legible:

"I am still on my feet, but starting to get dizzy."

Still less controlled the hand that wrote:

"I am weak."

"Just ready."

"Good-bye, Alice, God bless you. I love you."

Then a wavy line—a sentence never completed.

Ex-Preacher, Foiled in Jail Delivery, Kills Pal

Los Angeles, Cal.—Herbert Wilson, formerly a minister of the gospel in Oregon and Canada, held in the county jail pending trial for robbery of the mills here of nearly $1,000,000 March 3, 1921, shot and killed his alleged accomplice, Herbert R. Cox, just after officers had frus- terated an attempted jail break.

Cox, Wilson and Eddie O'Brien, recently arrested here in connection with a mail robbery at Toledo, Ohio, had made their escape from the jail proper and were on the "bridge of stiles" when deputy sheriffs closed in on them.

Then Wilson trained a revolver upon Cox and pulled the trigger. Officers said there had been "bad blood" between the men. A statement recently became current that Cox would testify for the state at Wilson's trial.

Start Fires to Bat on Speed, Riverhead, N. Y.—Charges that riv- alry is running so high between under fire companies here that one outfit starts a blaze in order to beat another to the scene being investigated by the police.

"In fact," says the chief, "we have learned that bets have been made on the races."

The other day one company found its truck drained in crevices.

With recent orders of Gov. Olcott to the Attorney General to proceed with prosecutions of outrages committed in Jackson county, the K. K. K. fellows will soon be given an opportunity to show their hand or go to jail. Your Uncle Sam is going after the gang again and there promises to be something doing in Jackson county.

They have what is called the Oregon Tourist and Information Bureau at Portland. If they would quit flooding this office with their literature to "please publish," it would save us many binders. With the money appropriated for advertising Oregon, the country newspaper receives many a cent. The swivel chair hoses and the high collared clerk of this bureau had better be fishing for another job as the next legislature is going to shelf this costly bunk.

It is stated that the Salem police matron has a persistent knack of arresting what she terms "smashers." She spots out the stranger and in a manner poses as a long lost maiden seeking a friend. The stranger just naturally falls for the stunt and is easily led to the police station on a pretext of taking a walk. We call this some mean trick in order that the city of Salem might make a few pesky dollars. She would make a kookoo of a "hopper." Such dirty work is a disgrace to the police department and the city of Salem.

People Want No Divorce

Messrs. Sam Veatch, conductor, and F. J. Connally, engineer, two gentlemen connected with the Southern Pacific company, were here Tuesday afternoon interviewing our business men relative to their views regarding the divorcing of the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific which the Supreme Court of the United States has declared that these two lines under joint ownership was a "monopoly in restraint of trade," and that the public had a right to be protected against such an evil condition.

The judges of the Supreme Court may think they know considerable regarding the railroads of the west, but it seems they never consulted the people of Turner before handing down an opinion. Had they done so they would have observed that our people do not want a divorce of these two lines, but to let them continue under "joint ownership" as in the past. We acknowledge a pleasant call.

A Lost Senator

Word comes from Washington that Senator Robert N. Stanfield of Oregon, who is running Charley Ross, most celebrated lost boy in history, close race as an absconter, was paired on the closure resolution last Friday with Senator McKeithan, democrat of Tennessee. It is common gossip around the capitol that the only reason that Charley Ross has any the best of the Oregon senator in the absconter race is that he got started first. Young Mr. Ross disappeared one day along about 1879 and has never been heard from since. Senator Stanfield left Washington three months ago, but he has been away much of the time since he was sworn in. His latest absence dates from April 1.

Arthur DeMytt, the new flax manager of the plant in Turner, arrived here Sunday and has been engaged this week in raising the storage building to a higher flood level and making other alterations about the plant.
