Poverty and Temperance. No man can be brave who considers his path to be the greatest evil of life, nor temperate who considers pleasure to be the highest good.

The Still Small Voice. Temptation has a still small voice. The conscience and they often hold a debate much to a man's inner disturbance.

Heeding Public Opinion. Reference to public opinion is shown by the man who cares nothing for sports, but claims he likes one.

Justice and Injustice. Punishment should not be inflicted on some while others equally guilty are not even brought to trial.

Great Disaster. One of the never-forgotten disasters of a lifetime is to lose one's bunch of keys.

New Danger Signal. One traction company in New Jersey, realizing the danger to the motoring public of level crossings, has evolved a sign system of warning at each crossing. Suspended across the road and directly above each crossing is a large board with several electric lights. This board bears the following message: "Danger! Lookout for locomotive! Stop when lighted!" No light shows when the way is clear.

The Faubourg St. Germain. The Faubourg St. Germain is an aristocratic quarter of Paris, situated on the left bank of the Seine. It was the residence before the French revolution of the old noblesse of France, many of whose stately mansions are still standing. At present it is the section of the city where the ministers, ambassadors and many of the ancient nobility have their homes. It adjoins the Quarter Latin on the east.

YANKS WIN THE FOURAGERE

French Decoration Given to Organizations an Imitation of the Old Forage Cord.

The "fouragere" (originally a forage cord or rope used for tying hay or grain) is the French military decoration for bravery. Several generations ago the grain band was worn by soldiers as an ornament.

It is now a collective decoration which is conferred by the French and other European governments, a colored cord having been substituted for the band of grain, says the Detroit News. Fifteen American organizations were awarded the fouragere by the French government for heroic deeds in the World war. One of these, Section 649 of the American ambulance service, received four citations in orders of the army, and therefore was awarded the fouragere in the colors of the ribbon of the Medaille Militaire. The others were awarded the green and red fouragere of the Croix de Guerre for two army citations.

In addition to these many other organizations had their colors decorated with the Croix de Guerre, but had not the two necessary citations in army orders to receive the fouragere.

Angler Fishes of Strange Forms. The family of the angler fishes contains more strange forms than any other.

Living on the sea bottom and seeking their prey by stealth, angler fishes do not need powerful swimming muscles, says the Detroit News, consequently the size of the body and tail has become considerably reduced, so that the head, relatively to the size of the body, is unusually large and villainously ugly.

The rays of the back fin are very long, and the foremost is provided with a flaglike flap of skin at the top, extremely sensitive to touch, and playing a very important part in the capture of its food.

Learning Improves Mind.

The mind of man is improved by learning and reflection, and is led forward by the pleasurable enjoyment of the eye and ear.

Nothing More.

"Bobbie, you shouldn't tease your little sister." Bobbie—"I'm not. I'm just amusing myself."—Life.

What to Expect.

With the blazing desire to improve the material world, we must expect the same agitation to improve the moral and spiritual world.
