

Milk Pails Brim With Prosperity

On the farmer's smallest or most valuable tract of land, the milk cow has been found profitable. Instead of but one pay day a year, as would be the case if he were depending upon one or two staple crops, there is a pay day every month from the butter, cheese, milk and cream the dairymen sends to the market.

Here at the Turner State bank, we are in a position to know just what paws on the farm mean to the farmers of this section, for we carry many of their accounts on our books. Since they took up dairying, they do not borrow as much to finance their farming operations as they did before, and when they do, it is only for a short time. Isn't this food for serious thought? We believe it is, and you may depend upon us to help you provide the right kind and quality of livestock for your farm, as far as is practicable.

Larger and more magnificent than ever before, with more exhibitors of purebred beef and dairy cattle, horses, hogs, sheep and chickens, the Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland, Nev., Oct. 1st to 10th, will be a revelation of what is being done to further livestock development in the Northwest. The Night Horse Show is one of the most renowned in America. Plan to go!

Your Druggist is More than a Merchant

Now is the time to watch coughs and colds. Unsettled weather doesn't help colds but I can. Cold tablets, Brom-Quinine, quinine capsules, oil of eucalyptus, analgesic balm, camphorated oil, croup lozenges, cod-liver emulsions and laxatives—all these aid in throwing off those troublesome lingering colds as well as lessening the acute attacks. All these and more can be had at the newly-opened drug store in Turner.

Meat Animals at Pacific International

This beautiful Shorthorn bull won grand championship honors at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition last fall. Frank Brown, of Carlton, Ore., the first president of the Exposition and one of its board of directors, stands behind the animal, and his little grandchild occupies the place of honor.

Beginning with Saturday, November 1, hundreds of animals, bred for symmetry of outline and for the greatest proportion of meat consistent with conformation, will be on exhibit for the admiring public. There will be the Shorthorns, in their red, white and cross colors; the Herefords, massive white faced animals with wide spreading horns; the Aberdeen-Angus, black as night and without horns of any kind. The Milking Shorthorns and Red Polled cattle, the later solid red, will also be shown.

The hog show is one of great merit and excellence, and Poland Chinas, Duroc Jerseys, Chester Whites, Berkshires and Hampshire swine will come to contest for honors from many states. In the sheep department are a bewildering display of breeds. The long, medium, and fine wool breeds will all be represented. Angora and milk goats will also be shown.

The poultry department has been increased in size and the exhibits will be more numerous and of finer quality with a number of new breeds shown. The commercial egg division will be of especial interest to poultry raisers. The Exposition is remarkable for its variety of domesticated animals shown. It is worth visiting for the sake of seeing the progress made in the production of these animals which minister to man's wants and needs.

COOLIDGE & DAWES GLOB ORGANIZED

The Republican Rally at Ball Brook hall was well attended Tuesday night in spite of the rough weather. Those present from Salem were Paul F. Burris, chairman of the Marion County Republican central committee, Rev. U. B. Crowder, John L. Brady, editor of the Oregon Statesman, and Paul Wallace, president of the Salem Coolidge and Dawes club. Rev. Crowder, the first speaker being personally acquainted with President Coolidge, limited his talk to Mr. Coolidge and his qualifications for the office. Mr. Brady, in his speech, discussed the campaign issues. Both these addresses were noticeable for the absence of mud throwing and abuse of the other parties.

At the close of the meeting names were taken for a Coolidge and Dawes club for Turner. About 14 names were secured which has since been increased to 22. The following officers were elected; president, J. M. Weston; vice president, Mrs. Mary McKinney; secretary and treasurer, F. P. Rowley.

TURNER HI NOTES

ROBERTA WILSON School Editor

On Thursday the 25th the schools of Turner opened for registration. On Monday when the classes were organized the pupils found that the books which had been ordered on Thursday had arrived and work was soon in full swing. Enrollment is as follows: primary room, 24; intermediate room, 23; advanced grades, 19; high school, 61. We have a fine large freshman class of over 20. The commercial course is very popular and is over crowded. The General Science course is also very popular this year, 30 being enrolled for that class.

So far twenty six pupils have enrolled from districts outside of the Turner district.

The Senior class enjoys an enrollment of 9.

The early fall rains found the east slope of the roof leaky and the water wet the ceiling of the auditorium. Since then the school Board has had the roof tarred.

Because of the large number calling for typewriting the board found it necessary to get a new typewriter. The machine is an Underwood.

The size of the science class and the fact that the science class will of necessity be large every year, made it imperative that the laboratory be provided with seats and the board has authorized the buying of 24 new seats for that room.

Before the paper goes to press next week we will be able to report the name of our coach for athletics.

DON'T FORGET THE TEACHER'S RECEPTION Tomorrow night Oct. 3rd, 8 o'clock sharp, at the school house auditorium. Everybody is interested in the school. It is show them that we are by our attendance by our warm smile by our hearty "we come." COME!

AMERICA LEADS AGAIN
WORK PROGRESSING AT TURNER FLAX PLANT
Just returned from Europe, where he remained seven weeks visiting the leading radio engineers and scientists in governmental and private radio circles abroad, David Sarnoff, vice-president and general manager of the Radio Corporation of America, says: "I investigated the broadcasting systems of England, France and Germany and met the principal persons, both in governmental and private circles, responsible for the development of radio in Europe. My conclusions are that broadcasting, which was initiated in our own country, has advanced in the United States, both as a public service and as an industry, to so great an extent as to make comparisons with European countries almost impossible."
"In France, it is just beginning, and in Germany it has hardly begun. In England, greater progress has been made than in other European countries but even there it cannot be said to compare favorably with the United States either as to quality or variety of programs, or as to effectiveness, simplicity or small cost of receiving apparatus, manufactured and sold for home use."
"Governmental regulations and restrictions retard the growth of the broadcasting art in Europe and at the same time deprive the listening public of the freedom, enjoyment and instructive information available to all in the United States."
Once again has the private initiative and inventive ingenuity of America gained for the common citizen advantages far in advance of the government-owned, government-controlled or government-regulated services in Europe.
