SUBSCRIPTION $1.25 PER YEAR. Entered at the Postoffice at Turner, Oregon, as second-class matter, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

We have on our desk the copy of a letter which was written from Yreka, California, on stationery of the Yreka Inn. The letter was written to the Knight Packing Company, by their representative. It shows up the comparison between the booster spirit of California and Oregon. According to the letter this salesman sold the proprietors some Oregon products and these were placed on the table. When the salesman approached the steward for a repeat order he failed to make the sale. Why did he fail? The California patrons of the hotel refused to eat anything but California products. If every man, woman and child who lives in Oregon and eats in Oregon hotels would demand Oregon products or if they would go a step further and demand Oregon products from the stores it would prove a great stimulant to Oregon trade and manufacturing. This booster spirit has been the greatest advertisement California has ever had. Referring to the letter again, it seems that they had some Oregon soap in his hotel. Many people had gone to the manager and asked why they had to use Oregon soap in California. And some even refused to stop there again until they were shown a copy of an order that California soap had been ordered. The salesman, in writing to the house, said: "Can you beat it? Why, in Oregon we preach it; but in California they practice it."

We have noticed considerable comment, editorial and otherwise, regarding the military tournament and demonstration at the Oregon Agricultural College on Memorial Day. Nearly all have taken the stand that it was out of place on that day. We believe that it should have been held on some other day. Memorial Day was set apart for a sacred purpose. The purpose was that of showing honor to those who fought and died in defense of the flag of their country. The day should be held sacred for that purpose. It is right and proper that we should demonstrate our ability for defense, if the occasion should ever arise, but such demonstrations should be held on some other day than Memorial Day. With the ever-increasing number of the veterans of the Civil war whose memory we honor on that day, the occasion should be held sacred for that purpose and not used for something that is akin to a Fourth of July celebration.

On the 14th of June we celebrate the birthday of our national flag. The old flag has passed through various changes from June 14th, 1777, when it was adopted by the Continental Congress, until July 4th, 1818, when congress ordered that it should consist of 13 horizontal stripes alternating red and white with twenty white stars in a blue field with a provision that beginning with July 4th, 1818, a new star should be added for each new state added to the Union. The resolution adopting the flag, passed by the congress June 14th, 1777, is as follows: "Resolved: That the flag of the thirteen United States shall be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, and that the union be thirteen white stars on a blue field."

While the day has never been authorized by congress it is generally observed in various parts of the country by exercises in different organizations on some occasions, but principally by the flying of the flag in honor of the day.

The Oregon Public School Bill was declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court. The bill was asked for at the ballot by a majority of Oregon voters. It is not dead, but has simply been put to sleep for a while. It will wake up again, perhaps in some other form, but it will come back again. With the mixture of races in this country the only sure melting pot is the public school, where the children of all races can come together and work one with the other in one of the greatest institutions that is fostered by the greatest democracy on the face of the earth. It is "Not dead, but sleepeth!"

Mr. Hindenburg has been president of Germany for several days and Germany and France have not gone to war yet.

European nations seem to be approaching the debt settling negotiations about the way the average man goes to the dentist.

Graduating Class of the Turner High School

Through the courtesy of the Portland Telegram it is possible for us to reproduce the above picture of the graduating class of the Turner High school. Above, from left to right: Miss Ethel Given, Leonard Farris, Miss Agnes Allenby, Edward Gath. Below, from left to right: Charles Mote, Miss Mildred Martin, Kenneth Gray, Gladys Coigan. Almost without exception graduates from the Turner High school have made good. The Tribune joins with the community in wishing the 1925 graduating class success as they step out of the class room to fight the battles of life.

ELECTRIC FLASHES! It's a high town, the gentlemen with the creased trousers is a traveling salesman. Heaven is a place where there'll be plenty of parking spots. THE ROADHOUSE ON THE HILL Jack and Jill went up the hill. Not for a drink of water. And that is why they both fell down. They drank what they hadn't order. A RECENT EPITAPH. Underground lies William Pell, He had a car and he drove like—? Every spring Cupid has orders to shoot on sight. Yes, most of us are too lazy to enjoy life. Unhappy lies the head wears a frown. Some girls don't think they are dressed unless they are not. Subscribe for the Tribune
