

THE TURNER TRIBUNE

F. H. Rowley, Editor

Issued Every Thursday at Turner, Marion County, Oregon

SUBSCRIPTION $1.25 PER YEAR. Entered at the Postoffice at Turner, Oregon, as second-class matter, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

THE GAME COMMISSION AND THE GAME LAWS

The laws of the State of Oregon are made by the legislature which is duly elected by the people. According to the initiative and referendum the people are given the privilege of voting on laws directly affecting the people. The last session of the legislature fixed the hunting season on Chinese Pheasants at two weeks. The Game Commission has arbitrarily shortened the season to one week. Probably their reason was to conserve the birds. Every time they have shortened the season the birds have been scarcer. The proof of the pudding is in the eating. If the supply of birds has become less every time they shorten the season then that does not solve the problem. Last year they very wisely (?) released some thousands of birds just prior to the hunting season so that they could be slaughtered as soon as the season opened. Why not wait until after the hunting season is over and then release the birds and give them a chance to nest and hatch their litters for the next year. Wouldn't this be the better way to increase the supply of birds than to release them before the season and then arbitrarily usurp the legislative powers and fix the hunting season to suit themselves.

BREAKERS AHEAD FOR GENEVA

Internationalists used to tell us that the reason so many European conferences ended in failure was that the United States was not represented. The Locarno conference, it is true, has proven pretty much of a success so far, but the internationalists were not satisfied, even with that, because we did not have a finger in the pie.

But now, strange to relate, there seems to be breakers ahead for the disarmament conference at Geneva, at which we will be represented, and there are sinister rumors that it may not be held and even if it is held it will not amount to anything.

Some of the countries scheduled to take part now say that there is no use in discussing disarmament if Russia is not in on the agreement. Little nations adjoining Russia are afraid of the Red republic and don't want to disarm as long as there is a Russian menace. In addition there are all sorts of rumors as to what Russia is going to do to the interests of the capitalistic nations in China and other parts of the Orient.

Therefore the time does not seem ripe for disarmament as it did a few weeks ago. America has always been for sane and sensible measures to prevent war and there was little if any objection to our taking part in the preliminary meeting at Geneva. But if the conference is not, or if it fails to accomplish anything, the internationalists in America are going to be in a bad fix. They won't be able to blame the failure onto the United States.

The above taken from the National Republic explains the position of the United States very clearly. The European nations do not seem to be able to give us the right to run our own business to suit ourselves. They want to meddle with other nation's affairs but when they get their toes stepped on into the League Court and are not satisfied with that but are still harping on the proposition that we are responsible for the failures of other conferences on account of our not taking part in them. The very thing Russia is waiting for is the time when the border nations will disarm so that she can cram her red propaganda down their throats at the point of the bayonet as she has done in China.

HOW THE LAMB MARKET BEHAVED IN 1925

THE prices for lamb have been relatively high in 1925, with lamb supplies available for slaughter only slightly below normal figures, according to an analysis of the lamb market by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. In the sheep-producing states pastures and ranges have been good. Conditions in the whole area west of the Rocky mountains are vastly better than they were a year ago.

The sheep industry was much more profitable in 1925 than it was in 1924. Lamb prices in Chicago averaged $13.35 in November, 1925, as compared with an average of $6.05 for the same month in the five years from 1920 to 1924. The top price was reached in January, at $18.50 per hundredweight, and its low price of $12.50 came in May. Both prices and receipts have fluctuated up and down through the entire season, but efforts to expand production have kept market receipts down because ranchers were retaining their ewe lambs with which to replenish and increase their flocks. The number of ewes slaughtered from July to September in 1925 is the smallest for that same period during the last four years.

The number of lambs on feed both in the corn belt and in the Western feeding districts is smaller than last year and some advance in the present price of lamb seems probable from now on. There will probably be a larger lamb crop, however, this spring and a moderately lower level of prices as these lambs come to market during 1926.
