Peary's Flag at Pole.
Peary planted five flags at the North pole in 1909. They were: A silk American flag, given him by Mrs. Peary 15 years before; the colors of Delta Kappa Epsilon, his fraternity; the "World's Ensign of Liberty," with red, white and blue in a field of white; the Navy league flag, and the Red Cross flag.

Sophisticated Kid.
We often hear of children being sheltered from the wickedness of the world. They are not. The little wretches must accept the common fare and bear of plenty of wickedness, among themselves and in their homes. What a lot of wickedness I knew about before I was ten years old!—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Destructive Tourists.
Tourists are responsible for the destruction of many of our young trees, says a state forester. "Automobiles," he says, "dig up young conifers for transplanting and usually carry with them roots exposed for great distances, expecting them to take root and grow. Most of them die. The practice should stop."

Knew Her Mother.
The little daughter of an artist was playing on the porch of her home when a man selling colored postcards spoke to her. "Do you think your mother would like some of these?" he asked, showing her the cards. "No, I am sure she would not," was the decisive reply. "My father makes them."

Real Teaching.
There is no teaching until the pupil is brought into the same state of principle in which you are; a transfusion takes place; he is you, and you are he; there is a teaching; and by no infidelity chance of bad company can be ever quite lose the benefit.—Bergson.

Reprove Wisely.
Reprove, especially as it relates to children, administered in all gentleness, will render the culprit not afraid, but ashamed to repeat the offense.—Hossea Ballou.

COATS OF EXQUISITE WOOL REP; ACCESSORIES COMPLETE PICTURE

SPRING topcoats present a limitless opportunity for the exercise of individual taste and preference. Among the vast array of new wraps two distinct fashion trends are emphasized. On the one hand is the swagger, sometimes bizarre novelty woolen coat whose supremacy in the arena of fashion is challenged by the conservative type of classic distinction, for the styling of which designers choose exquisitely refined reps and twills of subtle coloring.

There is no denying the genteel elegance of a coat of the latter genre. Fortune favors the woman who becomes the possessor of just such a garment as the picture defines, for it is an exponent of high-class fashion. The purchase of a garment styled along these lines and of like fabric is without a doubt a wise investment. This model is of a superior pure rep, the sort that never retains dust, always looks spick-and-span, perfectly groomed, so to speak. Its color is the new graystone, a sort of tan-gray. It is youthfully collared with squirrel fur. The sleeves describe each a point at the shoulder and there are insets down the sides with stitched acorns at the hips. In the exquisite fineness of this garment there seems absolutely no room for improvement.

Fashionists are enthusiastic over the new woolen reps and luster twills. They are of a super-delicate texture, having a lightness of feel to the touch.

which makes them a joy in the wearing.

The latest finely textured woolen topcoats add to their exclusive appearance. In that they are detailed with matching satin revers, collar and cuffs. This is accomplished in a strictly tailored way. As an example, a fine gray twill is used for a straight-line model. The mannish collar and simple turn-back cuffs are of matching gray satin, of quality kind.

These lighter-weight cloth coats also often carry interesting shirred and flaring collars which are edged with a flat fur of corresponding color-tone. Sometimes in the simpler models the collar is merely a narrow band ending in ties at the front.

While crepe de chine is the favorite lining for the fine cloth coat, there is also a tendency to use bright silk for the prints. Considerable designing is being concentrated on the back of the coat, and clever fullness is being introduced with inverted plaits which extend from the neck.

It is the trend of the spring mode to complete the picture with charming accessories. To this end more than ever are scarves high-lighting the fashion stage. A scarf with every costume is the prevailing style sentiment. Just now the greatest interest seems to center around the idea of carrying out a match color scheme in hat and scarf.

Young girls are taking keen delight in acquiring a colorful simple felt, in such shades, for instance, as bois de rose, peach, bright or madonna blue, lovebird or chartreuse green, wild honey or maybe phantom red, or probably orchid. Then to the silk counter do they wend their joyful steps, asking for either crepe de chine or crepe satin in the self-same shade as the hat just purchased. If one is bent on economy three-quarters of a yard will suffice for a yard if one prefers a long scarf. This can be cut in two and hemstitched end-to-end together at the back. The scarf is narrowly machine-hemmed along the sides with a wider hemstitch hem across the bottom. Not yet is the ensemble complete, for a rose or chrysanthemum or boutonniere of some sort repeating the chosen color is supposed to be worn with this fetching set of hat and scarf.

POULTRY HOUSE

QUITE IMPORTANT

Chickens raised on grandfather's farm roosted in the apple tree or on the binder reel because these places were accessible, convenient and sheltered from the weather. It is pointed out by W. A. Foster of the farm mechanics department, college of agriculture, University of Illinois. This choice of biddy's should be a valuable guide to the modern poultryman who is planning to build a new chicken house or remodel the old one, Foster says.

"Suitable housing is just as important as the care of the flock because it provides for the comfort of the birds at all seasons. Furthermore, it is convenient for the attendant. In addition, to be effective and efficient, the house should be simple in construction in order to keep the cost and upkeep low. A neat, attractive house adds to the appearance of the building group and value of the farm.

"The comfort of the birds is secured through freedom from dampness and drafts and provision for ample floor space in feeding and roost space for night. An abundant supply of fresh air and sunlight promotes the health, vigor and comfort of the attendant. In addition, to be effective and efficient, the house should be simple in construction in order to keep the cost and upkeep low. GOOD ROADS

GOOD ROADS
HARD ROADS WILL HELP MERCHANTS

Merchants invariably report an increase in their volume of business when a hard-surfaced road leading to their town is opened for traffic. This has been clearly demonstrated in many communities. The following editorial from the Oshkosh (Wis.) Northwestern cites a specific instance:

"Without question the hard-surfaced highways helped to increase the volume of local holiday trade. Many shoppers came to Oshkosh from points thirty and forty miles away, some of them in private autos, and others in the auto busses now in operation. These bus lines were taxed to the limit, and with the favorable combination of good weather they maintained their schedules with gratifying regularity. The growth of this business during the past season has been a revelation of what can be accomplished along this line.

"When the highways are properly improved, it is a safe prediction that a similar service will reach every section within fifty miles of Oshkosh. All this territory naturally is tributary to Oshkosh as a marketing and shopping center, and Oshkosh is naturally interested in obtaining and holding the trade of this rich and populous section. The way to do it has been disclosed by what already has followed the improvement of the public highways, and the people and business interests of Oshkosh have good reason to favor and encourage further improvement of the highways until a perfect system of good roads is obtained.

"The benefits and advantages will be mutual, for quick and easy transportation is a convenience that promotes the welfare of all. Of course, we appreciate the service of the railroads and the electric lines, but modern, improved highways throughout this section is the next big development, and it will do much to add to the success and prosperity of Oshkosh and all adjacent sections."

Gold and Silver Coins.
The United States gold dollar contains 25.8 troy grains. A troy pound contains 5,760 troy grains, but the more familiar avoirdupois pound contains 7,000 troy grains. A million dollars in United States gold coin, therefore, weighs 3,684.4 pounds avoirdupois. The standard silver dollar weighs 412.5 troy grains, and a million dollars in such coin would weigh 56,931 pounds, or nearly 24 1/2 tons.

Appreciation of Merit.
I think that, however a thoughtful man may suffer from the defects and absurdities of his company, he cannot without affectation deny to any set of men and women a sensibility to extraordinary merit. The coarse and frivolous have an instinct of superiority, if they have not a sympathy, and honor it in their blind and capricious way with sincere homage.—Emerson.

Old Swiss Cheeses.
A peculiar bridal or marriage custom which prevails in some parts of Switzerland is presenting the people with a "register cheese." On this cheese dates of the marriage, births and deaths are recorded. Many persons own cheese records that are 200 years old. A country squire living near Gessenay has one dated 1669.

Scientists Rejected Name.
The planet Uranus was named Georgium Sidus, George's Star, by its discoverer, Sir William Herschell, in 1781, but astronomers refused to accept the name, and it was finally called by its present name.

Titian's Incentive.
It is said that Titian always kept a cluster of grapes hanging in his studio as an example of beauty of form and line.

Beginning of Great Era.
What is said to have been the first practical American steamboat was exhibited on the Delaware river in 1787 by John Fitch and attained a speed of eight miles an hour in dead water.

Use of Peat in Ireland.
Considerable areas in Ireland consist of boggy land, where peat is found. From very early times peat has formed an important fuel in this country and still continues to be used extensively today.

At an altitude of 19,000 feet, during the recent expedition to the summit of Mount Everest, adventurers are said to have lost their sense of taste. Onions and peppermints seemed virtually without flavor.
