Our Quotation for This Week

There is nothing noble in being superior to some other men. True nobility is in being superior to your previous self.—Hindoo Saying

THE HEARST PROPAGANDA.

Some time ago the Hearst publications printed articles purporting to be official documents showing that President Calles ordered a total of $1,200,000 to be paid to four members of the United States Senate for services in behalf of Mexico. Among these senators were Heflin, of Alabama and Borah, of Idaho. These men denied the charge. In turn President Calles also denied it. William Randolph Hearst admitted that he did not know whether these documents were genuine or not. Why did Mr. Hearst publish these articles if he did not know they were true. Because these men stood pat for the Mexican government they have been criticised by nearly every newspaper in America. Now comes this latest charge, if proven, would amount to treason. Possibly Mr. Hearst did not realize the seriousness of the charge or was it done for money?

One thing we do know, from reading editorials in the various papers is that Mr. Hearst is the target for attack from all parts of the country. Mr. Hearst has killed himself as far as his influence is concerned. It is reported Mr. Hearst has demanded an investigation of these charges. Mr. Hearst had better save his breath for the investigation will only react against him.

Another Mind Gone Wrong.

A few months ago the world was shocked by the dastardly crime of the two Chicago youths, Leopold and Loeb, who murdered a boy because they wanted to find out how a person acted when he was dying. Through the influence of Clarence Darrow, one of the greatest criminal lawyers to be found, they were given life. It was a case of bright minds going to seed from lack of proper training.

A few days ago in the city of Los Angeles, William Edward Hickman murdered Marion Parker, daughter of one of the officers of the same bank in which young Hickman was employed. The motive was revenge. Some time before this, Hickman was convicted of forgery but was paroled at the request of all the officers except Parker, who held out for conviction. The parole, in this case was simply an invitation to continue a life of crime which culminated in the brutal murder of Marion Parker and the delivery of her mutilated body to her father on the payment of a paltry sum of money. There is too much leniency practiced by the courts, which, in a way, is responsible for the wave of crime that is sweeping the country. It is time the blinds were removed from the Goddess of Justice so that she may see the results of some of this parole practice that is being followed by the courts at the present time.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

(Lillian Peterson)

Over looked last week

The basketball game between Jefferson and Turner last Friday night was well attended. The girls made a few fouls at first, but after getting warmed up they scored better. When the whistle blew announcing the termination of the game the score was 16 to 9, in favor of Turner. The girls had a much better showing at the first game of this season than last. Miss Knebel is the girls coach. The boys game was a walk away from start to finish. The Turner boys showed skill and control throughout the game, due to the excellent coaching of Professor Watson. The final score was 43 to 4 in Turner's favor. The Turner boys and girls will not disappoint you in the next game. Come out and help them win.

Circus was almost in school the other day. The Freshmen and Sophomores when their caps arrived wore them about the building until one of the teachers remarked they looked like a circus. The Juniors and Seniors have all ordered caps, but as yet they have not arrived. The caps are red and white. The Senior class rings arrived last week.

A studentbody meeting was held last Thursday. Wilson Bauman was elected sergeant-at-arms, and Lillian Peterson high school editor.

Everybody seems to be in a better humor now that the vaccinations are almost well. The students are eagerly looking forward to the Christmas vacation which begins the twenty-third and continues till the third of January.

We notice Prof. Watson and Miss Knebel are wearing broad smiles these days.

The major parts of the Junior Vaudeville were put on at Marion last Wednesday evening.

Last Friday morning the school had its Christmas program. Several enjoyable numbers were presented by each room. The presents were given out to the high school students after program, the grades had received their presents before the program. Several students received comical presents which caused many laughs. The students all left in a good humor.

The students are spending their Christmas vacation, which lasts till the third of January, at various places.

Mrs. Peary remained in Turner over Christmas and had as her guests Mr. Peary's relatives.

Miss Knebel is spending her vacation at her home in The Dalles.

Miss Pearson is spending the vacation at Portland and Pendleton.

Mr. Watson spent Christmas with his sister, Mrs. Judson, in Portland. He is also visiting at The Dalles.

The seniors are proudly displaying their class caps, which arrived last Friday. All the classes now have their caps except the juniors.

Hazel Colgan, while practicing basketball last week, had the misfortune to break her right arm. She was taken to Jefferson where a doctor set the broken bone.

The boys basketball team are intending to go on a trip the latter part of this week. They intend to play games at various towns. Each night the score will be phoned to Riches Confectionery where those who want to can learn how the team is progressing.

The DAIRY

POORLY FED COWS NOT PROFITABLE

Milk yields of many poorly fed cows could be increased as much as 50 per cent through improved feeding, says Dr. W. B. Nevens, assistant chief in dairy cattle feeding at the college of agriculture, University of Illinois. In a few cases the yield has been nearly doubled, he said.

"When the milk yield of a cow or a herd is increased through better feeding, the profits climb much more rapidly than the cost of the extra feed. In fact, many unprofitable herds have been put on a profitable basis simply through more liberal feeding of a ration better suited to milk production."

"Investigations by the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, have shown that cows producing 10,000 pounds (1,100 gallons) of milk or more, annually used only 42 pounds of digestible matter for each 100 pounds of milk, while cows yielding only half that amount did so at a feed cost of one-third more for each 100 pounds of milk. Some cows were found which gave only 3,000 pounds (350 gallons) or less a year. These cows required one and two-thirds as much feed for each unit quantity of milk as the highest producing cows. The greater the production, the greater the efficiency with which feed is used for milk, for the amounts of feed needed to maintain the animal remain about constant. Some of the best cows use two-thirds of their feed for milk, while the poorest may use only one-third or less."

"The ability of the cows to produce milk is a matter deserving as much attention as the feed. Improved feeding, however, may bring immediate profits, while raising better cows requires several years."

Dairy Notes

The best milk is that which is kept clean, cool, and covered.

Feed yearling heifers two pounds of grain per day while on pasture this summer.

Dairymen who by breeding and feeding make one cow do what two did before are benefactors to the public as well as to themselves.

The general butterfat average of 117 dairies in Omaha, Neb., in March 1927, according to the report of the city health commissioner, was 3.5 per cent. The legal standard is 3.2 per cent.
