Quart of Water Cleans Kidneys

Take a Little Salt if Your Back Hurts, or Bladder is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.

The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill. Frequentness and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. It's delicious! Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's a sign of colic; constipation; diarrhea; or need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Just one warning: It is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs, but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's-Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

Design for This Small House Based on French Style of Architecture

By W. A. RADFORD
Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to practical home building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1837 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

It is only comparatively recent years that the people of this country have discovered the possibilities in home design based on French architectural styles. But now we find many houses, both large and small, in the French style and they are almost always of outstanding attractive appearance. The style is, in general, quite simple with stucco as a commonly used finish.

In the accompanying photograph we see one of these houses, the design of which has been based on the French type. The walls are of rough finished stucco, practically unadorned except by the well-placed openings for doors and windows. The roof lines are effective and the entrance detail possesses a charm which can best be described by the word quaint.

Though this home is a small one, measuring but 26 feet by 24 feet on the foundation, its nearly square plan and the economy of space in design afford a large amount of interior space. There are six rooms and a garage, now an essential part of every sun room, which practically makes it a seven-room house, for the sun room is so placed that it can be made thoroughly useful, either as a study, a sewing room, an emergency bedroom or other purposes as occasion may require.

Above stairs there are three bedrooms and the bathroom. It will be noted that each of these bedrooms contains an ample closet, while a rather unusual feature is a really large closet of the bathroom.

The rooms of the first floor follow the usual arrangement of living room, dining room and kitchen in the modern style of large living room and compact efficient kitchen. There is a service entrance at the side giving admittance to the kitchen and the basement. At the rear will be found, harmonizing in style with the house, a garage, now an essential part of every

Build Home Fire Safe, Is Writer's Warning

An article in a recent issue of Better Homes and Gardens sounds a note of warning concerning care in insuring the home and effects from fire:

"How little we home owners think of preventing fires!

"How many of us give a thought to building in a fireproof way, unless the district authorities step in and tell us how to build?"

"Insurance, to a certain extent, covers a fire but never can it cover the loss of life nor the loss of beloved possessions that have come down to us from those that have passed beyond."

Furthermore, people rarely insure themselves for enough because they take out insurance on original cost and not on replacement value and without making lists or inventories of what they have. If you take out insurance, insure yourself against total, not partial, loss; but the best insurance in the world is an investment in carefulness.

Paint Touches Up and Renews Old Interiors

Have you ever been in a house that made you stop and think that you wished your own looked as nice?

Just what the difference was you perhaps couldn't analyze. Your own home might have been better built, more expensively furnished, more conveniently planned, but somehow it lacked something, and that lack made it seem dowdy and cheerless.

Perhaps you have let a few things slide—there is always an inclination to feel, once you have your house complete and in tip-top shape, that there is nothing more to be done. But houses, just as much as clothes, require a little attention right along. Let them go, and they soon become hopeless. But a touch here and there at the right time can change the whole appearance.

And so, when the woodwork and floors show signs of wear, or the steps become kicked and scuffed, your whole home—no matter how nice or even how trim the furnishings—takes on a really shabby look, while the simplest house with fresh, glistening surfaces reflects charm and refinement. There is, in fact, something about a house kept in tip-top condition that makes it suitable for any people or any occasion, and gives it unrivaled charm.

Heating Plant Big Item in Residence

The heating plant is the most important single item in the American home. Its performance may vary between wide extremes, but its failure, even for a day, means great discomfort and may result in serious sickness. It is a wonder that more attention is not paid to the selection of heating equipment in a new home and to its character in a completed home that is purchased.

Woodwork Easily Treated to Aid Color Harmony

A home decorator recently said: "It's almost impossible to make my rooms artistic because of the woodwork. In every decorative scheme I've tried, the woodwork stands out like a sore thumb. What would you advise?"

Evidently this home decorator fails to appreciate the adaptability of woodwork. If it doesn't match—change its color. If, for instance, the color scheme is bright and gay, make the woodwork harmonize. And follow the same rule with a dark decorative scheme. There is nothing easier than the soft woods and where the scheme calls for a color in the wood work, paint or enamel will give the desired finish. Nowadays, however, enamels are used more frequently than paint. Enamels come in such lovely colors that they can be mixed, safely to secure a variety of tints and shades.

Today, woodwork in the same neutral tone as the background of the walls is decidedly the vogue. Sometimes it is a little lighter, sometimes a little darker. But don't let the woodwork unduly assert itself. Real hardwood finished in its natural color always will be in style; although often it is desirable to stain the wood so as to preserve the grain and at the same time change the color tone. This is not a difficult job. But be sure that good varnish or varnish stains are used. The finish should be waterproof—one that can be cleaned without harming its luster or durability.

Color in Stucco

Stucco in all its endless varieties of finish and color has been used for centuries upon centuries in almost every part of the world. Here in America we are just beginning to appreciate its possibilities. We are experimenting a renaissance in the use of color and texture for the stucco in our home.

Saving Plaster

Droppings of lime plaster may be retempered and used again with perfect safety thereby making a saving of about 8 per cent possible.

Mrs. R. Was Practicing Art of Guest Dodging

One Saturday Mrs. R. was leaving her home to go downtown shopping. Two ladies with suitcases were going on the walk toward the house of her next-door neighbor. Mrs. R. happened to see her neighbor walking quickly toward the street corner where she intended to board a street car. Thinking that she would be disappointed if she missed the guests who at that moment were on her porch, Mrs. R. called to her neighbor several times without making her hear.

Finally, by hurrying, she caught up with her and somewhat breathlessly delivered the news.

"Shut up, you fool! Shut up!" said her neighbor in an angry tone. "I saw them coming, and I was trying to get away before they saw me. I had planned to visit some friends in the country tomorrow, so I would not have to get Sunday dinner myself. You don't think that I intend to stay home and cook for them, do you?"

Fortunately, the street car arrived in time.

Hard to Get Around

Ignorance Like This

Dr. Van Fardleah of the American medical commission, recently assigned to work in the Near East, remarked that medical effectiveness in the Orient would never be established until the masses were better educated.

"A peasant woman," he said, "had several children and when one of them was taken ill, we insisted that the others be vaccinated. Much against her will, she finally consented.

"Two days afterward she stormed into the relief hospital and upbraided us because one of the recently vaccinated children was dead.

"'Dead!' I exclaimed, 'but how could he be dead? He was all right when we vaccinated him.'

"He fell down and broke his neck," scoffed the woman. 'A lot of good vaccination does.'

His Consideration

"While I always feel eminently able to tell everybody else how to do everything—including bossing women, running wars," said Cyrus K. Savage, "executing miracles, making condensed milk, choosing cantaloupes and vocations, and adventuring into other lines of endeavor not necessary to enumerate at this time—I understand that the average citizen does not care to listen to my superior wisdom, and so I usually refrain from offering it."—Kansas City Star.
