MISS BONES TAKES TEST

Miss Hazel Bones, recent graduate of Turner high school now taking a nurse's training course in Pacific Christian hospital, finds her work interesting. In a letter to her parents she enclosed a copy of the questions in a recent examination on the subject of Ethics. Thinking they may be interesting to her former class mates we are publishing them this week. The questions follow:

1. Define ethics.
2. Name the departments of a hospital.
3. What is loyalty? Personality? Good breeding? Ambition? Habits? 4. What do we mean by well poised? Give some requirements of a well-poised nurse.
5. Name what you think are the greatest mistakes made by a student nurse in an ethical way.
6. Write concerning a nurse's attitude under reproval.
7. What is economy, extravagance, tact.
8. Write concerning the ethical phases of night duty.
9. Discuss friendships with nurses and patients. What are hospital accidents? Why should we make every effort to avoid them.
10. Describe your ideal nurse.

The rooms of the Gillette home were attractively decorated with bouquets of spring flowers, with a color note of pink and white predominating. An improvised lattice of clematis and pink roses formed the background for the ceremony.

Preceding the service, Mrs. H. F. Kirk, of Waverly, sang, "I Love You Truly" and "When". The bridal party entered as Mrs. S. W. Pratt of Oaksdale played the wedding march.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, wore a gown of white crepe and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and bridal wreath. She was attended by Miss Selma Crowe, of Oaksdale, who wore figured georgette in pastel shades. Little Miss Rosella Gillette, niece of the bride, acted as flower girl, and wore a dress of pink georgette.
