A SPLENDID MUSICAL ATTRACTION COMING!

Offering a varied program of vocal and instrumental numbers, the quintet from St. Olaf College will give a concert in the Grand Theatre on Monday, August 6

Vocal ensemble singing by male voices is particularly pleasing when the performers have had the benefit of long training under the leadership of a master in choral music. Such is the case with the St. Olaf Quintet. All of the members except one have sung in the St. Olaf Choir under the direction of Dr. F. Melius Christiansen for at least four years. With the choir they have appeared in such notable halls as the Metropolitan Opera House, New York; New Public Auditorium, Cleveland; Orchestra Hall, Chicago; the Denver Auditorium and the great concert halls in Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Their work as a singing quintet, reflects the training they have had in this world-renowned organization, and the experience which they have had in appearing before large, critical audiences.

Wherever there have appeared on this tour musicians and laymen alike have been unstinted in their praises. As an example we quote from the Madison (S. Dak.) Leader.

"Once in a while, persons who attend a concert are enthused by finding it much better than even their fondest hopes; and that was the case last night when an audience of more than 700 persons sat spell-bound for an hour and a half, listening to a beautiful program of vocal and instrumental selections presented by the St. Olaf male quintet."

NEW OREGON ROAD MAP ISSUED

A new edition of the popular Oregon road and information map folder has just been received at the office of the district forester, Portland, Oregon.

The map shows main paved and gravel roads in red. Truck highway, other automobile roads and secondary roads are also indicated. National forests are shown in green, while recreation centers are located by means of red circles and numbered references to the printed description.

The text on the reverse of map gives brief descriptions of the principle recreation features of each of the fourteen national forests in the State. A list of city and roadside automobile campgrounds is also included. There are several attractive forest photographs, a brief statement of national forest policy and purpose and some suggestions for travelers as to care for fire.

Copies of the map may be obtained from the district office library, New Post Office Building, Portland, Oregon, or from any of the fourteen forest supervisors in the State. The forest service makes no charge for these maps, simply requesting cooperation from the map users in educating the public to leave a clean camp and a dead fire.

SHAKESPEARE ON AVIATION

The bard of Stratford-on-Avon has sung of men—heroic and democratic; of football he knew something; and of aviation he must have known because from his plays we get the following glimpses:

Some airy devil hovers in the sky, And pours down mischief. —King John, iii, 2.

Fierce fiery warriors fought upon the clouds.

In ranks and squadrons and right form of war.

The noise of the battle hurtled in the air.

—Julius Caesar ii, 2. Who ever knew the heavens menace so?

—Julius Caesar i, 3. Our cannon's malice vainly shall be spent.

Against the invulnerable clouds of heaven.

—King John, ii, 1.

A winged messenger of heaven Unto the white upturned wond'ring eyes

Of mortals that fall back to gaze on him

When he bestrides the lazy pacing clouds

And sails upon the bosom of the air.

—Romeo and Juliet, ii, 2

Imprison'd in the viewless winds.

And blown with restless violence round about

The pendant world.

—Measure for Measure, iii, 1

Yea, man and birds are fain of climbing high.

I thought as much; he'd be above the clouds.

—Henry VI, ii, 1

The above article taken from one of the Mc Minnville papers several years ago is both interesting and unique and worth passing on to our readers.
