AN APPRECIATION
GEORGE M. STAPLES

George Mervin Staples was born in Stockton Springs, Maine, on June 29, 1857, and died in Turner, Marion county, Oregon, on September 16, 1928. He was descended from a long line of New England ancestry. In 1877 his family settled in Turner, Marion County, Oregon. From this year on, this youth, with the other members of his family accepted Oregon as the beloved state of their adoption. Coming to Turner, over 50 years ago, the Staples family may well be considered among the pioneers of this beautiful and fertile portion of the Willamette Valley. The youth grew to manhood, in the fine traditions of the early pioneers. The vanities and trifles of life found no place in the lives of the early settlers. There were earnest battles to be fought, in taming the soil and subduing the forests. There were constant calls for help from the weak and inexperienced, who grew weary in their attempt to begin life anew, in a new land. George Staples learned the dignity of labor in his youth; he also learned to listen to the many calls for help. The responses he made to these calls in his early manhood, he continued to make all the years of his life. The love for his neighbors that developed in his youth, only grew stronger with his increasing years, while his readiness to hold out a helping hand became more marked with the years. George Staples found it his duty and pleasure to lessen the sorrows of others and to lighten the burdens of all, as his friends and neighbors lovingly testify. Although he did not direct his life to the amassing of great wealth, he was the owner of one of the largest and best regulated farms in Marion County. Rather than securing material wealth, he laid up for himself in his heart and mind, the riches of the spirit from which store he gave freely to all. In 1899 he happily married Mary E. Morrison who through long years was his true helpmate and treasured companion, and who still survives him. George Staples never spoke an unkind word of any man, no unkind thought ever found lodgment in his mind. The little children loved him and sought him out as a companion. In his daily rounds on the farm, even the animals were eager to walk by his side unafraid. To the least of them, he gave such loving care, that he gained from them their dumb affection. He was, in his own gentle way, master of all with whom he came in contact, because he was always master of himself. He was blest with a keen sense of humor, so gentle that no one was ever hurt thereby, but, at the same time, so sunny, and sparkling that every one left him with a smile on the face. The world was better for his presence. His sister, Mrs. H. W. Smith, a well-known resident of Turner, is the sole survivor of the original Staples family. Her two sons are living in Oregon. Ralph M. Hussey is in Siletz, Oregon. Her oldest son, Alvaro Staples Hussey, lives with his wife in Salem, where he is well-known in this community through his long and close association with the firm of D. J. Fry. Banked by flowers, piled high above him by many loving hands, this man of strength and gentleness sleeps in the cemetery at Turner. Amid the flowers, there might well appear these words, "Here lies one who loved his fellow-men."

was evidenced by the two fine specimens that were hanging in Ball Brothers garage last Friday. The other party returning was Hollis Bones, Maxwell McKay and Herbert Briggs who returned empty handed. They intend to try it again and hope for better luck.

HAL HOSS APPOINTED TO FILL TERM

Hal E. Hoss, the Republican candidate for Secretary of State has been appointed by Governor Patterson to fill out the unexpired term of Sam Koser. Mr. Hoss carried the primaries by a big majority.

Fear was felt that he would cause a general shake up in the office force but that was dispelled in an announcement in the Salem papers that the personnel of the office would remain as it is with Mr. Loughrige as deputy. Chief Rafferty as head of the traffic division and Carl Gabrielson in charge of the automobile licence division.
