

THE TURNER TRIBUNE

Turner, Oregon, Thursday SEPT. 19, 1929

F. H. Rowley, Editor

Issued Every Thursday at Turner, Marion County, Oregon

SUBSCRIPTION $1.25 PER YEAR. Entered at the Postoffice at Turner, Oregon, as second-class matter, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States and the country for which it stands. One nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Here is The Record

The above is the caption of an interesting editorial appearing in the Oregon Journal of September 7 regarding the use of California cement in Oregon projects. The editorial gives the information that out of 95,571 barrels of cement used in Portland paving in the first seven months of 1929, 58,387 barrels was cement made in California. Regarding the airplane hangar to be constructed by the Port of Portland the editorial quotes the specifications follows: "Kind OF CONCRETE: Foundations, walls, piers, footings, walls of boiler, shall be plain concrete mixed 1 part 'Santa Cruz' (California) cement three parts clean sand; five parts crushed gravel." For the brick work Mt. Diablo (California product) or approved equal in original packages.

Why is this condition prevalent in Oregon? Oregon has three cement factories and it is said that they operate little more than half time owing to lack of orders. This work is to be done in Oregon for the benefit of Oregon yet they patronize California interests. The article closes with the following pertinent paragraph: "California authorities do not allow Oregon-made cement to be used on public works in California."

Washington authorities do not allow Oregon-made cement to be used on public works in the state of Washington.

This being the case why should Oregon allow California or Washington cement to be used on Oregon public works. Patrons of California restaurants refuse to eat where canned goods other than those bearing the California label are used, yet Oregon allows California cement to go into the walls of her public buildings and California canned goods to go on to the tables of her restaurants. Produce canned in Oregon canneries are allowed to leave Oregon with California labels adorning the cans and bottles. Where is the public spirit of the Oregonian compared with the citizens of California? When the Oregonian leases to use Oregon Food products and Oregon industry learns to use Oregon material for home construction, then and not till then will Oregon industry be protected. When this is done our cement mills and other industries will be operating and labor will be employed and everybody will be prosperous.

The Champoe Memorial

Since the editorial regarding the Champoe memorial appeared in the Tribune the following plan prompted by friendly suggestions seems to be worth passing on. Why not every state that is interested, every county and every town furnish a stone suitably engraved to be placed in a suitable monument to commemorate the lives of the pioneers who made this country a part of the United States. This should include the states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho which composed the original Oregon Territory. If the states contributed their proportionate share coupled with the counties, cities and towns it can be readily seen what a wonderful memorial could be erected without aid from the Federal Government, and the honor would belong, unspoiled by outside aid, to the original Oregon Territory. It could be built in the form of a monument, pioneer block house or any other structure representing some building of pioneer days. It would then be our memorial to the accomplishments of the pioneers who moulded the Oregon Territory.

Miniature Circus In Turner

The writer heard of the "Circus" so curiosity and my penny took me in. It was located down by McKay's pig pen. As I approached I was met by a business likeled with an Al. G. Barnes hat who took my penny. "Baw" "he-haws" "bow-wows" "meows" and many growls came from the wild animals tied in cages and pens which consisted of "Rowdy" the tiger cat, "Betty" the hen that lays the golden eggs, "Snowball" the rabbit, "Billy" the goat, Polly and Johnny champion trailer and trail breakers, "Chub" the pig from Borneo, "Nipper and Cornelius" the hunter dogs and last but not least of the animals were twin boys in khaki suits and pig shaved heads who acted as bears.

Besides this there were two dancing girls, aboy who did stunts on a bike and a whole bunch of clowns.

Farewell Party At Parsonage

A large number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hewitt and family gathered at the Methodist parsonage and tendered them a fare well reception. A short program was presented consisting of a poem by Mrs. R. Lee Theissen which was her own composition. Mrs. Witzel gave a reading entitled "The Ship Wreck". With a few well chosen remarks H. S. Bond expressed the regret of those present that the Hewitt family were leaving Turner to make their home in Salem and as a token esteem presented them with an electric coffee perculator and a pound of coffee. Mr. Hewitt responded in a few words expressing the family's regret to have to leave. He said that they could never forget the friends they had made in Turner.

Later in the evening light refreshments were served after which the guest, in departing, bid the Hewitts farewell and extended their best wishes for success in their new home.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hewitt son Myron and daughter Laverne, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bear and sons Kenneth and Willard, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bear, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Funston, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Riches, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Small, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gunning, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hadley and three children, H. S. Bond, Mesdames Martha Farnett, Mabel Martin, R. O. Witzel, D. B. Parks, R. Lee Theissen, L. J. Rowley, Misses Inez Farnett, Mildred Martin and Carol Kiser, Messrs F. P. Rowley and Cecil Martin and the hostess Rev. Grace Driver.

As An Agriculturalist Sees Farm Board's Job

The new Agricultural Marketing Act approaches farm relief from a materially different point of view from that of former bills before Congress in recent years, says Dean H. L. Russell of Wisconsin, University College of Agriculture in the American Bankers Association Journal.

"It contains a new idea, fraught with the greatest possibilities—the organization of a Federal Farm Board," he says. "It has been possible for farm cooperatives to borrow from Federal aided institutions before, and at a materially lower rate than city business men had to pay for working capital, but this is the first set-up made by the government in which a commission has been carefully chosen to give undivided attention to an effort to solve the problems of a farm group."

"It is hard to conceive of a higher degree of responsibility than must be assumed by this commission. No board ever created by congressional action has been clothed with as wide plenary powers. It is authorized not only to advise but to execute, to plan and put its plans into effective action, to buy and hold, to dump, to dip into the Federal treasury to accomplish its ends with what would be almost unlimited resources to any private commercial concern. The board's only job is to succeed, and no governmental agency even during the war time emergency had a wider latitude."

"Many will think the farm relief program will be universally applicable to the individual land owner or operator. Such procedure is far from the case. Aid is to be extended through cooperative organizations by making it possible for such groups to obtain cash advances to hold crops so as to permit of more orderly marketing. "While the primary relation is with cooperatives, the individual or unorganized farmer will also profit by the activities of his organized fellows. If a stabilized program of merchandising is able to eliminate the surpluses that exert such depressing influence on prices the general price relation should be improved. If this occurs the individual farmer should also benefit.

"It is here the government is proposing a novel attempt in economics. Through stabilization corporations for such commodity it is proposed to make possible the handling of the surplus so as to lessen its disturbing influence on prices. With non-perishable products such a program is, of course, conceivably possible, but one wonders what would happen if a stabilization corporation had to handle a perishable crop in great quantities.

"Is it going to be possible for a stabilization corporation to stabilize? It would be one thing if it had merely to stabilize the American situation, but often that situation is complicated with world conditions. Perhaps the very fact that such a stabilization corporation is in position to function may have a steady effect on the market. "Markets respond to psychological stimuli as do individuals. The very fact that the government has now definitely stepped into the breach with all its resources available to make the new plan work will exert an undoubtedly a strong stabilizing effect."

"It would be presumptuous to forecast what the ultimate effect of the new act will be. It can, however, be definitely stated that in the present plan much of the philosophy that had been so drastically criticized as economically un sound has been eliminated. The existing plan is worth trying. It will undoubtedly cost the Federal treasury no inconsiderable amounts of money, but if it produces the hoped-for result it will have been well worth while."

For Speed Power and Pick-up... a six without a rival at its price

Without a single exception, the Pontiac Big Six is the fastest, most powerful six of its price available today. Its sturdy, 280 cubic inch, L-head engine develops 69 horsepower at moderate engine speed. Its speed and acceleration are the fastest to be found in any low-priced six, according to the "fifth wheel" — the most accurate speed measuring device known to automotive engineers. Unquestionably, today's Pontiac Big Six is the performance leader of its price field — and the style and value leader as well.

PONTIAC BIG SIX 745

If you are interested in a car costing anywhere near Pontiac's price, your own interests demand that you see and drive today's Pontiac Big Six. And when you come in, bring your present car for our appraisal. Its value will probably cover the down payment, leaving only a few dollars per month to pay. And, as you pay, you will be enjoying the finest car of its price the market affords.
