NEARBY AND YONDER

By T. T. MAXEY

"The Golden Bridge"

IN 1873 the Pennsylvania railroad built a 13-span, single track bridge across the Susquehanna river at Havre de Grace, Maryland. In 1904 the railroad built a double-track bridge to replace the old one and offered to present the original bridge to the counties, which it connects as a highway bridge since it is on one of the main routes between Philadelphia and Washington.

Strange to say, the counties turned up their noses, so to speak, and declined to accept the gift. The railroad then offered the bridge to a group of citizens of these two counties, who accepted it promptly, had a romantic vision, "put up" $100 each as a working fund and began to operate it as a toll bridge. Auto traffic developed "by leaps and bounds," and the owners made money "hand over fist." From 1910 to 1923 it is said to have netted them more than $1,000,000, having been nicknamed "The Golden Bridge."

In 1923 the state road commission purchased the structure, under legislative authority, for $585,000, and continued the tolls until it was paid for and improvements were added.

The old span was narrow. Two tracks could not pass. To overcome this handicap and double its capacity, the annual traffic having grown to about 275,000 vehicles, an ingenious plan was worked out, whereby another deck was anchored to the superstructure. Now, all north-bound traffic moves via the upper deck, and all south-bound traffic via the lower or original deck and the tolls have been cancelled.

"The World's Greatest Organ"

BUILT in Los Angeles and exhibited at the St. Louis World's fair in 1904, where it was played by the great organists of the world, this mammoth instrument was subsequently dismantled and remained mute in a St. Louis warehouse for several years.

And then one day its myriad parts were loaded into thirteen box cars and it was treated to a ride to Philadelphia, where it was enlarged—by 50 per cent, and installed in a great court "in the center of the largest building in the world devoted to retail merchandizing." Now, every week day, the passing throngs are privileged to enjoy the melody which peals forth from that which is said to be both the largest and finest, if it is not the very latest improved, musical instrument on earth.

This king of instruments has five manuals, 232 stops and a forest of pipes—17,354, to be exact—ranging in length from three-fourths of an inch to upwards of 37 feet, weighs 375,000 pounds, and including its several blowers of more than 100 horse power—capable of supplying approximately 21,000 cubic feet of air per minute, occupies a space of 118,002 cubic feet. The largest pipe is of wood, 32 feet long, weighs 1,735 pounds and, 'tis said, two men can crawl through it side by side on their hands and knees.

The instrument is played from two consoles—one for ordinary playing and the other for mechanical playing. Needless to say, the organ is majestic—its music, superb.

Statuary Hall

STATUARY HALL, so called, is a great semicircular, high-ceilinged room, with a Grecian theater effect, in our National Capitol in Washington. Formerly used by the house of representatives—its walls have echoed the voices of Webster, Clay, Calhoun and other personages famous in congress in their time—it was set aside in 1864 as a national statuary hall, to which each state might contribute a statue of two of its most distinguished citizens.

Maryland is typified by Charles Carroll, a signer of the Declaration of Independence; Massachusetts by Samuel Adams who helped promote the Revolution; New York by George Clinton, its first governor and Pennsylvania by Robert Fulton, the first inventor to practically apply steam power; Virginia by George Washington, in the military costume of the Revolution and Robert E. Lee, who commanded the army of North Virginia during the Civil war, in the uniform of the Confederate service. Sequoia—a Cherokee Indian half-breed—after whom the big trees of California are said to have been named, who developed a written and printed language for his tribe, represents Oklahoma, while that great woman, Frances E. Willard, the founder of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, symbolizes Illinois. Robed in the buckskin of pioneer days, Sam Houston, who was President of the republic of Texas when annexed by the United States, depicts the Lone Star state. Space prohibits mention of all. Suffice to say the entire ensemble is an imposing gathering of images of the nation's outstanding characters of their day and generation.

Swedes Return to Homeland From Russia

What is believed to be the largest wholesale return of "prodigal sons" ever recorded took place recently in Europe. About two hundred years ago a group of dissatisfied Swedes left their homeland and trekked to South Russia to make their future homes. Here the colony thrived and flourished to more than a thousand. However, since Russia turned Red the colonists, who had kept their identity without mixing a drop of Russian blood in their veins, began to get disgusted with the way things were going in their adopted land, so recently they decided to return to the land of their fathers and they went back in one huge train, whose arrival in Sweden is here shown with Red Cross nurses meeting it.

SHORT ITEMS TO REMEMBER

Vienna, the capital of Austria, has 150,000 more women than men. Manchuria, with a population of 7,500,000, smoked 8,500,000,000 cigarettes last year. One of the famous glaciers is the Mer de Glace in the Alps. It is about 5,700 feet above sea level. Huge handcuffs, more than one hundred years old, were found in the fall of Perquimans county, N. C. More than 95 per cent of the farmers in Denmark own their own farms. In Japan automobiles have to be illuminated inside as well as outside at sunset. Enough telephone wires are used in New York city to reach 35 times to the moon. Twenty-five new buildings are erected in New York city every day and six are demolished. The hippopotamus once roamed the prehistoric forests which flourished near where London now stands.

Bishop All Right, but Oh, You Cannibal King!

The late Avery Hopwood, the brilliant playwright, believed in the younger generation. He said one day at a luncheon in his New York apartment:

"The younger generation is innocent. It talks rough, but it is innocent at heart. It reminds me of the two little girls.

The first little girl was on her way to school when she met the old bishop.

"Haven't you got a kiss for me, my child?" he said.

"So she purred up her little mouth and stood on tiptoe and the old bishop kissed her.

"When she got to school she bragged to her schoolmates:

"I just kissed a bishop."

"Oh, pahaw, that ain't nothin'!" said a second little girl. "Why, at the masquerade ball at the Ocean hotel I kissed a black cannibal king!"

Seamen's Phrase That Might Puzzle Landsmen

"Yes, I like the Bowdoin. She sleeps eleven," said Commander MacMillan to a reporter who greeted him when the ship docked.

"She sleeps eleven?" the reporter questioned.

"Yes," the commander answered. "She sleeps is a term used by sailors or men and obviously means the limit of the ship's accommodations. I was walking through a cemetery in Provincetown, Mass., not very long ago when I saw two old sea captains admiring the tombstone of a prominent ex-resident.

"That's quite a tombstone, I remarked to one of them.

"It is," he answered, "a wonderful tombstone. She sleeps six."

When Food Sours

Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which could be corrected in five or ten minutes. An effective anti-acid like Phillips Milk of Magnesia soon restores digestion to normal.

Phillips does away with all that sourness and gas right after meals. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! And how good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief at best—Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

Next time a hearty meal, or too rich a diet has brought on the least discomfort, try—

Dispute Over Hand Organ

The centenary of the hand organ occurs this year, but there is some dispute in Italy as to whether notice should be taken of the event. In Florence the musical newspaper, Le Staffile, has come out strongly in favor of a fitting celebration, but in Rome La Tribuna is against it. The former believes that the burly-gurdy represents the lowly, and popularizes the Italian opera, La Tribuna wishes to banish forever the "organetto" and the outstretched palm of the attendant monkey.

Rich From "Hot Dogs"

The making and selling of "hot dogs" is fast becoming one of America's big industries. This year, it is estimated, 400,000,000 pounds of these toothsome sausages will be fed to the American public in sandwiches. One stand at Coney Island last year averaged $15,000 every week-end through the season. Then the proprietor, known as "Hot Dog Joe," took his family to Italy, where they lived in affluence through the winter.
