TURNER MAN CONGRATULATES OLD FRIEND ON APPOINTMENT

In 1898, A. D. Hale, who lives east of town, purchased the Peoples Press at Albany and shortly after made the acquaintance of a struggling young attorney, Percy Kelly, who was associated with L. M. Curl at that time. In the five years that Mr. Hale was editor of the Press, he and Mr. Kelly became warm friends, a friendship that has endured through the years. The young attorney became circuit judge and a few days ago was appointed justice of the supreme court to fill the vacancy made by the death of Justice McBride.

Mr. Hale wrote congratulating Mr. Kelly and in turn received the following letter:

Albany, Ore., Sept. 16, 1930.

Mr. A. D. Hale,
Turner, Oregon.

My Dear Friend:

Your splendid letter of congratulations came duly to hand. It is one of the outstanding letters among all the many I have received. I thank you for it and for the expressions of confidence and approval it contains.

The clipping from the Turner Tribune which you enclosed reminds me that you are 79 years young. My heartiest felicitations upon this fact, are yours. I most ardently wish and trust that you may have many more milestones in life's journey. Yours has been not only a life of 79 years but a life of countless and unnumbered deeds of kindness, consideration, and affection. I have, myself, been a beneficiary of these things at your hands and I assure you, my dear friend, that I cherish them in my memory as precious gems in a casket of jewels.

Mrs. Kelly joins me in kindest regards to you and in wishing you many happy returns of your natal day.

Also remember us to Mrs. Hale.
Sincerely yours,
PERCY R. KELLY.

CHRISTAIN CHURCH

The services at the Christian church were well attended Sunday, both morning and evening. Plans are being made for a splendid rally day and homecoming in October. Dr. Epley states he will soon take up his choir practice with his group of singers.

Last Sunday both of Rev. Gilstrap's sermons were addressed to young people just entering another school year.

Next Sunday, September 21, is rally day in the Sunday school. The slogan for the day is "Everyone bring one." A small but worthwhile gift will be waiting at the door for everyone who attends the morning services. A short class session will be held after which will be a program of numbers put on by each of the classes.

All are welcome and urged to attend. We hope to make it a real home coming of former members and friends.

METHODIST CHURCH

A good sized congregation attended Sunday school and church last Sunday. Bro. Burgoyne gave a helpful sermon on the theme "Gossiping," showing the harm that can be done by unbridled tongues; also the good that can be done by tongues consecrated to God.

Merle Pearson and two sons are on a hunting trip in southern Oregon. Mrs. Pearson is carrying the mail while Mr. Pearson is away.

RECITAL AT MRS. HADLEY'S

Pupils and friends spent a very pleasant afternoon with Mrs. May Hadley at her country home Saturday when she presented a group of her pupils in the following program:

Hungary	Koelling
Edith Mickey
The Waltz	From Music Play
Swin High, Swing Low	Rolfe
Ruth Bones
The Duke's Song	G. Verdi
Lowell and May Hadley
Swing Song	Williams
Bidies Singing School	Spaulding
Barbara Roberts
Military Array	Kern
Ruth Burgoyne
Alumni Reunion	Morrison
Edith Mickey and May Hadley
Song of the Plowman	Hartmann
Petite Valse	Atkins
Hildred Bones
First Waltz	Mathews
March of the Little Sages	Mathews
Rachel Garner
Rustle of Spring	Sinding
Dizzy Fingers	Confrey
May Hadley

Following the program the hostess served punch and wafers and a social hour, interspersed with accordion and xylophone music was enjoyed. Present were Mrs. Lawrence Roberts and daughters, Alice and Barbara, Mrs. Mazie Garner, Mrs. I. H. Small, Hildred and Ruth Bones, Geneva Barber, Olga Rachel and Florence Garner, Ruth Burgoyne, Edith Mickey, Lowell Homer Hadley and the hostess, Mrs. Hadley. Five pupils were unable to attend.

C. E. Van Neys was in Turner Wednesday morning exhibiting nine porcupine quills that he removed from the nose of one of his cows Tuesday evening. Mr. Van Neys showed the quills to a number of people here who say they are the first they have seen in this part of the country. The quills are short, which indicates that the porcupine was a young one, and there must be a nest somewhere in the Van Neys pasture.

THE GROWING TOWN

One of the most distinctive characteristics of a growing town, is the enthusiasm and earnestness with which its residents are always talking about that community. The idea of community progress and development is constantly in their minds. They can't keep still about it. They may sometimes overdo the subject, and talk too much about it, yet the advertising they give their town has its effect. People are impressed.

The result of this enthusiasm is that the idea is distributed about the country, and it pervades the people of the town, that they have a very fine community which is on the way to progress. When a town acquires that reputation, you can't hold it back.—Exchange.

Help yourself to the butter.

I Ask You?

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee?—

Or a key to a lock of his hair; Can his eyes be called an academy Because there are pupils there? In the crown of his head what gems may be found?

Who travels the bridge of his nose? Can he use when shingling the roof of his house

The nails on the end of his toes? Can the crook of his elbow be sent to jail?

If so, what did it do? How does he sharpen his shoulder blade?

I'll be hanged if I know—do you? Can he sit in the shade of the palm of his hand;

Or beat on the drum of his ear? Do the calves of his legs eat the corn on his toes?

If so, why not grow corn on the ear? —Hubbard Enterprise

CAREER SHOWS MR. MEIER ESSENTIALLY BUSINESS MAN

Julius L. Meier, Portland business man and candidate for the governorship of Oregon, was born in Portland the last day of the year 1874. His father, Aaron Meier, founded the mercantile business of which his son is now president and manager, in the year 1857.

At the old Park street grade school, the Portland high school, and for a year at the Bishop Scott Military academy, Mr. Meier obtained the foundation for his training in law and the mercantile business. It was the custom in earlier days to begin the study of law in offices of some lawyer or firm of attorneys, and it was thus Mr. Meier began with Dolph, Simon, Mallory and Gearin, a prominent firm in Portland. He continued his study at the University of Oregon, graduating in 1895.

Senator George W. Joseph was practicing law in Portland at this time and soon after graduating, Mr. Meier and Mr. Joseph formed a partnership, which was more than a legal bond, as they became close friends and continued so 35 years until the untimely passing of Mr. Joseph in June of this year.

The law association of Joseph and Meier continued for four years, when Aaron Meier died and Sigmund Frank becoming head of the great mercantile firm of Meier & Frank, called upon the son of his partner to assist in directing its affairs. Shortly afterwards Mr. Joseph became attorney and counsellor for the concern.

Mr. Meier during boyhood and early manhood had put in vacations working in the store at jobs from cash boy up, so was not unfamiliar with its business or its employes.

On Christmas day, 1901, Mr. Meier married Miss Grace Mayer, daughter of pioneers. They have two daughters, who are married, a son, Julius L. Meier, Jr., a student at the University of Oregon, and there are four grandchildren.

Interests of Mr. Meier range broadly. He participated actively with the late John B. Yeon and others in establishing Oregon fine highway system and was president of the Columbia River Highway system four years. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine appointed Mr. Meier to serve on the Mount Hood committee, a federal and state-wide organization, having for its objective the development of that great public area. He is chairman of the Mount Adams Highway committee which is seeking construction of 56 miles of road through the foothills of Mount Adams in Washington and Yakima Indian reservation, making a magnificent scenic and commercial loop of 576 miles.

Aviation, the state chamber, the range, efforts to attract tourists and attlers, as well as the welfare of the lumber and other industries, also have

NEWSPAPER IS DIFFERENT

A mistaken idea with some people is that the newspaper is an individual proposition. If they don't like the editor, they feel they must knock the paper and stand in the way of its success whenever possible. They do not realize that the local paper is just as much a part of the community as the schools, churches or anything else. The newspaper is different from any other business, it is a community affair. It is for service to the people and not for any individual.

You may not like the editor and the editor may not love you any too well—but the paper he is responsible for does just as much for you as the service rendered others. There is nothing personal to do with it, it is here for a purpose and that purpose is to do what good it can in every way it can and the greater the support for those it undertakes to serve the better service it can render. It takes the people to make a good newspaper and without the help of the people no one can run a successful paper. It requires money to operate any kind of business—even the churches, and the paper are no exceptions, and for this reason they must have the financial support of the business interest as well as the good will.

Few newspaper publishers make more than a comfortable living and scarcely one is reported wealthy from money made in the newspaper business. They deserve to be trusted and to be understood by the people—it is the editor and not the plant that makes the newspaper useful in a community, though a liberal patronage is necessary if the paper is to be a credit to the town.

At a recent meeting of the managing board of the Turner Boys Home they voluntarily commended the work which had been done by Rev. E. J. Gilstrap. Following is a copy of the resolution sent to Rev. Gilstrap:

"In view of successful work done for the Turner Boys' Home by the promotional manager, Bro. E. J. Gil-received the consideration and sincere attention of this Portland merchant, who has been selected to carry on his late friend Joseph's platform for the betterment of the state of Oregon.

RECEIVES KANSAS CALL

The church at Kinsley, Kansas, where Rev. Gilstrap ministered eight years ago heard recently that Mr. Gilstrap had resigned his work as promotional manager of Turner Boys' Home and sent him a call to return to their leadership.

Mr. Gilstrap has declined the call, stating that his work in Turner as pastor of the Christian church seems to be just begun and he prefers to remain even though the salary be smaller.

W. O. Roysse of West Stayton has on exhibition at his place, a cucumber of unusual size. The cuke weighed 3 pounds when picked, measured 10½ inches around the center and is 12½ inches long. Mr. Roysse also has a couple of large pumpkins that he will take to the state fair next week. Either one of them will be a load for the Lizzie.

Some Aumsville boys while rambling through the woods south of town ran across a can of malt and a couple of dozen bottles. The cache was covered with moss. The find indicates that some one has good intentions.

ON COLORADO TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Woosley and son, William Woosley and bride, left Monday morning for a trip to Colorado. They will visit Clarence Woosley and family at Henderson and Harvey Woosley and family at Fort Morgan. From there they will go to Nickerson, Kan., to visit Mrs. Woosley's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffries. They plan on being gone about six weeks and no doubt will have a very pleasant visit with relatives and friends.

strap, during his term of office, and in appreciation of his services, be it resolved, that the local board of management extend to Bro. Gilstrap our best wishes and thanks for his untiring efforts; and, be it further resolved that we congratulate him on the way that he did the clerical work and his strict accounting of all business actions."
