NUMBER 5

Julius Meier Wins The Governorship Race By 20,000 More Than The Combined Total Of His Three Opponents

Statement of Mr. Meier

My heart is too full for adequate expression. The rallying of voters throughout the state of Oregon to the cause I represent is a tribute to the great leader whose platform I have championed—my friend and associate for many years, the late Senator George W. Joseph.

For those things for which he stood, I stand. I shall try to the utmost of my ability to carry out the program which he initiated and which I have consistently espoused. The problem is a big one. The influence of the power monopoly must and will be loosened. Installation of business methods in government where political expediency has ruled will not be a simple task.

Julius L. Meier

But I face it all with confidence knowing that the people are with me. Let us forget the differences of the campaign that is past and go forward together, for Oregon, its people, their welfare and prosperity! Those who have expressed their belief, through their votes, in the ideals for which I stand will not find their trust misplaced. From those who have disagreed with those principles, I can only ask for respectful attention to the manner in which I hope to fulfill my duties.

In conclusion, let me say again how inadequate words are at such a time. May I be given strength to meet the grave responsibilities which lie before me.

(Signed) JULIUS L. MEIER.

Birthday Party

A group of small friends gathered at the L. E. Peterson home Saturday and celebrated the birthdays of Hazel, age 8, and Mary, 6, with playing games. Mrs. Peterson served refreshments to the guests. In the group were Betty Peetz, Leta, Ruth and Lester Bones, Lorraine Barnett, Eugene and Juanita Noah, Elaine Morris, Bernadine White, Clarence Creech, Kenneth Barber, Eugene Harrison, Keith and Bobby Ball, Ruth Burgoyne, Stanford Prather, Edward and Robert Hatfield, Marion Parks, Mrs. James Noah, Mrs. Dean Morris and small daughter, Phyllis, Mrs. Roy Hatfield and daughter Aliene, Mrs. L. R. King and daughter, Anna, of Marion, the honor guests, Hazel and Mary, the hostess, Mrs. Peterson, and small daughters, Ella and Ruby, and son Hirschel.

GUNNING'S HAVE WONDERFUL TRIP--VISIT FORMER TURNERITES ENROUTE

We certainly had a most delightful trip but to understand how wonderful it was you would have to see it for yourselves. The first stop was Salt Lake City, where we took a sightseeing bus in which we saw not only the city but the surrounding country as well. The Mormons were certainly preserving people to wrench not only a living but built up a beautiful city in that alkali soil. Every shrub and tree has been set out and has to be watered every day and every lawn is made of soil shipped in. The pastel colorings of the lake itself made a sight never to be forgotten.

The next day we had the thrill of going through the Royal Gorge. We spent nearly a week in Colorado getting acquainted with a sister-in-law with whom we had corresponded for years but never seen.

Do you remember Frank Tebow and wife who furnished the music for some special meetings Rev. Pogue put on? We visited them in Malcom, Iowa, where he had held a pastorate in the Baptist church for two years. But to our surprise he had resigned to go to school some more. They were going to Chicago the evening of the same day we started for Topeka.

We visited in eleven places in Kansas, entering on the 15th of September and leaving the 15th of October, but in the meantime we ran down into Oklahoma spending a week with the nephew, wife and sonny boy who visited us three years ago, and also made a short visit on a great aunt and cousin in the northern part of the state. Oklahoma looked the hardest hit by drought of any state we were in, but relief came while we were there in four days of regular Oregon mist. Our nephew took us through a cotton gin explaining all the different processes and it was one of the most interesting things we saw. The cotton crop in California looked superior to that of Oklahoma this year.

In southern California we looked up Frank Olson, formerly teacher in Parrish junior high, Salem, and his daughter, Evelyn, who is studying nursing now; Walter Welton and wife, who at one time lived in Turner, later moving to Salem. He is now assistant pastor of the Methodist church in Riverside; Sarah Bridgeman and her people—she is attending college in Pasadena; Loretta Starr and sister, Mrs. Miller of Glendale, both sister of Mrs. Nellie Hamilton. They were so kind as to drive us into Los Angeles where we took lunch with Mrs. Mildred Hanna Pietsch. Her husband had already started on his evangelistic tour, being in Michigan at the time. She hoped to join him in a couple of weeks, then they were going to Australia to hold meetings. We also spent a day and a half with Mrs. May Hagadorn in Alhambra. The Ericksons, who lived in the little house next to our school house here in Turner about six months some years ago, came in for another short visit. They are living in Selma, Calif., now. The little city was celebrating its golden anniversary the day we were there. They took us to Fresno next morning where we caught a fast train for San Francisco. There we visited Brother Edward Durfee and two cousins and did a little sightseeing, then stopped in Vallejo to visit Marie Durfee Leighton and family and then hurried home, taking the Klamath Falls cutoff, covering the distance in 20 hours and 15 minutes.

The only drawback was lack of time—we needed at least another month. Everywhere they said, "Oh, if you could only stay longer." It was interesting to notice the different crops in the several states. Nearly everything was sugar beets in Colorado, corn in Iowa, wheat in Kansas (and oh, the delicious watermelons and sweet potatoes, em! em! we shall never forget), cotton in Oklahoma and citrus fruits in California. But of all the places visited we saw no place we'd rather live than in good old Turner, Oregon.

Surprise Party

Mrs. F. C. Delzell was pleasantly surprised Saturday evening when members of her Sunday school class and friends gathered at her home to welcome her back, after a six weeks' visit in the east. Needless to say a very pleasant time was spent by all present and the evening passed all too soon.

Refreshments were served at a late hour. Those enjoying the evening were: Misses Nellie Barber, Helen and Helena Witzel, Ruth and Josephine Gilstrap, Edra and Anna Johnson, Maxine and Mildred Spencer, Leona Cook, Olga Garner, Gertrude Anderson, Messrs. James Denyer, Willett Jesse, Kenneth Bear, Harold and Kenneth Fowler, Felix Taylor, John and Morris Baker, Otis Brooks, Maxwell McKay, Alvin Garner, LeRoy Warner, Esmond Tappin, Sam Smith, Frank Sacks, Mrs. William Anderson, Mrs. B. Dumback and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Delzell and daughter, Sheila.

Community Club

The Turner Community club will meet Monday evening, November 10, and a program of interest is promised.

Everyone is urged to be present. Bring a neighbor, especially the new comers and help all to become acquainted thereby creating a better community spirit.

Light refreshments will be served and the ladies are asked to bring a pumpkin pie. Remember the date, Monday, November 10.

Hallow'en Party

Miss Helen Peetz, Mrs. Geo. Brower and Mrs. M. O. Pearson were chaperones when a number of Turner high school students held a Hallow'en party in the old haunted house in the hills Friday night.

The young people found the place haunted by some real ghosts who were recognized in spite of their unghost-like costumes and position.

Refreshments were served to Miss Sheila Delzell, Miss Myrtle Pysol, Miss Nellie Barber, Miss Josephine Gilstrap, Miss Gladys Givens, Miss Helen Peetz, Kenneth Bear, Willette Jesse, Russell Denyer, Harold Smith, James Denyer, Mrs. George Brower and Mrs. M. O. Pearson.

CRAWFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Templeton of Halsey spent Sunday with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Little and Richard Walker.

Owen Thomason and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker and daughter, Mona, of Portland, and Miss Lillian Slagel of Salem were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Thomason.

Mrs. Thomas Little was hostess to a group of friends honoring her husband on his birthday, Monday evening. The evening was spent with music and games, after which ice cream and cake were served. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. U. E. Denyer and daughter, Emma, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Titus and children, Alice and Glen, Richard Walker, Joe Widner and Mr. and Mrs. Little.

Two $10,000 Damage Suits Started Against Southern Pacific

Relatives of Turner Women Killed by Labor Day Crash, Plaintiffs.

Two damage suits, each for $10,000, against the Southern Pacific company and L. C. Williams were yesterday filed in circuit court by relatives of two of the five women who were killed Labor day in a train accident near Turner. Plaintiffs in the suit are A. E. Robertson, administrator of the estate of Aylene Robertson, and H. M. Barnett, administrator of the estate of Inez Barnett.

Williams was the engineer of the train which struck the car in which the Turner women were riding, going to Salem to work in the canneries.

The complaint accuses the Southern Pacific company and its agent, the engineer, of careless and negligence in the operation of the train and alleges that, contrary to the ordinance No. 72 of the city of Turner regulating speed of trains in the city limits, the defendant was driving said train at speed in excess of 35 miles an hour, and from 60 to 65 miles an hour.

The complaint further alleges that defendants failed, upon approaching crossing, to blow a whistle, ring a bell or give any signal; and in failing to keep a proper lookout for vehicular traffic upon the public crossing.

Aylene Robertson was 17 years old and Inez Barnett 15 years old when killed. Both were in good health the complainants state and had they lived during their expectancy, each would have saved and accumulated money and property, the estate of which in each case would amount to $10,000.—Capital Journal.

then we are not only trusted with the keeping of our own souls but that of someone else's. Do we dare be so busy here and there that opportunity is allowed to slip through our fingers and our loved one's blood be found on our hands? We, who bear the precious name of Christian have to look out that that name entrusted to our keeping is kept untarnished.

Next Sunday morning Bro. Bond will bring the message. Everyone is invited to be present.

The Ladies Aid served the public with lunch in Gower's store building Tuesday noon and dinner for the Brotherhood, 7:30, Tuesday evening. Thursday they hold their monthly silver tea at the home of Mrs. Lee Thiessen.

Thursday evening prayer meeting, followed by choir practice.

Everyone will find a very cordial welcome at the little church around the corner. Come.

The November meeting of the Methodist Men's Brotherhood was held in the church Tuesday, November 5. There were only a few men present and the meeting was in the nature of a round table discussion in planning work for the coming year.

A committee consisting of Ivan Hadley, D. B. Parkes, C. H. Jesse, J. L. Webb, Ted Whitehead and A. L. Bones was appointed to arrange for a community father and son banquet.

H. S. Bond and Prof. John Cox were appointed to arrange for an oratorical contest on world peace to be held sometime in January if feasible.

Other items of interest were discussions on building up church membership and membership of the Brotherhood, an invitation extended by Rev. Burgoyne for the Brotherhood to take charge of one church service, and an invitation from M. A. Groves of the West Salem church to meet with the men of West Salem next Monday night for the purpose of organizing a Brotherhood there.

NORTH SANTIAM

Gospel meetings will be held at the North Santiam church Sunday night, November 9, and every night of the week following, except Saturday night, by Evangelist E. K. Bailey of Cosmopolis, Wash. The meeting Sunday night will start at 8 o'clock and at 7:30 on the week day nights.

Mr. Bailey is well known by many of the people in the North Santiam and other nearby communities and these many friends and acquaintances will welcome the opportunity to hear of his gospel messages. An invitation is extended to every one to attend these meetings. They will be helpful to all.

METHODIST CHURCH

Two very interesting church services were enjoyed at the Turner Methodist church Sunday with good attendance both morning and evening.

A few members of the Christian church worshipped with us in the evening as their pastor was out of town. The subject for the evening was "Misplaced Emphasis," and the text was Luke 10:20, "Rejoice not that the spirits are subject unto you; but rejoice that your names are written in heaven."

The morning text was I Kings 20:40, "While thy servant was busy here and there he was gone." Rev. Burgoyne showed us how we are trusted with the keeping of our souls and through neglect—busy here and there—we are in danger of losing them, and what is even more startling, it is said, "everyone is a key to someone else's heart." If this be true
