SOUP FOR SOUP STRAINERS

By Max McKay

Oh boy, what fine weather we've been having the past few days. Old man sunshine has been working overtime and if he continues to do so we'll be having "spring opening" as the next big event of the season. Whoopie

We always did like "spring opening" in Salem. You just walk around the many blocks and see the spring styles being exhibited, especially the dress and corset shops. Boy, what a thrill to see those models wearing a big "smile."

There's one thing we can't understand and that is, why Papa Einstein, the great German scientist, stopped at Mt. Wilson to look at the stars when he could have gone to Hollywood and looked at the "stars," and wouldn't have had to use a telescope either, besides it would be easier on the eyes.

We're afraid that if we ever looked at one of those Hollywood "tsars" we'd be an astronomer for life.

By thunder'n lightnin' we walked up to the school house the other night via the dirt path, and darned near got stuck in the mud. If it hadn't been for a life line, in the form of a bush hanging over the edge, we would have drowned.

We suggest that they move the side walk from the highway over one block and then we could go to the school house with dry feet.

Besides we have a library and museum and will have to have a sidewalk to get up to it. That is, us who drive "shang's horses."

We understood that the chief of police cast a man into the city jail, overnight. Hurray for the cops. This makes the second person to be in our little cell, the first being a well known local boy.

We've sure got a swell police system here. The other morning H. R. Peetz while waiting for his morning paper at the corner grocery was greeted by the words "stick 'em up." Peetz reached for the sky and said "Don't shoot, you can have the darn seventeen cents." But much to his surprise and relief the assailant was the chief of police.

Now that's what we call fine pussy footin' George. Keep it up.

There's one big move we've gotta make in our little town folks. The "little yellow shack."

Things we'd like to see—An unobstructed view from the west side of the railroad track to the business section of town.

Cecil Martin buy one cigar per day. Hollis Bones driving fast.

H. R. Peetz be made water commissioner, so he would have control of all the city's power.

The city put on an extensive building and improvement program. The unemployed go to work.

A good way to invite peddlers and salesmen to your house would be to erect a sign in the front yard "men at work."

The massive gates of circumstance, Are turned upon the smallest hinge, Thus some seeming petty chance Oft gives our life an after tinge. Continued next week.

A Woman's Working Time

The eight hour day and the five and a half day week is quite generally established in business. This makes a 44 hour week.

In the home, however, recent surveys show that the farm woman works 61 and a quarter hours a week, the city dweller is not exactly an idler, either. Her working time is 49 and a half hours a week. Almost endless hours of cooking, dishwashing, cleaning, mending, sewing, washing and ironing. The rest of the time they have to themselves unless one of the children is ill, or something else develops to upset the customary schedule.

Electricity has contributed in no small measure to reducing the working hours of BUSINESS.

It can reduce the working hours in the home as well. Electrical appliances not only cut down the working hours but make the week more pleasant by relieving you of the heaviest and least pleasant part of the work.

Cut down your working time! You can use it to much better advantage in other ways.
