RASKOB OWNS DEMOCRATIC PARTY; WILL CHOOSE PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE

John J. Raskob, multi-millionaire financier of the Democratic party, will hand-pick the next Democratic candidate for the presidency, in the opinion of Frank R. Kent, Democratic columnist for the Democratic Baltimore Sun and one of the shrewdest political observers in America. In a recent column Mr. Kent not only declares that Raskob owns the Democratic party and will govern its choice of a candidate in 1932 but also asserts that should the candidate be elected, the New York financier "will be entitled to anything he wants under the administration."

Because of Mr. Kent's high standing in the world of journalism and because he is acknowledged to be one of the foremost Democratic writers in the country, his charges hold unusual significance. Declaring flatly that it is "not reasonable" to believe that Mr. Raskob's extraordinary financial support of the Democratic party is "wholly disinterested and unselfish," Mr. Kent observes laconically, "men like Mr. Raskob do not operate that way."

The Sun columnist remarks further that "there is nothing in Mr. Raskob's record to show that he is either a sucker who throws money recklessly around or a Democrat through principle, preference or conviction. On the contrary, Mr. Raskob is a typical hard-boiled multi-millionaire. As far as his Democracy is concerned he became a Democrat solely because of the Smith candidacy. Prior to 1928 he consistently contributed to and voted for the Republican candidates including Coolidge, Harding and Hughes."

"The fact is," Mr. Kent declares, "that the completeness with which he finances the party means that he controls—or can when he wants—its publicity and fixes its direction. It means that no one unacceptable to him personally and out of tune with his ideas can be nominated in 1932. It means that if the party wins the presidency next time it will be Raskob's money that made it possible and he will be entitled to anything he wants under the administration. And the answer to that is, why not? Certainly he will have paid for it."

Analyzing the unique situation which places a great political party with millions of adherents completely in the power of one man, Mr. Kent says: "The extent to which he (Mr. Raskob) has become the actual owner of the party machinery, which for all practical purposes is the party, was never so completely revealed, however, as on last Friday when Mr. Gerard, treasurer of the committee, filed his annual report with the House of Representatives."

"It was then made plain that there just isn't anything else to the party organization except Mr. Raskob. He has taken over all its liabilities, assumed all its debts and is paying out of his own pocket all its running expenses, far heavier now than before. He not only has reduced the party deficit which was nearly a million dollars to $628,000, but has assumed responsibility for the $628,000. The party now owes Mr. Raskob personally nearly a quarter of a million dollars."

"It was Mr. Raskob," Mr. Kent continues, "who expanded the Washington headquarters, put Mr. Shouse in charge and is paying all its operating expenses, including $27,000 a year to Mr. Shouse's brother-in-law, Mr. Waller B. Hunt, who is in charge of 'organization,' and $21,000 a year to Mr. Charles Michelson, whose two-year publicity campaign has marked a new development in politics. Also, he pays Mrs. Nellie Ross $8500, presumably for work among women. Further, Mr. Raskob, it seems, sent personal contributions to various Democratic senatorial and congressional candidates in the last campaign. Add up all these items and the Raskob ownership of the party seems pretty well established. Never in the 135 years of its history has it been so heavily obligated to a single individual. Never has any party been so deeply in debt to one man. The thing is unprecedented."
