Community Club Election Monday Night

M. E. BROTHERHOOD HOLDS LAST MEETING FOR THE SUMMER

The last regular meeting of the Methodist Brotherhood for the summer was held in the church, Monday evening, June 1. The program consisted of group singing; devotional, led by the Chaplain, H. S. Bond; Solo, D. B. Parkes; Some of the problems and an explanation of the workings of the prohibition enforcement, by State Prohibition Enforcement Agent, George Alexander; and the business session.

The greatest problem in the enforcement of the prohibition laws is the misrepresentation of the laws, their efforts and methods of enforcing them. If the people would take an interest there would be nothing to enforcing the laws, said Mr. Alexander. Some suggestions were given showing how we can all help his department and several bulletins were left for more detailed information.

The ladies of the community were invited to be present at this meeting to hear Mr. Alexander and several members of the W. C. T. U. were interested listeners.

Mr. E. Robinson gave a very interesting report on the district Brotherhood meeting held at Woodburn last week.

During the business session several bills were ordered paid. On a motion by C. A. Bear the present officers were elected in a body for another year. A motion by H. S. Bond that the next regular meeting of the Brotherhood be held the first Monday in October, was carried. The meeting then adjourned to the parsonage for a short social hour.

Mrs. L. J. Rowley and son F. P. motored to Amity Friday morning. Mrs. Rowley remained for Memorial Day, returning home Sunday.

METHODIST CHURCH

Last Sunday we celebrated the Lord's Supper. A very sacred, beautiful service.

At the business meeting of the church D. B. Parkes was elected delegate to the Laymen's conference which meets in Eugene the 26th of this month. Ivan Hadley was elected alternate.

A very interesting and profitable session of the Brotherhood was held last Monday night at the church. The ladies were invited in, also members from the other church as many as they could get word to after hearing at a late hour, definitely as to the speaker of the evening. At the close of the meeting the ladies invited the Brotherhood over to the parsonage where they had a little surprise for them in the form of light refreshments.

Only three more Sundays before annual conference. Let everybody come and enjoy the fine sermons Rev. Burgoyne gives us. We never know whether we'll get our good pastor back from Conference or not, they so often send them elsewhere.

June Graduates

June, the month of roses—also the month of brides, sweet girl graduates, and other things that poets rave over and the less poetic rave about in this particular June time, is putting forth the signs and proofs of its presence in the usual fashion, aside from some vagaries in connection with the weather. The surest evidence that June, apart from the calendar, is in the breaking out of the baccalaureate address and the harvesting of the annual crop of diplomas by the young men and young women who go forth to solve the problems of the world.

June should not be allowed to pass without a tribute to these graduates of the schools and colleges. Bless their hearts, every one of them! They furnish inspiration for the humorous and satiric paragraphs, but their ideals and their enthusiasm serve the country well, even if the harder school of experience into which they are entering is disinclined to take a lot of the idealism out of them. Some of the latter quality may stick—enough perhaps to make itself felt in the years to come.

There was a time when idealism of the kind that has characterized the baccalaureate sermons of the men of many scholastic degrees and the essays and orations of the budding citizenry since colleges were founded in the country, was considered "academic." But it has come to pass that leaders in government and in the business world are no longer ashamed to urge and strive by precept and action to make ideals operative in statecraft and in commerce and industry. It is the reward, in some measure, that is coming at least to the perseverance of youth through several generations of graduating hope and enthusiasm. The sweet girl graduate, especially whose essay, prettily tied with pink or blue ribbon, had poor chance of bourgeoning into deeds, has been constitutionally qualified to make her ideals felt throughout the ballot and in places heretofore limited to man.

TURNER LOSES SUNDAY'S BALL GAME TO LUMBER JACKS 4-3

Last Sunday Turner ball tossers went to Mill City where they dropped a Cascade league game to the Lumber Jacks.

The home boys had no business to lose that game, but they simply did not get started right and consequently lost.

The Lumber Jacks outthit Turner and when the smoke cleared the score was 4-3. Mill City made four errors while Turner made seven.

Batteries, Mill City, Meyers and Libbey. Turner, Webb, Russell and Shultz.

STUDENTS GREETED BY FULL HOUSE FRIDAY EVENING

The "Ulster," a three act comedy, was presented by the Hi School Student, Friday evening, with Russell Denyer taking the leading part. Other students in the cast were Harold Smith, Sheila Delzell, Lela Wilkening, Helen Witzel, Josephine Gilstrap, Kenneth Fowler, Wallace Chandler, Leona Cook, Seymour Stewart, Alvin Garner, Clayton Neer, Le Roy Warner; Tom Swales, Homer Mitchel.

Mrs. John Cox furnished the piano music while Mrs. Mae Hadley played the accordion.

The auditorium was filled to capacity with an interested and appreciative audience.

Margaret Robertson, Katherine Schampier, Helena Witzel and Opal Wickenham, ushers, sold candy during intermissions for the benefit of the Student Body fund.

ACHIEVEMENT DAY AT TURNER SCHOOL

Friday was in every way a big achievement day at the Turner School, commencing at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Mea Padley's piano students in recital, followed by a style show and musical program by the Economic Class of the High School.

At 3 o'clock, under the leadership of Mrs. John R. Cox, the 4H Sew and So sewing club put on their Achievement Day program. They also exhibited their sewing in the Science room and awards were made as follows, tea or hand towel, first, LaVerne Whitehead; second, Aleta Bones, third, Ruth Gilstrap, fourth, Marjory Fowler; hotdish holder, first, LaVerne Whitehead, second, Aleta Bones, third, Marjory McKay, fourth, Evelyn Jensen; fancy hot dish holder, Lucille Bones; bags napkin holders, etc., first, Margaret Schiffer, second, Geneva Barber, third, LaVerna Whitehead; needle case, first, LaVerna Whitehead, second, Stella Barnett, third, Margaret Gilstrap; stocking darn, first, La Verna Whitehead, second, Margaret Gilstrap, third, Frances Clark; fourth, Eleanor Parkes; pajamas, aprons and gowns, first, Mildred Bones, second, LaVerna Whitehead, second, Margaret Gilstrap, third, Alice Fowler; Sample book, first, Margaret Gilstrap, second, Marjory Fowler, third, Margaret Gilstrap.

La Verna Whitehead won the scholarship at Oregon State College, Mildred Bones, second and Margaret Gilstrap third. The later two girls received a nice picture each. Owing to the fact that LaVerna is under the age limit for students attending O. S. C., she will not go until next summer when, it is hoped, we will have another club winner to go with her, also that the cost of the scholarship will be available.

Clarissa Clark was the only one taking second year work and as there was no competition no awards were made in this division, however much favorable comment was heard from both judges and visitors in regard to her work.

Mrs. Hoksey and Miss Blankinship of Salem served as judges.

Mythical "Summer Slump"

In early and experimental stages of advertising certain months of the year were poor in business. Mid summer was one of these periods and "the summer slump" became a byword among merchants. It was accepted as a necessary and incurable evil. Instead of increasing their advertising to improve business, merchants virtually suspended advertising on the theory that business was not to be had.

Suddenly someone discovered that "the summer slump" was an hallucination of an unbusinesslike mind. It must have been a distinct shock to the old timers when they discovered that the reason they were not doing business in the summertime was because they were doing no advertising. It did not speak well for the vision of these pioneer business men that they were so long in learning this secret of advertising; that advertising should be used most extensively at those periods in the year when business needs an artificial stimulant. The business of advertising is to make business.

With the aid of newspaper advertising many businesses have transformed the "summer slump" into a "summer boom." They have produced goods the public needs and wants during the warm months and have carried the news to the consumers through advertising.

Those who have something to sell—locally or nationally—will neither see nor feel this mythical summer slump if they do more and better advertising. There is more employment and therefore money in circulation during June, July and August than during any other three months in the year. Then why should there be less business?

Mrs. J. M. Bones received word Saturday that her cousin Dr. Lester Smith had died in Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Smith both held government position until a short time ago when they found it necessary, on account of the doctor's failing health, to return to the United States. They were stationed in the Hawaiian Islands.

Half Of Cherry Crop Stolen

Last week while Mr. Endleott was looking over his hay and cherry crop, he was well satisfied with the outlook, but on coming back this week he found that the cherry crop was more than half gone. He said he counted five cherries on the first trip but now there were only two, so ever half his cherry crop is gone, having been stolen. I have a full line of good padlocks that are rust proof priced from 25c and up. Look up your things and be safe. Better have your mowers and binders repaired now. Don't wait till the last minute. I have sections, guards for mowers and binders on hand.
