Uncle Sam Helps Schools.

Spokane, Wash.—Voters in seven school districts near Port Lapwai, Idaho, will be asked to decide whether a township high school is to be organized at the election this month. The organization plan provides for the consolidation of seven districts, and an organization which will include the Indian departmental school at Port Lapwai. This will be the first time in the history of the Northwest that Uncle Sam has joined with the people to educate the youth of the district. The Indian children, under the plans proposed, will enter the district schools in the district in which they reside.

SUTTON PLANNED TO KILL

Managing Statement Made by Colonel Boyen. Annapolis, July 13.—The forthcoming re-investigation of the death in 1907 of Lieut. James N. Sutton, U. S. M. C., of Oregon, who, according to the finding of the prior investigators, committed suicide, promises to reveal some sensational details. It is said that witnesses have been discovered who can testify that on the night he met his death Lieut. Sutton had not been drinking unduly, and that he left Carvel Hall in an automobile with Lieuts. Adams, Roelker, Osterman and Uley. Colonel Boyen, commandant of the marine barracks when Sutton died, yesterday made a statement saying that in a dispute after the machine entered the grounds, Lieut. Sutton was the aggressor. He further says Sutton was placed under arrest, which he broke, and arming himself with two revolvers he started out to hunt up and kill those who had been his companions. He finally killed himself.

Trial of Murgatroyd Begun.

St. Helens, Or., July 12.—A case likely to develop sensational features before it is concluded was begun in the state circuit court of Columbia county here this afternoon, when George Murgatroyd was placed on trial for the murder at Goble last December of Robert Livingstone, an aged section hand in the employ of the Northern Pacific, who was supposed to have accumulated considerable money, which he kept hid in the cabin in which he was found dying.

THE HAWAIIAN BUILDING, A-Y-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

The building erected at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition for the exclusive use of the Hawaiian Islands, occupies a prominent position on the Court of Honor next the central government structure. Hawaii has prepared a more extensive and comprehensive exhibit of its marvelous resources than for any other world's fair. It will show all of its native fruits and vegetables; will offer an aquarium of live fish, and in various other ways interest the fair visitors. Fruits will be served by native girls and native orchestras and singers will be always on hand. A tank in the center of the structure will show the islands as they rest in the Pacific Ocean. Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in assembling Hawaii's display.

LOOKING ACROSS GEYSER BASIN AT HORTICULTURAL HALL.

No fairer scene can be offered any place than the outlook from the foot of the Alaska Monument on the grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. Standing directly in front of the great building of the United States Government, the enormous golden eagle on his towering perch of northern gold keeps watch and guard over the most perfect exposition city that has ever been reared. Under his eye are gathered the rarest collection of man's examples of skill and art ever assembled, and these find shelter in a magnificent group of permanent and temporary buildings, whose architectural design and clever construction exemplify the very highest of man's inventive ability. At night when the long twilight of the northern latitudes close down, the manifold beauties of the spot show their greatest charm. With the fading of day comes the romance of evening and the millions of lamps, made brilliant by electricity, flash their rainbow tints over a land such as fairies might have builded. The rushing, tumbling torrents of the Cascades pour their enormous volume over a bed covered by electric bulbs, and from the quiet pool of Geyser Basin are reflected as in a mirror. Electrolights of French design are lavishly scattered beneath the trees, and from their clear rays the fields of flowers are seen in added hues.
