PLANS MUCH IMPROVEMENT

The preference. Plans will be asked from all the architects and when a plan is selected all bids will be asked for on that plan alone, with an understanding that the city will employ a man to superintend the work, other than the architect.

There are several new residences being constructed now and the lumber dealers report that they have numerous bills to figure on so that all parts of the city will make substantial gains.

The first street work will be four blocks of 14 foot cement walks on Oregon street, then there are many places not connected, in some instances missing in front of one lot, in others half or full block and these will all be connected up.

If the people will report any street lamps not burning it will help the lighting system and be appreciated. The old plan of sprinkling the streets is not satisfactory and Mr. Fraser is looking up the matter of using crude oil.

Altogether the prospects for Ontario this year are certainly very bright and when the railroad improvements are started it will add much to the development.
