RIVERSIDE NEWS

The west end of the tunnel struck a vein of water, or water spout they call it. They are using four 8-inch centrifugal pumps, but these are not sufficient to keep the water down. They will have to get a larger supply of pumps before work can be continued. In the east end there is warm water, but not enough to stop work. The tunnel will not be finished until August.

W. W. Brown, a contractor about four miles from here finished his grade contract of two miles this week and left for Price, Utah, where he has a contract on the Cole road.

Corey Bros. still have about six weeks work on their contract then everything will be ready for track laying.

Mike Bliss, a station man on Corey Bros. contract finished work about two weeks ago.

The crew at Camp 14 of the Utah Construction Co. will do the grading from Riverside to Crane Creek gap and will begin work about the 15 of March.

George Hansen deputy sheriff of Bruneau, Idaho who has been at the Hole in the Ground for some time for the purpose of breaking up a band of horse thieves left last week with nine head of horses.

Dr. Bartlett, of Vale, was at the home of Ben Jones the last week in February. Mr. Jones' little boy has been very sick with pneumonia.

School at Riverside will be out the last of March.

Both the Middle and South Fork of the Malheur river are very high now and still rising.

Farmers are turning their cattle out and the grass is due. There has been no mud for a month.

Obituary.

Parents—John and Nancy Cooledge; born at Erie, Penn., Jan. 8, 1838; removed when a child with her parents to Illinois; where she grew to womanhood, and wed J. H. Ingersoll, cousin to the brilliant agnostic, a lawyer, who practiced in the Kansas courts till his death at Salina, in 1872; removed with her four children, Charles, Ella, Hattie and Junius, to Joplin, Mo., where Charlie and Ella died; married Dr. M. A. McGaveran, and practiced medicine with him till 1882; came to Ontario, Oregon, five years later to make her home with Hattie (Mrs. J. A. Draper) and from which she was buried in the Ontario cemetery beside her loved little grandchildren, Feb. 21, 1913.

Such, in the briefest possible phrases, is the merest outline of a beneficent life, which like all serious life expressed itself in the utmost simplicity. She was early prepared for a useful and successful life by graduation from the Bennett Medical College of Illinois (Eclectic School). She joined the church (Christian) at an early age, and was always true to her convictions. Her vigorous intellectual life expressed itself in many articles for papers and magazines, each bearing the stamp of her own strength and individuality. Her physical powers did not begin to decay until about two years ago. Her mind was bright to the last. The happiest period of her life seemed to be the last quarter-century lap in the home of her daughter, with her grandchildren, John, Bert and Ina, (Mrs. Defoe.) Bert was her almost constant companion during the last year, who was with her when the end came. The address at her burial was delivered by her old friend, Rev. B. L. Milligan, ably assisted by Rev. Philip Koenig of the Congregational church. Mortals can claim no fairer fame—
Hollower than any other—
Nor angels learn a sweeter name,
Than the name and fame of "Mother!"

AUTOMOBILE GREAT TIME SAVER FOR THE FARMER

Lost articles in both the daily press and weekly and monthly magazines describing the various uses and advantages of the auto to the city man are very common says R. F. Thompson, traveling representative of the Howard Automobile company, Pacific coast distributors of the Buick and National cars, but the man to whom an auto is really a necessity, is the man living in the country and the further he lives from a city the more necessary the auto becomes, not only to his pleasure, but to the successful and economical operation of his farm.

He and the Buick representative of Stockton called on a prospect located on a large wheat farm about 40 miles from the slough city and as the farmer was just in the midst of his plowing and seeding, he was unable to give them time for even a short demonstration, but it was near lunch time he invited them to stay and take lunch with him. This they agreed to do and just as the big gasoline engine was slowing down for the noon stop a casting on it gave way. This, of course, put a stop to all further work until repairs were made. Ordinarily it would have been necessary to wait until the following morning for a train, then take the broken part to Stockton and have it welded and wait until the next morning for a train home.

This method would have caused a delay of exactly two days during which time the farmer would have been forced to pay his entire crew full time all of which would have been a dead loss.

Thompson thought this a good opportunity to make a practical demonstration so suggested that the casting be loaded into the tonneau of the little Buick and that they then drive to Stockton, have lunch there while the part was being repaired by the electric welding process and return to the ranch in the afternoon. This plan was put into execution. The 40 mile drive was made in one hour and twelve minutes, forty-five minutes were consumed by lunch and the welding process and the return trip was made in one hour and eight minutes. This brought the little Buick back to its starting point in exactly 3 hours and fifteen minutes.

Thompson states that while the engineer was busy securing the repaired part to the tractor, the ranchman was busy writing out a check for a duplicate of the car which had just saved him so much time and money and his parting salute was "Now hurry that little Buick right out here, as I cannot afford to be without it another day."

A BETTER HOME

Does your home give you all the comfort and satisfaction you would like?

There's a big difference in homes.

Some have the cozy inviting atmosphere which makes men want to hurry back. Others are pleasant enough, but they lack something.

Those little touches that make houses cozy and home like are not hard to obtain. They are not the expensive things. A new chair with the right atmosphere here; a new little table there; a few things and your home is transformed.

Let your home grow with you to be your ideal. Make it a rule to add something each season. It is surprising how soon you will find home more charming than you had supposed it could be.

Let us help you. The price wont be much.
