NEWS FROM OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

President Will Accept Amendments to Currency Bill to Obtain Speedy Action.

Washington.—With President Wilson willing to accept substantial amendments to the administration currency bill in the hope of obtaining speedy action on the measure in the senate committee, supporters of the administration grew optimistic over the chances for the passage of the measure before the end of the extra session of congress.

The president himself, in a letter to Majority Leader Underwood, announced his willingness to consider a proposal for a recess of the house, because, he said, conferences with members of the senate committee led him to believe the bill would be reported to the senate the first week in November and passed at the present session. Republican members of the committee and Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, were inclined to look upon this plan as too optimistic, but other members of the committee said they hoped to be able to live up to the president's expectations.

A reduction in the number of reserve banks, fixed by the administration bill at 12, and the removal of the secretary of agriculture and the controller of the currency from the federal reserve board, which would control the new currency system, were the amendments which the president let it be known he would not oppose.

Campaign Bill Is Drastic in Effect. The first direct results of the congressional investigation of campaign expenditures came when the senate passed Senator Clapp's bill prohibiting the sending of campaign funds from one state to another.

If the house approves the measure it will put rigid limitations, not only on the activities of general political interests, but also on the work of such organizations as the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Federation of Labor and the National Association of Woman's Suffrage. The bill prohibits the carrying or sending of funds from one state to another to be used in the election of president, vice-president, presidential electors or members of congress.

The proposed new law would not prohibit the present work of national political committees, so long as they make public reports of all contributions received and expenditures.

Lane to Insist on $100,000,000 Loan. Secretary Lane, head of the interior department, intends to make a determined fight before congress the coming session to secure the loan or bond issue he advocates, which will make available $100,000,000 for government irrigation and drainage work in the west. To that end he is endeavoring to center the attention of the entire country on the irrigated sections of the west.

Once the general public realizes what irrigation has done and can do for the desert regions, he believes there will be little objection to a loan to the reclamation fund, even if it be for the sum named. It is to the irrigated lands that the country must look for its increased production of food products, in the opinion of the secretary, and if $100,000,000 in addition to amounts now available can be expended for irrigation and drainage during the next decade, Secretary Lane believes the problem of high cost of living will be at least partially solved.

"The whole west has felt bitter toward the interior department," said Secretary Lane, on his return to Washington, "and I have devoted much thought and study to ascertain the reason. I have concluded that this bitterness is due partially to the bureaucratic administration of the department, but the main complaint is because there is too much red tape."
