

MRS. MCGILL BROKE DOWN

Gives the Real Facts in Regard to Her Case and Tells How She Suffered.

Jonesboro, Ark.—"I suffered a complete break down in health, some time ago," writes Mrs. A. McGill, from this place. "I was very weak and could not do any work. I tried different remedies, but they did me no good.

One day, I got a bottle of Cardui. It did me so much good, I was surprised, and took some more. Before I took Cardui, I had headache and backache, and sometimes I would cry for hours. Now I am over all that, and can do all kinds of housework. I think it is the greatest medicine on earth."

In the past fifty years, thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. McGill, to tell of the benefit received from Cardui.

Such testimony, from earnest women, surely indicates the great value of this tonic remedy, for diseases peculiar to women. Are you a sufferer? Yes? Cardui is the medicine you need. We urge you to try it.

THAW ENJOYING PLEASANT OUTING

Turns Down Many Chances to Escape From Gorham.

CONSIDERS GUARD A JOKE.

He and Deputy Sheriff Go Fishing and Auto Together Like Chums—Hain't Had a Drink, Although There Have Been Many Opportunities—Now a Total Abstainer.

Concord, N. H. — Harry Kendall Thaw, who is quartered here with his secretary and two bodyguards appointed by the court to see he does not escape, can walk out of his hotel, jump into an automobile and see practically any time it suits his mood.

Apparently, however, the slayer of Stanford White, whose extradition to New York state and return to the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Matteawan is sought, has no desire to quit Gorham. Whether this is because he believes the courts will ultimately free him or he is content with his surroundings is problematical.

When the village thawed out last May White's slayer packed his baggage and came here from Concord with Sheriff Holman A. Drew, in whose charge he had been placed; Deputy Sheriff C. D. Stevens, assistant to Drew, and H. J. Rice, who for some time has acted as Thaw's secretary. A suit of four rooms and bath had been engaged for the party on the third floor of the Mount Madison house, and here they have since enjoyed life pending the next legal move in the famous case.

Gorham was selected as a summer headquarters from which to direct Thaw's "liberty campaign," because it is but a few miles from Berlin, the home of Sheriff Drew. The sheriff is an elderly, stout and good natured official, whose duties do not appear to weigh heavily upon him. He spends such time as suits his convenience in the Thaw suit and the balance where he pleases—usually at home.

Bodyguard Stevens is a bit more attentive to his charge, but his cares have not whitened his hair. Possibly the only time he has been at all worried was a few days ago, when Thaw got lost on a trout fishing trip. He struck in at one point on Nineteen Mile brook and Stevens on another. Along about 9 o'clock in the evening, when nothing had been heard of Thaw, the deputy sheriff called up the hotel, and a searching party was organized.

This was led by Rice. With the aid of lanterns Thaw was found about 2 o'clock in the morning seated on a rock in the middle of the stream, calmly and with good sense waiting for someone to come for him. He was hungry and wet, but not otherwise the worse for his experience.

He might have been deeply buried in the Maine woods by that hour had he been so inclined. This episode, as well as others, is pretty good proof that Thaw can escape if he is so minded.

When Thaw first came here all the year round residents evinced great curiosity in the slayer.

Visitors from the city are equally curious upon their arrival, but their inquisitiveness shortly subsides. They find Thaw to be very much like the other guests, save that he is somewhat more exclusive. Much of his time is spent in offices he has established in the Noyes building, centrally located on one of the few streets this little village boasts. The rest of his day is occupied in automobiling, fishing and tramping.

Thaw recently bought a five passenger car. The report that he mixes with the guests and takes them on his outings is erroneous.

Thaw is too busy with his "liberty campaign" to pay much attention to the guests of this hotel or to the residents of the place.

He doesn't seem to have changed much since the days when he was a well known character on Broadway.

BRIEF NEWS OF OREGON

The postoffice department has rescinded the order discontinuing the postoffice at Disston, Lane county.

Leaders of the republican, democratic and progressive parties in Oregon have agreed to leave the prohibition issue out of the campaign.

Action of the postal department in rejecting tenders for carrying mails in rural sections is resented by the Coquille commercial club.

Big meeting representatives of all commercial interests in Portland and Columbia river basin was heard at Portland to unite in campaign for rivers and harbors bill.

Refund will be ordered by the Oregon railroad commission to a passenger who was made to pay more for himself and mother-in-law than for himself and wife.

There will be no delay in getting action on the deed to the locks at Oregon City, according to information given Senator Lane by Assistant Secretary Breckenridge.

Ray Carroll will be sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of John Zoller, marshal of Gervais, a jury in the circuit court having found him guilty of murder in the second degree at his third trial.

That loganberry juice, made from the Oregon loganberry, is going to take a prominent place alongside of grape juice as a beverage, is the opinion of F. A. Breck, who has organized the Breck Fruit Juice company.

Fifteen thousand boxes of peaches in the vicinity of Eugene and Junction City is the estimate placed on this crop by Dr. H. F. McCormack, field agent for the Eugene Fruitgrowers' association, who has spent a week estimating the crop.

The United States department of agriculture has set apart $11,000 for extension work in agriculture and home economics in Oregon during the next year. This amount may be increased to $15,000. This allowance is in addition to the $10,000 appropriated to Oregon under the Smith-Lever bill.

According to census reports received by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Churchill the school population of Tillamook, Harney, Coos, Yamhill, Willows, Baker and Clatsop counties increased during the year while in Hood River and Wasco counties it slightly decreased.

Nearly a score of those who were nominated at the May primary have failed to file their expense accounts with Secretary of State Olcott, and he has sent notice to all of them that their names will not appear on the ballot until they furnish a statement of their expenses.

The drought of the last six weeks seriously affected the pear crop in the Rogue river valley. Picking probably will begin next week. Experts who have looked over the valley fear there will not be more than 60 per cent of the 1913 harvest. The crop is estimated at 400 cars.

That Willamette valley products will be well represented at the Panama-Pacific exposition was assured at a meeting of the Willamette Valley Exposition association at Salem. Members reported that much headway had been made in their sections toward obtaining exhibits and that the people were deeply interested in making the best showing possible.

Auto streetcars, the first to be installed in the west, are to be in operation in Pendleton before the opening of the Roundup. Two 25-passenger cars already have been ordered and are now being built in Portland. When received they will run on regular schedule about the city and to the eastern Oregon hospital for the insane. Streetcar rates will be charged.

Ezra Meeker, of Puyallup, Wash., pioneer of 1852, who has twice crossed the plains by ox team, recently retracing the "Oregon trail," shipped his ox and prairie schooner from Springfield to San Francisco. Mr. Meeker also departed to take a position under the Washington state commission at the Panama exposition. He is to exhibit his outfit throughout the fair and assist in the publicity work.

Figures prepared by Corporation Commissioner Watson for his annual report and just made public show that his department is the greatest revenue producing arm of the state government. The department was started June 3, 1913, and from that time until May 31, 1914, the receipts totaled $221,149.66. From June 1 to June 30, inclusive, the receipts were $89,463.43, making a grand total of receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, $310,613.09.

Forest rangers on the Umatilla forest are engaged in erecting a 65-foot "fire tower" on the top of Lookout mountain, one of the highest peaks in the forest. Owing to the fact that only the raw material to be found in the forest was available for building the tower, its construction was a difficult task. It is nearing completion, however, and will be equipped with a powerful glass and "fire finder." A man will be on duty constantly and with the aid of the equipment at his command will be able to locate every fire within a radius of 75 miles, almost as soon as it is started.

EVERY TAXPAYER OWN ASSESSOR

Expected to Aid in Making Up City Rolls.

NEW YORK CITY HAS PLAN.

Payers of Taxes Invited to Give Information and Will Be Welcomed. Believed Wide Open Policy of Publicity Will Tend to Correct Errors of Fact or Judgment.

New York.—If the plan which Lawson Purdy, president of the tax commission of the city of New York, has in mind succeeds every taxpayer in the city will have a chance to say something about his own taxes, and he will come to regard the assessor as a brother and not as a bitter foe. President Purdy purposes letting every taxpayer help make up the tax rolls.

On Oct. 1 the tax department will have published a series of maps showing the value per front foot for lots 100 feet deep on every side of every square throughout the five boroughs of the city. This will give every taxpayer a chance to find out whether his neighbor is getting off with a lighter tax than he is entitled to and whether the fellow who owns the corner house is getting away with anything. Then the taxpayer is invited to go right to the tax commission and register a kick, and he need not take a lawyer along either.

The plan Mr. Purdy has in mind is explained in a report he made to the mayor. Purdy says in part: "The unit values to be published Oct. 1 will be the tentative values fixed by the deputy tax commissioners. There will be opportunity for persons interested to study maps and then make application to the commissioners for reductions, when the values are regarded as excessive.

"In order that the tentative valuations may be made by the tax department with the fullest knowledge, every taxpayer has been invited to give information concerning his own property or the property of others by the use of blanks provided by the tax department or otherwise. All persons having knowledge of values have been solicited to submit their opinions of values, especially by marking a page of the land value map with the units they regard as proper in every case where they believe the units for 1914 were either too low or too high.

"The efficient use of the publication of land units and assessment rolls, together with the detailed information freely offered to taxpayers, is all designed as a complete system of publicity to the end that the most effective co-operation may be secured, with all persons informed as to value and interested in assessments.

"It is confidently expected that this wide open policy of the fullest publicity will both tend to the correction of errors of fact or of judgment and to the satisfaction of all property owners. All fair minded men are willing to contribute their fair share, and when they can see for themselves that their share is fairly determined and that their property is assessed in harmony with all other real property they pay willingly. Suspicion and dissatisfaction are dispelled by fair treatment and the knowledge that the treatment is fair.

"Unfortunately an erroneous notion still persists that a taxpayer must employ a lawyer or real estate expert to mediate between him and the tax department. Nothing could be further from the truth. While the department welcomes the assistance of well informed lawyers and experts representing taxpayers, every taxpayer can present his own case, both before the tentative assessment is made and to the tax commissioners after Oct. 1 if the tentative assessment is unsatisfactory to him.

There is some likelihood that President Purdy's plan will be extended to other departments in time.
