

Cecil Spooner at Dreamland, Saturday, April 3

A photoplay in five acts entitled the "Dancer and the King" will be given at the Dreamland Saturday, April 3, with Cecil Spooner playing the lead-king to lower the taxes. The noblemen then plot to dethrone the king but Lola in disguise discovers the plot, warns the king, fights and kills the ing part. The story of the play is set in Barro where the young King becomes infatuated with Lola, a young dancer, whom his secretary has educated. Lola prevents a rebellion among the common people by persuading the prime minister, who is the ring leader of the noblemen. Dismayed at the death of their leader the revolutionists are easily worsted and the king, his people and Lola are united amid general rejoicing.

LEADER OF ROBBERS SHOT

Youth Brings Down Henry Starr, Who Has Price on His Head. Oklahoma City, Okla.—Members of a band of desperadoes who escaped from Stroud after robbing two national banks of $5000 eluded half a dozen mounted posse and were believed to be riding safely toward the fastnesses of the Kiamichi Mountains with their spoil.

Five men were in the party which escaped after the robberies, it was learned from eye witnesses, while two of the band, Henry Starr, notorious Cherokee desperado, and a man named Estes, were wounded and captured. First reports said the band numbered 11 men.

Paul Curry, 18 years old, is the hero of the raid, for it was the town marshal's young son who wounded and helped capture the leader of the raiders, believed to be Starr.

New Fair Secretaries Selected. Salem, Or.—W. Al Jones, representative in the legislature from Wallonia and Union counties, was appointed secretary of the state fair to succeed Frank Meredith, who had accepted an offer of the secretaryship of the Washington state fair. Mr. Meredith will go to North Yakima, where the fair is held, at once.

300 in Wreck on San Francisco Bay. San Francisco.—With 300 passengers on board, mostly women and children, including 78 orphans, the General Frisbie, a small bay steamer, struck a submerged rock 100 yards off the Panama-Pacific Exposition grounds and began to sink. Lifeboats from United States warships anchored nearby promptly took off all hands and brought them ashore.

State Experts Fighting Pest on Grande Ronde Ranches.

La Grande.—An army of variegated cutworms has infested Grande Ronde ranches, and where it has struck the ruin is complete. Like Umatilla county, state farm experts are fighting the plague. Fred Zaugg, near Mount Glenn, was one of the first to discover the presence of the pests, and County Farm Expert Cate has located several other small patches. He found one army moving across a plowed field, bound for an adjoining wheat field.

At one point he found an alfalfa patch where the pests had worked into the field several feet from the fence, and the forward line of the army is shown by the swath of dead alfalfa. On a spot a foot square he picked up some 20 or 30 cutworms. Like grasshoppers the cutworms leave absolute ruin in their wake.

Roberg Named Health Board Secretary. Portland.—Dr. David N. Roberg, eminent pathologist and bacteriologist, was elected secretary of the state board of health to succeed Dr. Calvin S. White, who has resigned. Dr. Roberg, who is now in China investigating epidemic diseases, will accept the secretaryship, it is known, provided he shall be given assurances that the appointment will be permanent during the tenure of the present administration.

Municipal Swimming Pool Planned. Hood River.—Citizens here allying themselves with the different clubs and civic organizations are planning to build a municipal swimming pool. In the western part of the city is an abandoned reservoir, a relic of the early water system which has been outgrown. It is proposed to build a concrete pool just below the reservoir.

PROHIBITION NEXT BIG PARTY ISSUE

Washington.—National leaders of both the dominant political parties can see little or no chance of escape from fights to the finish over the liquor question on the floors of both presidential nominating conventions in 1916. Powerful factors in the inner party councils on both sides are serving notice that the issue must be faced.

Many of the best-known members of congress are discussing the liquor question in a manner which, indulged in six years ago, would have threatened to drive them from public life. They are now talking prohibition, confident, they say, of the security of their position.

The states where prohibition is in effect or where state-wide prohibition measures have been passed but are not yet in operation are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Iowa, Idaho, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington and West Virginia—18 in all.

BRIEF WAR NEWS

The fall of Przemysl during the past week consolidated Russia's hold on eastern Galicia, and has released the investing army for field operations elsewhere. No details on which full reliance can be placed have been made known concerning the strength of the force to which Przemysl capitulated. It is probable, however, that the first estimates were too high, and less than 100,000 men were used on these operations.

The Russians were compelled to evacuate Memel after a surprise attack by a German detachment. The heavy conditions of the highways caused by rains led the Slavs to believe their possession of the east Prussian port was secure. The Germans, however, overcame the difficulties of transport and drove the Russians several miles into their own territory. Accusations of extensive pilfering at Memel have been made by the Germans and have been followed by reprisals at Suwalki, Lomza and Grodno and along the Russian Baltic coast, where open towns were bombed by a German fleet.

The Dardanelles bombardment has accomplished nothing of value during the week to the attacking warships. While there has been some fighting along the east Prussian frontier and in Bukovina, the mountains of both the east and the west are the scenes of the most important engagements at present.

In the Vosges the French, after a long fight, the position changing hands more than once, have finally established themselves on the summit of Hartmann's-Weilerkopf, a mountain peak 15 miles northwest of Meulhausen and a few miles north of Thann. This is considered an important success, as it gives the French command of a considerable amount of country occupied by the Germans. The fight for the position has been a bitter one, and has been going on for many days.

On the western front, beyond the French success in the Vosges, where the Germans abandoned a large quantity of material and left numerous dead on the ground, there have been no events of importance, neither side apparently being ready as yet for the big effort which everybody has been expecting. There have been the usual bombardments of the positions and mine warfare and the aviators on both sides have shown much activity.

Holland's request for an explanation from Germany of the sinking of the Medea and the capture of two other Dutch steamers is creating much interest in diplomatic circles, where it is pointed out that the vessels of other neutral countries have not been molested.

Fear of Massacre Moves Washington. Washington.—Alarming reports of atrocities, including the hanging of 60 men taken from the French mission and five from the American mission compound at Gulpashan, Persia, stirred the state department to further efforts to obtain protection for American missionaries and refugees in the vicinity of Urumiah, Persia, where an uprising of Kurds threatens a general Christian massacre.

President Can Buy Alaska Railroads. Washington.—New impetus was given the Alaska government railroad project when the attorney general advised the president it was within his power to contract to buy existing railroads in Alaska within the limit of the cost fixed by congress, $35,000,000.

Oregon Highway Engineer Selected. Salem, Or.—By a vote of two to one the state highway commission appointed E. I. Cantine, of Portland, state highway engineer to succeed H. L. Bowlby, resigned.

Sunny Winter Hog Bunk.

The A shaped hog bunk has been much improved to make comfort for the sow and her litter by the addition of enlarged doorways, hooks in the top upon which to suspend a lantern. Sliding doors to inclose the quarters during a storm, glass window panes in the ends and side elevations to admit light. The accompanying cut, however, shows a good, practical plan of bunk.

It admits plenty of sunshine, for with the roof door elevated every nook and cranny is exposed to the sun of mid-day. This is fine for the sow and her litter and also prevents the nesting material from becoming damp.

The door is held up at almost any elevation by the prop shown in the upper corner, one end of which is fitted into the hole in the edge of the door and the various nails fitted over the latch bolt on one side of the bunk. This latch bolt is fitted with a key that holds the door down in case we desire to keep the animal in. The prop is hung upon a hook in the back gable when the door is closed.

Best results from this plan of bunk are secured by setting it with the door to the eastern exposure. Hinge the opposite side and keep it wide open during nice weather, as it will then get the full benefit of all winter sunshine.—Farm and Home

Try it for Habitual Constipation

Most laxatives are useless for constipation because while they may move the bowels they do not correct the condition of the bowel or intestine itself and after the laxative has acted the constipation returns. McConnon's Liquid Laxative contains ingredients which help to tone up the bowels, and place them in such condition that they will act without the use of laxatives. It has a very pleasant taste and it does not gripe.
