BRIEF NEWS OF OREGON

For the expressed purpose of preventing the fuel dealers from boosting the price of cord wood to consumers, the Portland city council has decided to make no effort to sell the city's 16,000 cords of wood until during October.

The state land board tabled a letter of ex-Governor West alleging that the title to a part of the land of the Che-waucan Land & Cattle company in Lake county is defective. He suggested that suit be filed to have the title declared void.

Secretary of State Ben W. Olcott brought Richard Olcott, one of the twins recently born to Mr. and Mrs. Olcott, to Portland last week, and the child is now under the care of Dr. J. B. Bilderback. It has not been well for some time.

The funeral of Lafayette W. Loughary, a veteran of the North Yakima Indian war of 1855-56, was held at the farm home in the Luckiamute valley. Mr. Loughary was 81 years old and had been a resident of Polk and Yamhill counties 61 years.

Approximately 80,000 gallons of crude petroleum have been spread over 50 miles of Polk county roads this season, outside of the incorporated cities. The oiled strip varies from eight feet to 18 feet, and Polk county now claims the best summer roads in the state.

The state land board has turned over to State Engineer Lewis for investigation a proposal that the state join with a number of land owners in the Dead Ox Flat irrigation district, on the Snake river, near Ontario, in a petition to the county court for dissolution of the district.

Governor Withycombe has appointed Henry E. Reed, assessor of Multnomah county; F. A. Ross, of Portland, and Charles V. Galloway, member of the state tax commission, delegates to the ninth annual conference on taxation, to be held under the auspices of the National Tax association in San Francisco, August 10-14.

BRIEF WAR NEWS

Rome reports the failure of the Austrian attempt to cut off the Italian left, and a noteworthy advance by the Italian forces at several points.

The western front was comparatively quiet during the past week. There has been little fighting except with the heavy guns.

A short official account of the recent fighting on the Gallipoli peninsula indicates that the engagements have been of a rather minor nature, but have favored the allies.

A dispatch from the Austrian headquarters says the offensive of the Austro-German armies in south Poland is proceeding with machine-like regularity and that, although the Russians are clinging desperately to their positions they are being driven back and are now upon their last main line of defense south of the Cholm-Lublin-Ivangorod railroad.

In the drive toward the Polish capital the Russians have been pressed back on the Blonie-Nadarzyn front, which they strongly occupy, together with the outlying defenses of Ivangorod. Berlin declares that the army of General von Woyrasch has driven the Russians into the fortress of Ivangorod, to the southeast of the capital, and is now closely investing the stronghold with 12 forts, nine on the right bank of the Vistula and three on the left bank of that river.

SHORT NEWS NUGGETS

President Wilson is at Cornish, N. H., to spend another week or two of the vacation interrupted by his return to Washington to direct the preparation of the note to Germany.

Suits are about to be brought by the government against American citizens who, though apparently able to do so, refuse to repay money expended for their relief when they were stranded in Europe at the outbreak of the war.

James M. Sullivan has resigned as United States minister to Santo Domingo. The resignation followed the recent investigation of allegations that he had been guilty of misconduct and was unfit for the office.

The interstate commerce commission decided that the revenues of the principal express companies of the United States are inadequate and modified its former orders to provide additional income.

William I. Ivins, a well-known lawyer and for many years prominent in politics, died at his home in New York. He was 64 years old. Mr. Ivins was recently taken ill after his labors in behalf of William Barnes in his libel suit against Theodore Roosevelt.

BURY THE HESSIAN FLY.

Plow in July to Destroy Pest and Improve Next Year's Crops.

We feed 50,000,000 bushels of good wheat to the hessian fly every year, to say nothing of what it costs us to feed our chinch bugs and other pests, and have only ourselves to blame. Get together. Every neighborhood should have a farmers' club and appoint a hessian fly committee.

Cut the wheat high above the second joint. Remove the grain from the field and stack it somewhere else. The fly is now in the resting stage, and the safest way and only sure plan is for every farmer to plow every acre deeply and thoroughly within two weeks after harvest, turning under the stubble completely.

Team work is necessary. Teach the school children to look for the fly and report it at every stage. Appoint a captain in every school district, who Land Suits Not to Be Dropped.

Salem.—Prosecution of the Benson and Hyde land cases will be pressed, according to an announcement made to the state land board by Attorney General Brown and C. R. Rundel, special agent of the federal government.

Negotiations for a compromise between the board and a number of alleged innocent purchasers are in progress, but Messrs. Brown and Rundel say the interests of the state might be jeopardized if further delay were allowed.

Eight suits were instituted in Lane county, but only one was pressed, Judge Harris overruling a demurrer to the state's complaint.

should be the best wheat grown in the neighborhood.

This early complete plowing will not only reduce the fly, but will be a great benefit to next year's crop. It does not let the field dry out after harvest and gets it ready to hold all of the moisture which is so badly needed in most sections. It is stated that other things being equal, three acres plowed in July are worth five acres plowed in September.

Wheel Soaking Box.

When wheel tires become loose, they often do in hot, dry weather. In watertight box shown herewith will be found useful for soaking them in water or oil. The box consists of pieces of wood, preferably oak, cut in the forms indicated and nailed firmly together with numerous wire nails. All the cracks are then thoroughly filled with thick whitened paint and the inside at least painted with two or three coats of paint to render the wood waterproof. The dimensions will depend somewhat upon the size of the wheels to be soaked. Large tired wheels will need a wider box than will buggy wheels. In operation the wagon is jacked up until the wheel to be soaked is on the edge of the box; then it is lowered until the rim almost touches the bottom. The oil or the water is then poured in till it covers the tire, and the wheel is slowly revolved so as to get every part wet. In order to reach the hub gaps may be worked around it and kept soaked with oil or water.
