

RESOURCES OF THE STATE WILL BE DISPLAYED

PLANS FAST TAKING SHAPE FOR SECOND ANNUAL SHOW IN PORTLAND

VAST ARRAY OF EXHIBITS WILL SHOW PRODUCTS OF FIELD FACTORY AND FOREST

Portland.—Plans are fast taking shape for the second annual Manufacturers' & Land Products Show. More than fifty per cent of the exhibit space has already been spoken for. This assures the most complete exhibit of the state's industrial, agricultural and horticultural resources ever assembled under one roof.

Expositions are the timekeepers of progress and this year's land and industrial exhibition in the state's metropolis will show the latest products of the factories in the way of manufactured articles. From the land will come an array of fruits, grains, grasses and vegetables, almost as extensive as the Oregon exhibit at the San Francisco Exposition. Both fresh and processed fruits will be displayed and the arrangement of the soil products will be both attractive and effective, and a liberal education of what Oregon can, will and has produced.

"Know your state better" is the slogan adopted by the land products division of the coming Exposition. When the doors open on the evening of October 25, it will mark the beginning of eighteen days of educational features for thousands of visitors. The Exposition will not close until November 13. It is intended that the Exposition shall be a lesson in "live geography" and the Portland Chamber of Commerce, presenting the show this year, has provided free exhibit space for every county and community in the Northwest.

Indications are that more than twenty of the thirty-five counties in Oregon will be represented at this year's Exposition in Portland.

K. S. & D. RANCH BIG PROPOSITION

If anyone thinks that managing a 4,000 acre farm in the Snake river valley is a sinecure he should have been with a Journal man on a visit to the K. S. & D. ranch last week, says the Nynna Journal. On this big farm are some five hundred head of cattle, 600 hogs, numerous horses besides sheep, turkeys and chickens.

But stock raising is not the only industry on the K. S. & D. The newspaper man found Manager Roy Williams up to his ears in work, superintending the picking and packing of 20 cars of prunes, the largest crop ever harvested from the K. S. & D. orchards. In size and quality also the prunes are superior to the crops of previous years, which can be accounted for by the extra care given the orchards under the management of Mr. Williams. Nearly 100 employees were engaged in picking and packing and more were needed. A special pack, to be exhibited at Ontario, Ogden and San Francisco, was being put up by the skilled hands of Miss Ruth Long. Unusual care was being taken in packing and shipping the entire crop, as the future demand and price depend to a great extent on the condition in which the prunes reach the market.

But while prune growing is a big item, it is secondary to the livestock industry and the manager took time to drive four miles over the farm to show the newspaper man a band of registered Herford heifers, which are his especial pride. And they were a pretty sight. Feeding on the succulent grass of the Snake bottoms, they were fat and sleek and showed the thoroughbred in every point and marking. There are 102 in the herd and, with the head of the herd, they cost the company $80 each at weaning time, which in the aggregate, amounted to some money.

A new silo is being erected on the ranch. It is composed of concrete blocks, something entirely new for this part of the country. The blocks are made in Ogden and the estimated cost of a 200 ton silo, such as the K. S. & D. is erecting, is $400. Another silo of the same type and capacity will be added in the spring.

A large acreage was devoted to corn this year, and Mr. Williams is satisfied with the result, and the appearance of the fields fully justifies his feeling of satisfaction.

EVERYONE WINS

RULES

Anyone of either sex of good repute may enter as a candidate for these prizes.

Employees of The ARGUS or their immediate families will not be permitted to participate in this contest.

The Contest Manager reserves the right to reject any nomination. A nomination may be made by anyone. You can nominate yourself.

All contestants entering the contest agree to accept and abide by the Rules of the Contest or by a decision of the Contest Manager where the rules do not apply.

Votes will be issued upon the payment of new and renewal subscriptions to The ARGUS during the contest. Each contestant upon entering the contest will be furnished with a copy of the rules and a complete working outfit.

A free nomination blank properly filled out starts the candidate with 5,000 votes. Only one such nomination blank may be voted for any one candidate.

Votes once cast cannot be transferred from one contestant to another. No subscription ballots will be counted excepting upon the payment of the correct amount for the subscription with which the ballot was issued.

EXTRA VOTES

In addition to the regular number of votes given on subscriptions, extra votes will be offered for clubs of subscription at stated periods.

From the beginning of the contest until Saturday night October 2nd., 20,000 extra votes will be given on each $12.00 club.

During the week ending October 9th., 20,000 extra votes will be given on each club of $15.00.

During the remainder of the contest 20,000 extra votes will be given on clubs of $20.00 in subscriptions.

A club of subscriptions does not mean that one person must pay that amount in subscription but if the total payments equal $10.00 we shall consider that a $10.00 club. There is no limit to the number of clubs that may be turned in each week.

As many clubs as can be secured will count for votes. Subscriptions do not have to be turned in in club amounts in order to get the advantage of the extra votes. One subscription may be reported at a time and when the required amount is turned in for a club the extra votes will be credited.

RULES

A new subscriber is one whose name is not on the subscription list of the paper for which subscription is to be paid, at the time the contest started.

No change of names from one member of a family to that of another residing at the address in the same household will be considered as a new subscriber.

Correspondents may enter and compete for the prizes.

Read carefully all the rules and conditions of the contest. Ignorance of the rules will not be considered a valid excuse for any deviation therefrom.

Any person working in this contest who turns in $10 or over and not winning one of the other five prizes will be awarded a cash commission prize on all cash turned in on subscription to The ARGUS by them during the contest.

No votes will be given on subscription payments for more than five years in advance.

Candidates are not confined to their own districts in securing votes but may secure subscriptions anywhere.

In case of a tie the prize will be awarded jointly to the contestants who tie.

The contest starts Saturday, September 16 and closes October 23, 1915.

Employees of The ARGUS are excluded from voting or taking part in this contest.

At the conclusion of the campaign every vote turned in from beginning to end of the contest will be counted by three disinterested, well known men of this community.
