COUPLE BOUND OVER.

Justice King's court was the scene of a lively hearing yesterday morning when Louvenia Brown and Horace Mayfield, both colored, were brought up to face a serious charge. Testimony during the hearing, brought out the fact that county authorities have had a detective operating in Ontario for the past ten days, in an effort to apprehend violators of the law. It was through the efforts of the detective that these two arrests were made. Judge King bound both over to the grand jury, the man being held under $500 bond, and the woman under $250 bond. The latter furnished bond.

LORING V. STEWART WILL BE CANDIDATE.

I will be a candidate before the primaries for the Republican nomination for re-election, out in deciding upon this course, I feel it my duty to advise my friends and Republicans generally of my district that I will be unable to devote either time or money to making a campaign for votes, either before the primary election or the fall election, if nominated. Since last election, my brother and I have entered into a somewhat extensive stock raising enterprise, the success of which, I feel, requires not only the industrious, constant attention of both of us for the next four years but, along with it, some close figuring along the lines of economy. I must, therefore, assure my friends that the success of this stock ranch enterprise is the paramount issue with me at present, for this is the source of livelihood of my little family and myself. In other words,

I follow ranching for a livelihood, not politics, and expect to continue to do so. If it were otherwise, my experience in the two sessions of the Oregon Legislature convinces me, I would now be faring badly from a financial standpoint. If anyone can come away from Salem with a balance to his credit out of a State Senator's salary he will do better than I would hope to do. However, I will ask my friends to circulate my petitions about the first of the year and if nominated and elected will promise to devote the necessary time and money to enable me to fulfill my duties as State Senator with credit to my party and district. I will also be glad at all times to answer all
