ANARCHISTIC CHEF THOUGHT POISONER

Chicago.—The police of every large city in the United States were asked to aid in a manhunt for Jean Cronos, said to be an anarchist, who is alleged to have attempted to poison 400 distinguished Chicagoans at a banquet to Archbishop George W. Mundelein in the University Club.

Unmistakable evidence of poison was discovered by Dr. F. O. Tonney, city chemist, who made a qualitative analysis of part of the soup served at the banquet.

Cronos, assistant chef of the club, prepared the soup stock which made more than 100 of the guests ill.

In his zeal to kill, the maniac over-shot his mark and put so much poison in the kettle that he made his intended victims sick at once and they were relieved of the death drug immediately.

Cronos' rooms at 2201 Prairie avenue were searched by the police and Doherty, and large quantities of poison were found, together with anarchistic literature.

A Mistake Somewhere.

A helpful friend recently requested us to write a funny piece about a game we used to play in boyhood's glad days called "hiding in the barn." He alleged that part of the gang hid and the rest searched for them, and when they were found all hands jumped and yelled most gleefully. This, he tried to remind us, was very, very funny. Either our memory is falling or we have lost our sense of humor, for as we recollect it our father did the hiding and we jumped and yelled. And it does not seem amusing to us even yet.—Kansas City Star.

Serious Obstacle.

"Has your boy started in business yet?"

"No. He's been out of college over a year now, but he's still looking around."

"Why don't you take him in with you?"

"Well, to tell the truth, he's got his heart set on a job that pays at least $10,000 a year, and I don't make that much myself."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

By Way of Contrast.

"There is one good thing about buying a really handsome and expensive dress," said Mrs. Bunting to Mrs. Larkin.

"What is that?"

"Why, you feel as though you really ought to buy another not quite so good to save your best one."—Puck.

Sympathy.

Husband—Oh, there's that confounded rheumatism again! Wife—I'm so sorry. I wanted to go shopping tomorrow, and your rheumatism is always a sign of rain. Isn't it provoking!

Academic Dress.
Academic dress is a sort of scholar's badge consisting of gowns, hoods and caps, copied or adapted from styles long prevalent in England, the combination of articles being so arranged as to indicate the degree or academic status of the wearer. The code was formulated by an intercollegiate college commission chartered by the University of New York and has been adopted in many American colleges. There are three distinct types of gowns and hoods—the bachelor's, the master's and the doctor's. The bachelor's gown is most commonly worn and has long pointed sleeves; the master's gown has long closed sleeves with a slit through which the forearm protrudes; the doctor's gown has velvet bars on round open sleeves and velvet facings down the front. Caps worn with such gowns are the regulation mortar boards with black silk tassels.—Philadelphia Press.

Chinese Architecture.
The monuments of China are among the most conspicuous in the world. Interpreted broadly they range from a coin or an oracle bone to the Great wall. China has more than 2,000 important specimens of the pagoda, an original form of tower architecture unsurpassed for beauty by any similar kind of structure. The Porcelain tower at Nanking deserved to be ranged with the wonders of the world, and for reasons which made it the superior of the so called seven wonders. Chinese sculpture has never been surpassed, and there is no evidence in mundane art to show that it ever will be. There is a single fragment in the Metropolitan museum in New York—a stone head of the Tang period—whose grandeur of plastic mastery since its appearance has conferred distinction upon the sculpture of the world.—Journal of the American Asiatic Association.

His College Handicap.
"I remember when it was really a disadvantage to have had a technical mining education," said John Hays Hammond. "I remember going to one of the large mining magnates of the day in California, who had got his information and experience by hard knocks, and asking for a job. He said: 'There is one serious objection to you. You have been at Freiberg, and you know you have to learn a good deal when you get into active practice.' I am sorry to say there is a great deal of truth in that too. 'Well,' I said, 'I will tell you in confidence, but do not repeat this to my poor father, who has made every sacrifice to send me abroad for a mining education—I did not learn a confounded thing at Freiberg.' Then he said, 'I will take you.' And that was the first job I ever got."

DOOR CLOSED TO TEUTONS

Decree issued at Rome forbids importation of Austro-Hungarian Goods.

Rome.—The last gap in the allies' economic boycott of the central powers was closed by issuance of an Italian decree forbidding, under heavy penalty, the importation of any Austro-German goods. This step was announced after the French premier Briand had held several hours' conference with the foreign office.

Ordinarily such a step would have provoked an immediate declaration of war, but it is not believed here that Germany cares to enroll Italy among her open enemies, both for financial and military reasons.

Briand said that the allies are determined to throttle the Teutons from an economic standpoint while making them suffer from a military standpoint.

TEMPERANCE DAY IS NAMED

New York Health Board Begins Temperance Crusade.

New York.—The city board of health announced inauguration of a temperance crusade. The board has requested clergymen to deliver temperance sermons Sunday, February 20, which will be called "Temperance Sabbath."

Meanwhile uniformed police officers of the health squad and sanitary inspectors will distribute in saloons and clubs throughout the city pamphlets setting forth the dangers of alcoholic indulgence. Washington's birthday motion picture theaters will display films furnished by the board portraying "the curse of drink and all its attendant evils."

Practically all the civilized world and Germany, having recognized Carranza, it's Mexico's turn.
