species who steal from the hives. A losses from the activity of such paragon number of members present reported sites.

After a great deal of discussion it was finally decided to leave the matter of charging a commission for purchasing supplies in the hands of the board of directors which will meet next Monday at Payette. Some of the members sell thru the association and some do not. It was proposed to charge a differential commission on purchases in favor of those who sell thru the association, this seemed agreeable to both those who use the selling advantages and those who do not but the amount could not be agreed upon so it was decided to put it up to the board.

The board of directors will also consider questions of legislation, especially those of marketing.

The feature of the convention was the spirit with which all the members entered into the discussion of the various problems and the general optimism entertained for the future of the industry in this section. On Tuesday and Wednesday the members present enjoyed dinner sessions at the Moore Hotel.

Prominent among the delegates were two women, Mrs. Howard Cheney of New Plymouth who reported on the efforts to further the use of honey in the domestic science departments of the schools, and Mrs. H. J. Thompson of Payette.

Before adjourning the association gave a hearty vote of thanks to the Ontario Commercial club for its hospitality. Among the out of town visitors were A. E. Gipson of Caldwell and F. W. Redfield of Ogden, Utah. Both of these addressed the meetings.
