"TOO LATE"

"Over the pages of British History for the past three years have been written two words," recently declared Herbert Hoover, and those words are, "Too Late".

There is but too much truth in that statement, for in that indictment can be seen the cause of the defeat of armies in Gallipoli, and the first expedition in Mesopotamia. Likewise because "too late" did they recognize the importance of immediate and adequate action, there resulted the failure in the Balkans which permitted the destruction of Serbia and Roumania. "Too Late" every where in going to the assistance of their allies the British Armies early in the war suffered enormous losses. Thousands upon thousands of brave British Tommies now rest in unknown graves, "somewhere in France," "somewhere in the Balkans," "somewhere in Mesopotamia".

The British public would not acknowledge that old foot ball axiom that, "the best defense is a mighty good offense". The man who can hit hardest is the man who gets hurt the least, especially if he hits first. John Bull waited too long, he sent troops "too late" to the support of General Townsend and made the capture of Kut-el Amara possible, and with it set back the campaign a year besides sacrificing thousands of soldiers to the old spirit of procrastination.

For three years the people of the United States have witnessed this fatal weakness on the part of the people of Great Britain. British leaders have visited our country to tell us of where and how they have erred. But these truths, as yet, appear to have made no impression on our minds. We, are certainly English in our attitude toward this war. We, at least it is apparent that the most of us believe, that we'll blunder thru some how.

Judging from the apathy with which the people are subscribing to the Liberty Loan, and the consternation with which some view the fact that Ontario will be called upon to raise $5,000 for the Red Cross, one is compelled to believe that the lessons of the war have not yet been learned and that some day a Hoover will say, "for years two words have been written on the pages of American History," and those words are "too late".

A few weeks ago Ontario cheered while a handful of boys left for the army. The city was proud of them. Is that pride of the kind that will also see that they are provided with everything they need in case of illness or injury? If it is the Red Cross Fund will be subscribed.

This war is a serious business but some are bound to profit thereby. Let those profits be applied in the defense of the nation and for the care of the soldiers who are defending that wealth.

A Liberty Bond is cash drawing interest but a Red Cross donation marks what you are willing TO GIVE to the cause of humanity and democracy.

Next week is Red Cross week. Do your bit for the boys at the front.

No man is too poor to help the Red Cross nor is any man too rich to do likewise.

MONEY OR YOUR LIFE

Which will it be Mr. Ontarian? Especially, which will it be you who have money, are ineligible for conscription and have no sons to offer for your country?

The damnable shame this country will suffer if the Liberty Loan is not subscribed should bring disgrace to those who in their opulence could have made it a success. All the slackers are not to be found among those who avoided registration. The man who has from the taxes he will have to pay, is a worse money and who does not do his part, aside slacker than he who fails to register.

Have those wealthy citizens who have not done their full share ever stopped to think that the government which can conscript men can also conscript property? Is it not more reasonable that property be confiscated than men conscripted? Human life is more sacred than mere money.

If the rich men of this nation do not perform their duty and dedicate their wealth to the service of the nation instead of, as some are doing, complaining of the low interest rate, they may find such a revolution of public opinion against them that it will not be hard for congress to take a step toward commandeering the wealth of the nation. It is strictly up to those who have money to do their duty. If the rich men fail, that failure just helps make socialists and anarchists.

Fortunately, however, most of the men of wealth thruout the nation are demonstrating their loyalty by active work and by large subscriptions to Liberty Bonds. They should be the leaders in the movement for the up building of the defense of the nation. They get the greater benefit therefrom.

There, is too, another reason why the wealthy citizens of this section particularly should lead the movement for the Liberty Loan. The wealth they have accumulated in the past three years is in a large sense dyed in blood of millions of victims of the awful German war. Our prosperity is a war prosperity. There is no denying of it. The war has made wool go to its present prices. The war has sent cattle to the top, and likewise hay and every product of this region.

By purchasing a Liberty Bond those who have thus profited would be showing nothing more than a sense of decent appreciation for the protection which has made it possible for them to continue to do business and accumulate wealth under such favorable circumstances.

HELP THE RED CROSS

Next week is Red Cross week. During that time there must be raised $100,000,000 for the great cause this organization represents. Of this vast sum Ontario is asked to contribute just $5,000. This $5,000 represents, according to insurance risks the value of one man. And most people believe it is mighty low estimate to place on the value of a man.

Therefore if all those citizens of Ontario who are blessed with more than they need for their present comfort of this world's goods combine to make up the $5,000 they will be doing no more than, yes far less, than a single family which has sent a son to the army.

If there is a single American soldier who dies from lack of care, because the Red Cross had not sufficient funds, that life can be charged to the niggardliness or carelessness of the American people.

To provide attention for an army of 1,500,000 the Red Cross is seeking $100,000,000 or approximately $100 per man for the first year. Ontario has sent nearly 50 boys to the army and navy, so that the $5,000 we are asked to raise for the Red Cross represent the cost of their protection and care.

Are not the sons of Ontario worthy of that care? If the boys are willing to go and to die, if necessary for the cause of the country are not those of us who remain at home willing to see that they may be provided with everything that thoughtful care and generous hearts can think of?

When put to the test Ontario will not go back on her boys.
