LET A REXALL REMEDY CURE THAT COLD NOW

PULLING THE TEETH OF TYPHOID

The report of Colonel Sir Berkeley Moynihan, senior consulting engineer of the British army, that there have been only 6022 cases of typhoid in the British forces since the beginning of the war, with only 292 deaths, confirms the observations of American physicians and justifies the prophylactic measures adopted by the civilized world. Our own Spanish war was marked by serious epidemics of enteric fevers, and in the Boer war, which lasted less than three years, there were 57,684 cases of typhoid among British forces, with 8022 deaths. It is estimated that if the same sanitary methods prevailed today as in Boer war time, the British would have lost 100,000 men by typhoid fever, instead of fewer than 300.

This saving of life has been due almost wholly to advances in comparatively recent years in serum therapy. When modern bacteriologists discovered the cause of the disease and utilized the knowledge by perfecting the vaccine which is now used as part of the routine preparation of the soldier for his duty, they drew the teeth of one of the worst scourges of camp life. It is no longer true that "disease kills more men than bullets," as it was in the days of our Civil War. Unless they actually meet the enemy, our men are now comparatively safe.

The same immunity will be obtained when people learn the value of united action in sanitary affairs, and subordinate the prejudices of the individual to the good of the whole community. When vaccination of the soldier is ordered, he is vaccinated without more ado. When he is commanded to abstain from drinking suspected water, he does so or suffers punishment. When Army surgeons discover a source of infection, they enforce a quarantine and the danger is abated.

Equal results could be obtained at home if Army methods were possible. The volunteer system is slower, but it is not to be despised. There will come a time when the few who obstinately withhold co-operation, at the expense of their neighbors, will be compelled to fall in line. Complete eradication of typhoid as a menace to human life is well within the possibilities of the coming years.

BOISE CAPITALISTS TO BUILD RAILROAD

(Continued from page 2) people. Local men enlarged upon the latent resources of the vicinity that must await transportation to develop them; the present prospects for tonnage was touched upon the advantages of the virgin territory in many respects that would appeal to the railroad builder. However, this was not necessary to an experienced man and no doubt Mr. Pierce knew as much about this subject before as was told him at that time, but it was well to call attention to them for our own benefit.

Mayor Lovens presided at this meeting and stated that the city authorities were ready to consider a proposition at once and that it would have their earnest thought. There was nothing more that he could say at the time.

There is reason to believe that the proposition will be in the hands of the city council next week and that immediate action will be urged.

James E. Weston, the man who has been on the job since last fall in connection with the extension of the railroad line was invited by Mr. Pierce to meet him in Ontario on his way in and Mr. Weston was his companion during his entire tour of the territory, going back with him as far as Crane. Mr. Weston feels encouraged over the situation and believes we are going to get that railroad without delay. Hurrah for Jimmie!

CAPABLE CAST WILL BE SEEN IN WEHLEN PICTURE

In "The Trial of the Shadow," the Metro wonderplay in which Emmy Wehlen is starred, patrons of Metro pictures will be introduced to a new leading man for this popular star. He is Eugene Strong, who comes to the Metro company after valuable experience on the stage. Mr. Strong is well known for his work in vaudeville, where for two years he headed a company organized by the late Paul Armstrong, and featuring that playwright's one-act success, "All for the Sake of a Girl." Moreover, he has been starred in several pictures.

In the extremely capable hands of Harry S. Northrup, perhaps the best known villain in the silent drama, is played the difficult role of Jack Leslie, the outlaw. First as a suave gentleman, later as the fugitive from justice Mr. Northrup wins new laurels. His more recent successes on the screen, which supplement many years of work on the stage, have been made in "The Greatest Power," "The Beautiful Lie" and "The Millionaire's Double."

Frank Currier, a featured player on both the stage and screen, has a role that suits him perfectly in the father of Sylvia Mason, played by Miss Wehlen.

De Janna West, a well known player, is entrusted with the role of Sergeant Keen, making his debut as a Metro artist in this production.

Allice MacChesney has an important part and the role of Mrs. Hillard is taken by Kate Blanche, who needs no introduction to Metro patrons. "The Trial of the Shadow" will be seen at Dreamland Sunday evening.

MAKES CLUBBING ARRANGEMENT WITH

THE OREGON FARMER

Offers Unusual Opportunity To Its Readers

AMONG our large circle of readers there are a great many who are interested directly or indirectly in fruit growing, dairying and other branches of farming. All of these naturally wish to keep in close touch with agricultural activities throughout the state; and to know about any fight which is being waged for the measures Oregon farmers want and against all sorts of schemes that are detrimental to the people and agricultural interests of this state.

We have, therefore, made a special clubbing arrangement with THE OREGON FARMER whereby any farmer or fruit-grower, who is one of our regular subscribers and who is not now a subscriber of THE OREGON FARMER, will be entitled to receive THE OREGON FARMER in combination with this paper at the same rate as for this paper alone.

This offer applies to all those who renew or extend their subscriptions as well as to all new subscribers. If you are interested directly or indirectly in Oregon agriculture, do not miss this unusual opportunity but send your order in now.

THE OREGON FARMER is the one farm paper which is devoting itself exclusively to the farming activities and interests of Oregon. It has a big organization gathering the news of importance to farmers, dairymen, fruitgrowers, stockraisers and poultrymen; and it has the backbone to attack wrongful methods and combinations and bad legislation, and support honest leaders and beneficial measures. We are confident that our readers will congratulate us on our being able to make this splendid and attractive clubbing offer.

TWO PAPERS FOR PRICE OF ONE.

ONTARIO ARGUS, one year $1.50
OREGON FARMER, one year $1.00

By Our Special Clubbing Plan, both for $2.50
