guests. Do not wait for a second call by the committee. Get in touch with P. J. Gallagher, Mr. Douglass or Mr. Fraser at once and list every bed possible. That is the message of the committee in charge now.

The women of the W. C. T. U. have taken charge of the banquet for Wednesday night. This banquet is given the stockmen and Ontarians as hosts will observe the "Family-Hold-Back" idea. But at the Stockmen's dance on Monday evening, which follows the minstrel and vaudeville show at Dreamland Ontarians are urged to meet their guests and extend their hospitality. The vaudeville performance is to be staged under the direction of a committee headed by Hugh Allen, assisted by A. F. Riddle and Byron Turner.

Mrs. J. R. Hoskins of Baker has offered the services of herself and a number of her pupils to assist at the various entertainments and they have been added to the program. The entertainment committee will furnish numbers for the opening of every business session, at Monday evening entertainment, at the banquet and at the luncheon for the ladies.

Buckaroo Breakfast Feature.
One of the annual features of the convention is the Buckaroo breakfast on the second morning. That will be staged at the Fair grounds under the direction of Chef Walter Glenn and cooks, Tom Bronnan, C. R. Emison, Baker Hall, A. McWilliams and other noted cooks of other days.

Governors Coming, Too.
Among the addresses to be delivered will be those by Governor James Withycombe of Oregon and Governor M. Alexander of Idaho. A whole list of candidates for office are scheduled for the convention and many notable men in the cattle and stock market business of the West and Middle West will be present.

The regular daily exodus of attorneys to Vale is going on this week while court is in session.

Mrs. Emily Hall, who has been the guest of her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Gallagher, left Tuesday noon for her home in Midland, South Dakota.

Mrs. J. W. McCulloch, who has been ill at her home on Virtue street or the past week, is somewhat better.

Mrs. Walter Glenn has been named as a delegate to the session of the grand lodge of Rubikaha, which meets in The Dalles in May.

H. L. Holcomb is a victim of the prevailing grip this week.

What has amounted almost to an epidemic of grippe and measles in Ontario during the past week and incapacitated many citizens, depleted the school rooms and otherwise delayed spring work. Fortunately, the illa have been slight and in a mild form, permitting the victims to be about in the few days.

The Senior class will not give a play this year. War conditions have made it necessary for the boys to work outside of school and left no time for practicing a play.

Over half of the boys quit school last Saturday to work on the ranches and help win the war by food production. Arrangements have been made whereby they may secure their credits for the year's work.

Last Friday morning the military company elected its officers for the next year. The result of election was as follows: Captain, Paul McCulloch; first lieutenant, Frank Dorman; second lieutenant, John O'Dell. The new officers commanded the company at drill that morning, while the retiring officers marched in the ranks.

Rev. Wallace and Judge Kellar of Payette visited us last Saturday and talked to the assembled school. Both speeches were along the line of concentration and contained some valuable advice.

The High School band met last Monday night for the last time. Owing to the absence of so many boys from school it will be impossible to keep up band practice the rest of the year.

Saturday morning occurred the annual competitive drill. Paul McCulloch, the newly elected captain, of the military company won first honors.

The Juniors entertained the Seniors last Friday evening at the Moore hall with the customary reception. It lacked, however, the stiffness that usually accompanies entertainments of this sort, and seemed more like a big party just filled with fun, laughter and jokes. The grave upper classmen eyes indulged in a game of bean bags. And the amount of black-jack that some could get into their mouths was truly amazing.

The hall was prettily decorated in orange and black, the Senior colors, and a delicious cafeteria luncheon was served. Everything tasted extraordinarily good, as we don't very often get such good things to eat these days. Small card tables with luncheon cloths were at the disposal of the guests and it was a race to see who would get which table. It was intimated, but we refuse to believe such scandal, that Claude Christensen ate seven plates of ice cream.

Everyone was provided with a small sealed envelope and, after the refreshments, each one when called upon had to stand in the middle of the floor and read aloud the little verse that he or she found on the inside and then perform whatever stunt was required to pay for the supper. There was a great deal of fun over this, especially when Mr. Douglass had to dance an Irish jig and Mr. Boucher had to explain the "perfect tense." So much fun has not been indulged in for a long time and the seniors vote their entertainers jolly good fellows.
