"Clean up Your Town" How Does This Strike You?

Without editorial comment, the Argus herewith submits for the consideration of its Ontario readers the following communication received this week. If you have some ideas on this subject the Argus would be glad to give them equal publicity.

Editor Argus:
I read in your paper last week a very interesting story on the doings of the Commercial Club at a recent meeting and noticed that a few of those fellows seems to be alive.

They have a notion that several blocks of paving will be a fine thing to lift us out of the mud; yes, it will do that very thing. Another party that our town needed more modern houses; why sure thing it does, a blind man could see that. Another one figured it out that if the houses were to be seen and the streets paved used by one, that we must first fix the roads needing repair, especially the main travelled roads leading into town.

All of those improvements are highly desirable, and each of those men probably spoke from a mind full of ideas bearing directly upon his own merely said, "Clean up your town," as far as he went; all good citizens will surely boost for all those things.

for the town needs them.

However there was a remark made by a gentleman at that meeting that did not seem to call for much comment nor stir any enthusiasm; he merely said "clean up your town." Generally when a big thing is started by the big fellow, all the little fellows boost, and that stranger called the town on the town in just a few words, "clean up your town". We shall know that among our neighbors of other towns that Ontario is considered the brushiest, weediest, ditchiest, dirtiest, busiest town on the O. S. L., with the best business houses, able men in business and the professions.

But to one coming from a town that is clean, with streets and alleys kept up, with trees, flowers and grass, with homes that show care and upkeep, this burg of ours is an offense to their eyes and offends their nose.

It is only a little thing, therefore, the drums will not boom nor the trumpets blare, but every citizen of the town can and ought to get busy and in the near future create a town that is slightly, sanitary and attractive to strangers as well as more pleasant and homelike for all of us.

PARENT-TEACHERS' COLUMN

This department is an open problem of the school and the Forum for the discussion of home, and is under the direction of the Ontario Parent-Teachers' association. Your ideas are welcome. Kindly leave written articles at the Argus office before Tuesday of each week.

Topic for next week—What line of work shall the P. T. A. take up for the remainder of the year?

We are hoping to hold our regular P. T. A. meetings beginning with the third Friday in March so this will doubtless be the last topic for discussion through the Argus.

We hope many patrons of the school will send in suggestions on this subject.

It seems to me that it is not fair to the girls that they must take study in Agriculture as so few have the opportunity to raise a crop.

It is all right for the boys and would go well with Manual Training. Give the girls in the grades Domestic Science and Art but employ instructors who have specialized in these subjects.

A PATRON.

We shall all be glad when war work can be laid aside, influenza is a thing of the past and our school work can go on as usual.

The Physical training work this year seems to me very satisfactory and is already bringing good results.

The "Modern Health Crusader" club is a decided help to the mothers—never before was there such voluntary brushing and scrubbing. The teacher should know we appreciate her work.

The supervised study seems to be helpful judging from the fewer lessons brought home.

Personally I should like to see more attention given to the music and Manual Training in the grades for both boys and girls. It is often very handy, sometimes necessary, for a woman to be able to drive a nail straight.

If the grade school yard could be graded or even drained it would be much better for the children.

On the whole this year's work looks exceptionally good in spite of the difficulties.

A MOTHER.

WHEELER-JANDRELL.

A wedding of interest to a number of the Ontario people took place February 15 at Centralla, Washington, when Grace Irene Wheeler became the bride of Homer Paul Jandrell. The ceremony was performed at the home of her mother, Mrs. Maud R. Wheeler, by the Rev. J. Van Engleman and was beautiful and impressive. Miss Wheeler lived in Ontario for some time and has many friends here among the younger people. Mr. Jandrell is a Nebraska man connected with the Aerial corps at Vancouver, Wn., and enlisted at the first call.

They were at the Multnomah in Portland until his leave expired and are at Vancouver, Wn., awaiting his discharge from the service, when they will make their home in Centralla, Wn.

Judge Geo. E. Davis, of Vale, spent the week end in Ontario with his wife and daughter.

CARD OF THANKS

To the many kind friends in Ontario and Payette who by acts of kindness and sympathy comforted us in the hour of our sorrow at the death of our beloved wife and mother, we wish to express our heartfelt thanks.

HIGHER LIVE STOCK STANDARDS TO MEET RISING FARM VALUES

Each year sees a greater advance in American farm values. And as land becomes worth more its producing power must increase if farmers and live stock growers are to make adequate profits, says J. Ogden Armour, in a letter addressed to the stockmen accompanying a handsome breeders chart, a copy of which the Argus received this week.

"Improved breeds and better animal husbandry offer the soundest solution of the problem. Corn costs the same whether it is fed to a high-grade meat animal or scrub. But what a contrast in return when corn is converted into beef, and the finished animals are marketed!" says Mr. Armour.

"Yet, more than profit is to be considered. In the last year temporary high prices have made severe inroads into breeding stock. At the same time the greatest war in history has devastated European herds to the number of 114 million head. The world faces a perilous meat shortage!

"More live stock and better live stock are imperative. As the American Farmer's largest customer we have an equal concern in this with you, the producer. Hence we have issued this Breeders' Chart, showing the types of animals that will produce maximum weight and greatest food value in the shortest time—standards that will bring you the best returns in the market because their quality is the highest."

JUDGE BACK AT CITY HALL.

Judge C. M. Stearns returned Monday evening from a trip to Lewiston and Pendleton, and is now back at his desk in the recently renovated City Recorder's office. The new arrangement of office room at the city hall gives Judge Stearns twice as much room, for he has half of the old marshal's office, has a neat counter where his old desk used to be and now has both room and privacy for the growing duties he has to perform.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. H. L. Poorman Tuesday, March 4, at 2:30.

This being Union Signal day an interesting program is being arranged by the superintendent of that department.

A light lunch will be served. You are invited to spend the afternoon with us.

"I Want to See Every Wage Worker Own His Own Home"

This is a direct plea from the Secretary of Labor to every WORKING MAN AND WOMAN IN THE UNITED STATES. The Secretary of Labor knows, from his own early experiences, that it is possible for every working man to own his own home. He knows, further, that homes are not created by chance, but by hard and persistent effort. Homes bring self respect; homes inculcate the habit of thrift; and homes are the very foundation for your future usefulness AS AN AMERICAN CITIZEN.

THE HARDEST THING IN GETTING A HOME IS IN WORKING YOUR DETERMINATION TO THE STARTING POINT. After making the start the rest is easy.
LET US HELP YOU WITH THE STARTING POINT.
