DE PALMA'S WORLD RECORD MADE ON RED CROWN GASOLINE

When Ralph De Palma, in a trial lap over the Santa Monica course, broke the world's road race record recently, he was running on the Standard Oil Company's Red Crown gasoline. DePalma covered the course at an average rate of 93.33 miles per hour, the fastest officially recorded speed ever made on any road course in the world.

It is a remarkable tribute to the full and dependable power of "Red Crown" that it should have been the choice of the greatest automobile driver of the day, and that through its use he was able to set up such a remarkable record. The gasoline supplied him was not in any way specially made for the purpose, but De Palma filled his tank from the regular gasoline wagon on the garage floor of the Packard representatives in Los Angeles.

This record again demonstrates the truth of the Standard Oil Company's claim that Red Crown, straight distilled, all refinery gasoline, with its full and continuous chain of boiling points is absolutely dependable for easy starting, quick and smooth acceleration, full power and long mileage.
