VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN

Victory over Germany is won, but not all the bills are paid nor did the expense of war end with the armistice by any means.

All of these things are necessary parts of the work of pacifying the world which the United States undertook when we declared war on Germany and Austria.

To meet these obligations of honor, humanity and policy the government will call on the people for subscriptions to the Victory loan from April 21 to May 10.

This is an opportunity for Oregonians to put the finishing touch on the splendid record which it made throughout the war and which spread its fame as the Volunteer State across the continent.

FRED J. KESSEL DIES AT HIS OGDEN HOME

Chaffield building. In 1896 the Oregon Forwarding company was formed and Mr. Tost again became manager.

On numerous occasions after the founding of the Carnegie Library in this city Mr. Kessel made liberal donations to its support.

That Mr. Kessel was a millionaire is the general belief of his friends here. At least, as he himself expressed it to Judge G. L. King on the occasion of his last visit to Ontario shortly after New Years, he had more money than he needed.

His last visit here gave evidence to his friends that the war had caused him great sorrow, because by reason of the fact that he was a native of Germany unthinking residents of Ogdén had questioned his loyalty.

He spoke of this fact to Judge G. L. King saying: "When the government asked me the price of the locust trees at Arcadia I told the agents that they were not for sale but that if the government wanted them it could have them for nothing. In every issue of Liberty Bonds I have bought my rating, and have tried to do my part. I should do so."
