

HEALTH INVESTMENT FOR OREGON SOUGHT

To Fight White Plague People Asked To Invest $44,260—Carry Work To Counties.

An investment rivaling a government security from the purely commercial standpoint as well as having a monumental humanitarian aspect, will be offered the people of Oregon after December 1 through the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals, which will be held under the auspices of the Oregon Tuberculosis Association.

Oregon's quota of this great national movement for funds to fight tuberculosis is $44,260 and in striking contrast to most funds this money will be spent right here in Oregon in building up the public health along the most approved lines. The public health program of the Association in Oregon is one of the most comprehensive sort and covers many of the important phases of this vital work.

The educational work is always outstanding. During the past year 60,000 Oregon school children were enrolled in the Modern Health Crusade, which is a finely organized plan for inculcating health habits among the young. The educational world is watching and studying the crusade and it is expected that out of it will grow some form of physical instruction in the public schools. This work was financed by the Association.

The A. L. Mills Open Air School, one of Portland's Public Schools which is conceded to be the finest in the entire country, is not for tuberculous children but for undernourished and otherwise undeveloped children. It provides for physical examinations, shower baths, physical exercises, nourishing meals and other methods of physical improvement. The school is full and there is a waiting list. The salaries of both nurse and matron are paid by the Association and the food is also purchased by the Association.

Through the efforts of the Association there are now county public health nurses in Jackson, Coos, Lane and Union Counties and Klamath, Clackamas, Wallowa and Hood River Counties are pledged to install nurses within the next few weeks. During the three months needed to make a demonstration and survey the expenses are paid by the Association, after which it is taken over by the county. At least $1000 a month will be needed to develop the county public health program next year. Miss Jane Allen, state advisory nurse of the State Bureau of Nursing is in general charge of this work. The work of the State Tuberculosis Association is being conducted in perfect harmony with the State Bureau of Nursing and thus with the State Board of Health.

During the war 353 men were rejected by local draft boards and there are 289 discharged tuberculous soldiers in Oregon. To visit these men, teach them health habits and otherwise assist them in their fight, Miss Mary Cronen formerly of Base hospital 46 A. E. F. devotes her entire time. The expense of this work is borne by the Association.

The Association financed a course in public health nursing which was offered last summer by the University of Oregon. Lectures and exhibits are also a part of the general comprehensive educational program offered.

THE POOR MAN'S CHANCE TO WIN A HOME.

J. W. McCulloch of Ontario, who has 320 acres of good farm land under the Warm Springs Project has decided to give four men of moderate means an opportunity to acquire a good productive farm home. The plan is to divide this half section into four eighty acre tracts, and to sell to the right parties on such terms that the entire purchase price will be paid out of the earnings of the land, after the purchaser and his family have had their living from the ranch.

This is a rare opportunity, and will bring to any industrious person a well improved farm home fully paid for in ten years time. Practically all of this tract is improved and ready for crops in 1920. An abundance of water and good productive soil is assured. The only thing needed is the farmer who is willing and anxious to work.

See McCulloch and secure a home that will pay for itself while supporting your family.—Ad.

The Brunswick

Why The Brunswick Method of Reproduction insures a Superior Phonograph:

REASON NO. 1. The Brunswick Method, the Ultona, a new conception in playing. The Ultona consists of an arrangement of the several necessary reproducing diaphragms upon one tone arm—an all-in-one arrangement, with no attachments—nothing to take off or put on.

At a turn of the hand, the Ultona presents to any type of record the proper diaphragm and needle, the exact weight. Thus the requirements of each type of record are met. The Ultona demands no sacrifice in tone, as attachments often do.

REASON NO. 2. Equal in importance to reproduction in tone amplification The Brunswick Method of Reproduction also includes a new idea in acoustics—The Brunswick Amplifier.

Old-time ideas were at variance. Some makers still cling to metal construction. Others use a combination of wood and metal—a wooden horn and a metal casting as the "throat."

But the Brunswick Amplifier is oval in shape, and built entirely of wood, like a fine violin. It is molded of rare holly-wood. The sound waves receive uniform amplification to reach their fullness, hence the Brunswick tone is richer and more natural. Strident, metallic notes are absent.

We Invite Comparison

Make comparisons. Let your ear decide. Try to find an equal to Brunswick tone. You're bound to end such a search at a Brunswick shop, where every opportunity will be given you to decide for yourself. Hear this remarkable instrument before you decide.

Brunswick like cut with Ten Records—twenty selections, $134.50—$15.00 down, $12.50 a month. No interest.

TO DEMONSTRATE FOOT COMFORT METHODS

Practipedists in a Local Stores Will Devote Week to Public Foot Education

According to the plans of the Practipedists (foot comfort experts) employed in the various shoe stores of this city, the end of the week beginning November 17th will find all of us with considerable more knowledge of our feet and of how to keep them comfortable than we have now.

That week has been set aside by the Practipedists of the country as National Demonstration Week, and it is estimated that demonstrations of modern foot corrective methods will be conducted in upwards of thirty thousand shoe stores throughout the country during all of that week. The object is to educate the public regarding the possibilities of relief from foot discomforts and correction of their causes through the use of mechanical apparatus.

Rader Bros. store is making preparations on a large scale for this event and expects to have a large crowd throughout that week. Their graduate Practipedist will examine the feet of all applicants and give them advice without charge. He will demonstrate just how comfort is obtained and will explain how to care for the feet and how to select proper shoes without sacrificing style or appearance.—adv.

BREAKMEN FORCED TO TAKE HIGHER JOBS ON MAIN LINE

E. L. Griffith and Homer Anderson, each of whom have held down brakeman positions on the branch lines out of Ontario for several years were compelled this week to take their rights as conductors on Main line extras. They are running now between Glenns Ferry and Huntington.

Tho he is going on the main line Mr. Griffith is not going to sell his ranch south of Ontario. Mrs. Griffith is going to handle the property with the aid of their son.

WATCH YOUR STEP

Plays may come and go, but it will be many a day before an author will again succeed in evolving a stage production that is as fascinating as Irving Berlin's international syncopated musical success, "Watch Your Step" which comes to the Wheaton Theatre, Weiser, one night, Tuesday, Nov. 18.

It contains all the elements that go to make up an entertainment that appeals to the general public. It has syncopated one-stepping, fox-trotting, waltzing and even grand opera syncopated, screamingly funny dialogue and yards and yards of Mr. Berlin's music that gets into your heels and makes you whistle whether you will or not. It's a great gift to be able to write music that people will whistle and warble irresistibly. Mr. Berlin has that gift developed to a large degree, and in "Watch Your Step" he has contributed more liberally than is encountered in most of the recent playwriting efforts.

The story of the play concerns an eccentric's will, leaving two millions to the man or maid who has never known love, and then introduces an English dancing teacher and a dainty little Quaker girl as rival contestants for the money. Of course it becomes the proper thing to take the two (pretended) innocents out and show them New York. Incidentally the audience gets a look in at some lively cabarets, the Metropolitan Opera and several other places. That the inheritance ultimately goes where it should and the unloved young people find their affinities is, of course, to be guessed.
