COLD WEATHER WARNING TO ONTARIO MOTORISTS

"With the cold weather again upon us it is necessary to warn motorists about their engine oil," said O. H. Test of the Standard Oil company recently.

"An oil that gives satisfaction during the heat of summer will not necessarily give the same satisfaction when the temperature is 10 degrees above zero. A poor cold test oil will not splash properly or even flow freely in cold weather, but it congeals or thickens excessively. Then it becomes necessary to run the engine without sufficient lubrication for a time in order to warm up the oil so it will flow and splash. Of course, this period of running the engine without oil on the cylinder walls and other bearing surfaces makes for excessive wear and sometimes seriously damages those engine parts.

Zerolene Medium (Zerolene Liquid for Fords) is a high quality lubricating oil having a Zero Cold Test. That is, it will flow freely and splash properly in any temperature down to zero. It is correctly refined from selected California crude oil and gives correct lubrication in winter to all engine parts—from the very first turn of the engine."
