

SUPPLY AND DEMAND

The output of firewood from our mills is limited. Today there is an abundant supply and deliveries can be made promptly but from late summer on it is impossible for us to fill the rush of orders.

But there are other advantages of buying now. The roads are good and hauling may be done at the least expense. Beside, to have a supply of this good wood for the cook stove in summer is just the thing.

Our wood makes an economical and convenient fuel and should give thought to laying in a supply now. Get your neighbors to order with you and have at least a couple of cars shipped out at once.

Consider the Comfort of Electric Cooking

If in the kitchen of your home there was a handsomely designed electric range, how easy it would be to get meals—what a pleasure it would be to cook.

By simply turning a button the heater, into which the coils are built, becomes a glowing cherry red. There is no flame, no smoke, no injurious fumes or troublesome ashes.

Clean radiated heat does your cooking, and this heat can be regulated. A turn of the switch to a given position produces the right degree of uniform heat just when and where it is wanted.

There are many other interesting points about electric ranges that we will be glad to explain when you call.

CODDLING MOTH SPECIAL TOURS PAYETTE ORCHARDS

Horticulture Committee of Farm Bureau Investigates Work of Idaho Specialist in Control of Fruit Pests in Payette County

The Malheur County Farm Bureau committee on horticulture and other interested orchardists of Malheur county, met on Tuesday, May 18 at 9 o'clock at the Farm Bureau office in Payette, to listen to Professor L. E. Langley, of the University of Idaho, explain the work of the Payette Bureau in better controlling the depredations of the coddling moth.

After spending an hour in discussion of the various features of the work, the party which consisted of Committeemen A. A. Reed and L. G. Willis, of Brogan, E. E. Record of Riverdale, C. C. Hunt of Nyssa, P. E. Countryman of Castro, and Messrs. V. V. Hickox and A. Gramme of Ontario, Wilcox and Davis of Oregon Slope, G. H. Bridwell of Jamieson, E. J. Patch of Riverdale, W. B. Eaton of Brogan, Professor Langley and County Agent L. R. Breithaupt drove thru the orchards of Payette county to inspect the cages in which the moths are being incubated in order to determine the best time to spray for the control of the worm which everyone is familiar who eats apples.

A number of these cages were visited in different communities and it was plainly demonstrated that there is considerable difference between the dates of emergence of the moths in different locations, according to the difference in elevation and other factors which alter temperature conditions. According to Professor Langley, it usually requires about two weeks after the moths emerge until egg laying begins. The moths do not fly in the day time, but usually deposit eggs about dusk. If the weather is cold, they will not lay at all but if conditions are favorable—a temperature of about 60 degrees at dusk—the eggs will be deposited on the leaves of the apple trees. If spraying is not done then the eggs soon hatch and the larva will soon enter the young fruit causing the wormy apples with which we are familiar. The losses from this cause amount to many thousands of dollars every year, no small part of which could be avoided by better knowledge of the right time to spray. The loss from spraying at the wrong time consists partly in wasted material as well as more wormy apples.

During the course of after dinner oratory which followed the noon feed at New Plymouth, the matter of what Malheur county orchardists could do to help themselves along this line was discussed by several of the party. Professor Langley recommended that each committeeman arrange for three or four moth "tents" in as many different localities as there were distinct differences in elevation or other factors which would affect temperatures and that these be watched in order to determine the time of emergence of the moths. With this information and by watching the temperatures about two weeks after the moths begin to emerge, with a little checking up by the County Agent and the Horticulturist, pretty definite information could be obtained.

After visiting other demonstrations near Fruitland, the party broke up, but not without first arranging for another meeting to be held at Brogan during the fore part of June at which time it is hoped to have Professor Langley on hand to check up on the work which the committee will have going to determine the time for the second spraying for the distinguished subject of this article. In regard to the first spraying for the coddling moth, it was recommended by the specialist that it be done as late as practical, just before the calyx closes. The poison must be gotten into the calyx and must remain there. This is best accomplished when the calyx is ready to close.
