FARM REMINDERS

Seasonal Suggestions on Things Often Overlooked, As Seen By The State College

Poultry—A college bred hen whose commendable effort in making an egg-laying record makes her a figure of some importance, is reported from G. W. Coon, Corvallis. She laid 59 eggs without skip to June 2, and shows no sign of weakening. "Biddy" is an early riser and has her day's work done by 7:30 o'clock. She is apparently training for double duty later on to lay two eggs daily.

Farm Management—The essentials to consider in constructing a silo are a solid foundation—preferable concrete—walls strong, air tight, smooth and perpendicular and the height should be at least twice the size of the diameter.

Soils—Phosphorus is one of the necessary plant food elements for the growth of all crops. About two-thirds of phosphorus taken by the crop goes to the seed. The only way to remedy the increasing shortage is by the purchase of a phosphate fertilizer.

Poultry—Cull out the slacker hen by trap nesting or by physical tests. Non-laying is indicated by the shriveled condition of the comb, wattles, and ear lobes, the closeness of pelvic bones and the contracted or hardened condition of the abdomen.

A TRIBUTE.

The years are but as moments, and your spirit, Lafayette, remembers, as you come to us, the mighty men you met in the epic days of yore when you stood, as we today, where the breezes fanned our faces from the bosom of the bay.

Joy was then within the soul of you, and youth was in your eyes, as the flag that conquered tyranny was hoisted to the skies; And there, mayhap, a vision for a moment came to you, and the future told the wonder of the deeds we were to do.

Far across a sea of peril you, a knightly sword, had fared, and embathed in song and story are the valiant feats you dared; You were Chivalry in action, with a splendor in your gaze, and our fathers, victor freemen, crowned your youthful brow with bays.

Did you know that you were the force of our nation's back from France, and the light of high endeavor that was shining in their glance? Did you see our bold crusaders who had trod the sea you sailed To fight for freedom's shield and by their might prevailed?

Ah, then, you saw your very soul in eyes that gleam today With dreams that led you, Lafayette, upon your splendid way; What they have done for stricken France, in that heroic past You did to save a nation that has paid its debt at last.

Fourth of July

Day of peace! Welcome day! Freedom's banners greet the day. For now, cheerfully they play. With the inspiring breeze. On the peaks, white, glowing, broad. On the heights where squadrons wheel. When a tyrant's thunder pealed. Over the trembling seas. God of armies! let thy stars. On their courses guide his cars. Blast his arm and wreck his bars. From the heaving tide? On our standard, let them burn. And, when days like this return. Sparkle over the soldier's urn. Who for freedom died.

God of peace, whose spirit fills. All the echoes of our hills. All the murmur of our rills. Now the storm is o'er. O let freedom be our song. And let future Washingtons. Rise, to lead their valiant sons. Till there's war no more! —JOHN PIERPONT

GRAND MONUMENT IN DANGER

Obelisk That Marks Earliest Revolutionary Battle Must Not Be Allowed to Crumble.

The people of New England are much concerned over the report that the Bunker Hill monument is crumbling and is in danger of a fate like that of the Campanile in Venice which collapsed a dozen years ago.

The granite obelisk known as Bunker Hill monument, which commemorates the earliest real battle of the Revolutionary war, is the most conspicuous object that catches the eye as one approaches Boston by sea. The shaft is 30 feet square at the base and is 230 feet in height. Inside is a hollow cone around which winds a spiral flight of stone steps by which ascent is made to the top, where there is an observatory. The monument was begun in 1825 when the cornerstone was laid by General Lafayette and when Webster delivered the famous oration that is familiar to every schoolboy. Because of a lack of funds it remained unfinished for nearly 20 years; then, largely through the efforts of American women, the necessary money was raised and the complete structure was dedicated in 1843.

Efforts are being made to re-enforce the crumbling granite in hopes that the monument may remain a Mecca for many generations of patriotic Americans.

Lafayette—"The Beechwood."

Etiologists have discovered the origin of the famous name which during the recent years of war has become dearer than ever to Frenchmen and Americans alike. Lafayette came from the part of France known as Auvergne. He was born at Chavagnac, near Brionne, and his ancestral home stands not far from the village of Airois-Lafayette. In this part of the country the word "fayette" means a wood of "fayards," and "fayards" comes from the Latin word "fagus," which in the dialect of the country has come to mean "hêtre" or beech tree. A "fayette," then, is a beech wood. Etymologically, then, the word "Lafayette" is the equivalent of "The Beechwood."

TRAINED FARMER FINDS BEST ROAD TO SUCCESS

Farm Surveys Show That Education Is Worth Many Times Cost of Getting It.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, June.—"The man with the best training for farming has the best chance for success in the business," says H. D. Scudder, chief of farm management at the college. "Surveys of farm earnings in a number of states show clearly that a good education is worth far more than it costs."

The reason cited by Professor Scudder for this fact is that modern farming is a highly complex business and a strictly competitive commercial enterprise.

In a certain representative township in New York state, where general farming was practiced, a record was obtained of the year's earnings on every farm in the township. The 573 farmers whose annual business was recorded, were classified into three groups—those who had attended district school only, those who had attended high school, and those who had attended college. The labor income was used as a basis of comparison of their business success in order to eliminate the direct effects of variable amounts of capital on earnings. The labor income is the net cash earnings of the farmer for the year after the interest on his total capital investment, as well as all operating and overhead expense, has been deducted. The record from this survey gave the following facts:

Education	No. Farmers	Labor Inc.
District School	398	$318
High School	165	622
More than high school	10	847

Even Without Tire Chains

Motorists have told us that Horse-Shoe Cord Tires are so effectively non-skid that they hold the rear wheels fast on slippery pavements even when the plain-tread front tires are inclined to skid.

They say that they used these tires all last winter without tire chains, and that they turned corners at 20 miles an hour on wet pavements without skidding.

We shall be glad to show you how unusually non-skid the Horse-Shoe Cord Tire really is. Come in and ask for a demonstration.

"Not a Reason for Joy"

My native country, thee,
Land of the free—
I love thy name I love,
I love thy rock and rills,
Thy woods and sun-dappled hills;
My heart with venture thrills
Like that of thee.

Let music swell the breeze,
And ring from all the trees
Sweet Freedom's song:
Let mortal tentons awake,
Let all that breathe partake,
Let rocks their silence break—
The sound prolong.

Our fathers' God, to thee,
Author of liberty,
To thee we sing:
Long may our land be bright
With Freedom's holy light;
Protect us by thy might,
Great God, our King.
—SAMUEL FRANCIS SMITH
