EAGLES COME TO LOOK OVER ONTARIO ONE CAPTURED HERE

Picking out a nice place to land, a young eagle alighted on the roof of The Argus office Monday morning. It was captured by A. R. Purvis who has the bird in captivity now. When taken the bird was measured and found to have a Wing spread of 43 inches.

On Tuesday morning early risers saw another member of this feathered tribe fly over the city, and they speculated on whether it was a relative of the captured bird out scouting for the lost one.
