ALFALFA MEAL MILL PROPOSED FOR CAIRO

milk dealers association and similar bodies be formed at once so that the question of marketing be solved in a larger way. He pointed out that the meal mill would be a unit in such an organization and would not interfere with the larger project. This matter will be considered more fully at another meeting.

Discuss Flour Mill.

While the matter of a meal mill was up for consideration several of the ranchers broached the matter of the flour mill at Ontario and declared that to them it had been represented that the Ontario Commercial Club was officially backing the project.

G. K. Aiken who was present at the meeting explained that this was not the case so far as the membership of the Club was concerned, that while all were anxious to have the mill a success that officially the Club had nothing whatever to do with its promotion, and further that members of the directorate had specifically stated that the Club's name was not to be used in that way. Several of the ranchers declared that they had signed the notes on the understanding that the Ontario business men were backing the proposition. Other ranchers said that they had asked business men concerning it and on being told that the business men were not connected with it had refused to sign the notes.

This discussion led to a general discussion of the need of closer cooperation between the business men and the ranchers to the end that the prosperity of the entire community might be enhanced.

To Hold Community Fair.

"THE MICROBE"

In a story of love, passion and intrigue which shows popular Viola Dana in a new light of cleverness. The young star plays the part of a waif of the East side who is rescued by De Witt Spencer, a noted author and taken to his home. This girl, known as Microbe, grows passionately fond of her benefactor but finds that his friends—particularly his women friends—are against her. Overhearing her say that she will be his ruin she leaves and spends her time trying to make enough money to repay De Witt for his kindness to her. How she is the means of re-kindling his lost ambition and bringing him to the topmost heights of fame and happiness is what makes the play a masterpiece of the screen's best art.

Dreamland, Thursday, July 29th.

THE STORY OF A LOVER'S STUNT

"Suds," Mary Pickford's forthcoming production for United Artists which will be seen at the Majestic Theatre soon might well be termed "The Tale of a Shirt," for the scenes are all laid in a little laundry in the slums of London, and Miss Pickford, as Amanda Afflick, weaves such a romance about the shirt which has been left by a casual customer that even her girl chums believe it almost as much as herself.

Having preached the philosophy of gladness in "Pollyanna," Mary Pickford in "Suds" teaches the advantages and consolation of a vivid imagination, and when Lavender the delivery horse, is about to be sold for glue, she rescues him, takes him up two flights of stairs to her room and tells him such wonderful tales that even this poor old animal believes it.

But with all Amanda Afflick is a little figure true to life and with Miss Pickford's deft touches she brings the audience back from laughter to tears and back again with her wonderful tales to the tragic termination of her romance.

VIRGIN STAMBOUL

STORY IN BRIEF

Sari is a beautiful beggar girl in the streets of Stamboul. Captain Pemberton, a dashing young American soldier of fortune, in command of the famous Black Horse Troop, falls in love with her. At the same time, Achmet Hamid, a powerful Sheikh of the desert, plans to kill a young American in love with his favorite wife. Following him to the Mosque, he stabs him in the back, but is seen by Sari. Realizing this fact, the Sheikh plans to marry her to protect himself. Pemberton learns of the marriage plot and is able to marry Sari himself by proxy under the Turkish law. Discovering the trick, the Sheikh kidnaps them both and immures them in his desert home. BATHING BEAUTIES SHOCK

"THE COUNTRY COUSIN"

The staid residents of Glen Cove, L. I., rubbed their eyes once—and then a second time—and then a third time. Following this the braver ventured closer. No, it was not an illusion or apparition. They were live girls—actual living bathing girls in the most stunning and daring costumes imaginable, bathing costumes, abbreviated 'tis true, to the point of the ultra-artistic.

On investigation it was shown that Elaine Hammerstein, the Selnick star, supported by a group of bathing beauties, had secured the use of H. P. Davison's gorgeous country home, neighboring Glen Cove, for some scenes in "The Country Cousin." Majestic, Friday, August 6th.

ALLIES THREATEN TO DRIVE OUT THE TURKS

Versailles.—A threat to drive the Turks from Europe "once and for all" was contained in the allied reply to the Turkish objections to the peace treaty delivered to the Turkish peace delegation. Such action might follow Turkey's refusal to sign the treaty or her failure to give it effect, the reply states.

The time limit for Turkey to make known her decision expires at midnight July 27.

The reply said the Turkish government appears to think its responsibility in the war was less than that of its allies and that Turkey therefore is entitled to lenient treatment, but that the allies could not accept that plea.

The note maintains "Turkey entered the war without a shadow of excuse or provocation" and by closing the straits in the face of the allies Turkey certainly prolonged the war by not less than two years and caused loss to the allies of thousands of lives and thousands of millions of pounds.
